Unite the game, inspire the nation

In a world where change is accelerating at an incredible rate, the need for effective governance is paramount to meet the modern day challenges in our game. Football is not immune to this change and none of us should be afraid to embrace it. We believe this Code will help us develop strong governance to promote the success we all strive for. We encourage you to adopt it in order to equip our game for a brighter, more successful future.

Our national community across grassroots football includes more than 100,000 teams and as a football loving nation, there are more than 30 million spectators and 11 million participants. Football has the power to inspire and influence societal change. This is why it is vital that we are set-up appropriately through exceptional governance.

Given the huge responsibility – and privilege – that County FAs have in terms of developing, governing and regulating the game, we have a collective responsibility to ensure that our governance is ‘gold standard’. This will help us deliver the best possible outcomes for football as ultimately, strong governance structures help organisations address potential blind spots, ensuring that the organisation benefits from a strong range of appropriate skills complimented by effective decision-making structures. This reduces risks, improves performance and drives long-term organisational success.

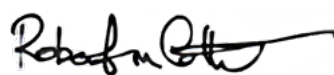

Football is For All. It’s a clear statement from The FA about how diversity and inclusion underpins everything that we do. It’s language that’s woven into the organisation.

As formats of the game change at a previously unheard-of rate, it’s more important than ever that we have diverse talent shaping thinking across our organisations; on our Boards, our Councils and our Executive teams. Diverse teams are more likely to bring broader thinking into how we do things and can relate better to our participants and our communities and ultimately improve our performance.

Where does For All fit into Governance? Firstly, the benefits of diversity in workplaces are clear and indisputable. There is lots of research that evidences how diverse companies outperform those who aren’t. It’s not a matter of opinion – having inclusive County FA structures that are representative of the diversity of our participants and of our local populations is simply the right thing to do. Football deserves the very best that we have to offer and governance is critical in this respect. With strong governance, we will be the best positioned we can be to ensure we thrive in the future by serving our participants in the most effective way.

This Code breaks down how our Governance structures can collectively be aligned to help us deliver Football For All. It encourages us to shine a spotlight on our governance and dissect how we are equipped to make decisions to best serve the game. Elements of this may be challenging at times. It requires that we look inward. It asks us to challenge ourselves. It asks that we look forward. It asks us to make changes. Throughout this self-examination, it is important that we accept that our responsibilities are to the game and always seek to improve what we do.

We are excited about the journey ahead and are sure you will find this Code an invaluable tool. We strongly encourage you work towards this Code and lead the way for the local governance of sport in England.

Setting a governance 'gold standard' that's football-specific

Back at the start of 2018, at a County FA Chief Executive Officer day at St George's Park, our County FA lead executives undertook an exercise to look forward and identify what collective actions are required to ensure County FAs thrive in the future. At the time, governance was one of the key areas discussed and it was unanimously agreed that football deserved the highest possible regional governance standards of any sport in England. That set the ball rolling with this piece of work.

Following consultation, a working group was set up to craft a Code that met this requirement. The existing gold standard, the Sport England Code of Governance, was used as the template. The working group was tasked with adapting this Code so that it was refined specifically for football and for County Football Associations, whilst staying true to the highest possible requirements of the existing Code. All 58 requirements of this Code were analysed, discussed and debated at length. Some remained, some were adapted, some were removed, and some new ones were added. At the end of many months of work, the new 'Code of Governance for County Football Associations' was produced and it now contains a total of 65 requirements.

These requirements are broken down and fall under five key Principles, as per the Sport England Code on which it is based. These are:

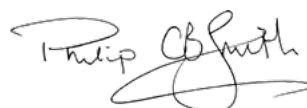

- Structure (31 requirements);
- People (15 requirements);
- Communication (4 requirements);
- Standards & Conduct (6 requirements);
- Policies & Processes (9 requirements).

If we look at this Code as being the destination, it's fair to say that County FAs will be on various stages of the journey. We recognise that Counties will need to take steps at their own pace. To help Counties navigate the path there is lots of support available, including many documents and guidance materials that are referenced in the toolkit, support from FA staff and of course support from one another. We encourage Counties to learn from and to support each other; many of you will be facing similar challenges and some of you will have already overcome those challenges and can share learnings from your journeys.

The working group was made up predominantly of County FA representatives, with representation also from the youth council, Sport England and The FA. The work of this group was overseen by a steering group. As members of the steering group, we are delighted to have been a part of this project and are very proud of this new Code. We pass on our sincere thanks to all those who contributed. We believe it is a significant piece of work that will put County FAs into the strongest possible positions in terms of building and executing strategies and operational plans that deliver the greatest outcomes for football. In doing that, it will also help ensure County FAs are best positioned to succeed and to thrive in the future.

The Affiliated Associations have asked for a 'Gold Standard' Code that is specific for football. We believe that this new Code delivers on that request. We encourage all County FAs to embrace and adopt this Code and trust that you find it a valuable tool.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE CODE – TIMELINE

How to use this Code

This Code has been designed for County Football Associations. Across England there are 47 Affiliated Associations that are termed County Football Associations for the purposes of this Code (including the island associations and The Amateur Football Alliance). County Football Associations that have charity status are recognised throughout this Code and the Code applies equally.

Dispensations are provided to the three armed services associations and education partners for certain requirements of this Code. These are not highlighted in this document, but armed services and educational partners are in separate direct dialogue around their specific requirements.

Before the Code itself, the next few pages of this document cover:

Model Articles of Association: We have worked with Northridge Law to create a new set of Model Articles of Association. These are compliant with The FA County FA Code of Governance and can be found in Appendix 1.

Outline of the Five Principles: An overall explanation and why each Principle is important.

Definitions: Page 14 contains a list of definitions of key terms.

The main Code, which starts on page 16, is then broken down as follows:

The Five Principles

These break down the key themes under which the requirements are detailed, and for each Principle we explain why it is important. As you'll see, each Principle has been given a different colour, to make navigation easier.

The Requirements

The requirements break down a set of actions that ensure each Principle can be met. There are 65 requirements in total. Each requirement is highlighted in the colour we have given each Principle and are in number order. All requirements must be met in order to achieve the Code, unless dispensation is provided as detailed above.

The requirements are not listed in any order of relative importance.

Commentary

The requirements are explained in full detail in a commentary. The commentary is intended to clarify the details of the requirements and eliminate any grey areas or potential confusion.

Tools/resources

Where relevant, each requirement signposts you to tools and resources to help guide you. These are usually in the form of Appendices to this document, but occasionally point to third-party resources.

For any further clarity on any elements of this Code or the supporting materials, please contact your Regional Manager, Mark Hardcastle or myself directly. We are all here to support you and look forward to working with you on this journey.

LOOKING AHEAD

Once a County FA has been assessed against the Code, and is deemed to be compliant, the logo on the right will be issued in digital and print-ready artwork forms. It can then be used on County FA external and internal communications channels, as appropriate.

The Five Principles of Good Governance

PRINCIPLE 01: STRUCTURE (31 REQUIREMENTS)

County Football Associations shall have a clear and appropriate governance structure, led by a Board which is collectively responsible for the long-term success of the Association and exclusively empowered to lead it. The Board shall be properly constituted, and shall operate effectively.

Why is this important?

The right governance structure with decisions made at the right level enables the best decisions to be made to drive the success of the Association.

Having an appropriate governance structure demonstrates to all stakeholders that the Association is well managed. This is key to winning the confidence of staff, suppliers and potential investors and also provides a framework for the Association's growth and development.

PRINCIPLE 02: PEOPLE (15 REQUIREMENTS)

County Football Associations shall recruit and engage people with appropriate diversity, independence, skills, experience and knowledge to enable effective decisions that further the Association's goals.

Why is this important?

Diverse, skilled and experienced decision-making bodies which contain independent voice and engage in constructive, open debate enable good decision-making.

PRINCIPLE 03: COMMUNICATION (4 REQUIREMENTS)

County Football Associations shall be transparent and accountable, engaging effectively with stakeholders and nurturing internal democracy.

Why is this important?

Being responsive to members, participants and stakeholders, understanding their interests and hearing their voice helps shape the Association's governance and strategy. Transparency about why the Association exists, what it is trying to do, how it is doing it and with what results empowers stakeholders by giving them the information about the Association that they need to know.

PRINCIPLE 04: STANDARDS AND CONDUCT (6 REQUIREMENTS)

County Football Associations shall uphold high standards of integrity, and engage in regular and effective evaluation to drive continuous improvement.

Why is this important?

Having the right values embedded in the culture of the Association helps to protect investment and enhance the reputation of the Association, earning stakeholder trust. Constantly seeking to improve makes an Association swift to respond to new challenges and opportunities, reducing risk and maximising performance.

PRINCIPLE 05: POLICIES AND PROCESSES (9 REQUIREMENTS)

County Football Associations shall comply with all applicable laws and regulations, undertake responsible financial strategic planning, and have appropriate controls and risk management procedures.

Why is this important?

Understanding the legal environment and having in place appropriate financial and other controls help mitigate risk and enhance stakeholder trust.

Definitions

On this page, the words 'organisation' and 'Association' refer to the County FA.

The following are definitions of key terms which are used in this Code.

Board – this means the organisation's governing body. This may be called the Board (or Board of Directors or Board of Governors), the Trustees, the management committee or some other name. It is the body with overall and executive responsibility for governing the organisation, overseeing and controlling its management. This Code uses the word 'Director' to mean members of the Board (i.e. the organisation's governing body), and therefore should be interpreted as such, regardless of what the organisation calls them.

Co-opted – a Co-opted Director is one who is temporarily appointed as such by the Board outside of the customary appointment process in accordance with Requirement 2.5.

Council – a body forming part of the constitutional or Associational structure of the Association, representing some or all of its stakeholders in some capacity, and having powers or rights with respect to its governance, but which is not the Board of the Association (or a committee of the Board) or the shareholders in general meeting. A body will be treated as a Council for the purposes of this Code if it fulfils this definition, regardless of the name given to it by the Association.

Ex Officio – a person holds a position (e.g. as a Director or committee member) 'ex officio' if they do so by virtue of some other office they hold, and their position is therefore wholly dependent (and conditional) on them continuing to hold that office. For example, a Chief Executive Officer who is on the Board in an ex-officio capacity will automatically step down from the Board upon resignation as Chief Executive Officer.

FA Representative – the person elected or appointed by the Association to represent the Association on the Council of The Football Association. When selecting its representative, the Association shall be required to abide by any eligibility criteria as shall be put in place by The Football Association from time to time. By virtue of being on the FA Council, the representative might also be involved in various committees, making decisions that help to shape the game. The representative should be able to represent the views of the Association at FA Council meetings and also act as an effective communicator between the Association and the Football Association and will be required to comply with the Code of Conduct for FA Council members.

Independent – a person is independent if they are free from any close connection to the Association and if, from the perspective of an objective outsider, they would be viewed as independent. A person may still be deemed to be 'independent' even if they are a member of the Association and/or play the sport. Examples of a 'close connection' include:

- (a) They are or have within the last four years been actively involved in the Association's affairs, e.g. as a representative of a specific interest group within the Association;
- (b) They are or have within the last four years been an employee of the Association; or
- (c) They have close family ties with any of the Association's Directors or senior employees.

Nominated Directors – Directors whose appointment to the Board arises from provisions in the articles of association of the Association permitting the election or nomination of Directors by the Association's membership, Council or by particular stakeholders.

Retrospective term limits – the Code does not currently require the prior service of incumbent Directors to be included in the calculation of their maximum term limits, although the Association may choose to do so. However, if you wish to introduce retrospective term limits in the future, we recommend that the effective date for calculating the prior service of a Director should be September 2019 (being the month in which the Code was approved by the National Game Board).

Senior Independent Director – an independent Director who is appointed as such by the Board, and whose responsibilities include:

- (i) Providing a sounding Board for the Chair;
- (ii) Serving as an intermediary for the other Directors when necessary;
- (iii) Acting as an alternative contact for stakeholders to share any concerns if the normal channels of the Chair or the Association's management fail to resolve the matter or in cases where such contact is inappropriate; and
- (iv) Leading on the process to appraise the performance of the Chair.

PRINCIPLE 01

STRUCTURE

THE PRINCIPLE:

County FAs shall have a clear and appropriate governance structure, led by a Board which is collectively responsible for the long-term success of the Association and exclusively empowered to lead it. The Board shall be properly constituted, and shall operate effectively.

WHY IS THIS IMPORTANT?

The right governance structure, with decisions made at the right level, enables the best decisions to be made to drive the success of the Association.

Having an appropriate governance structure demonstrates to all stakeholders that the Association is well managed. This is key to winning the confidence of staff, suppliers and potential investors and also provides a framework for growth and development.

More often, businesses want to partner with organisations that can evidence strong Governance structures, as in doing so this can reassure businesses that they will be minimising their risk of being potentially exposed to scenarios in the future that could not only endanger the reputation/brand of the Association, but of the partnering business.

Businesses are turning more and more to partners who can evidence not only good decision-making but inclusive and diverse organisations and cultures. Evidencing this is likely to become more and more important in terms of building and maintaining such relationships.

REQUIREMENTS AND RESOURCES

BOARDS

Requirement 1.1

The Board of the Association shall:

- (a) be the ultimate decision-making body and accordingly exercise all of the powers of the Association;
- (b) be responsible for setting the strategy of the Association; and
- (c) maintain and demonstrate a clear division between the Board's management and oversight role and the executive's operational role.

Part A:

One of the key purposes of the Code is to help County Football Associations ensure that they make the best decisions. It is now widely accepted that having an effective Board is important to the success of any organisation, and this Code accordingly places emphasis on Boards, starting with the requirement that the Board of the Association has appropriate authority: Directors are collectively responsible and accountable for the long-term success of an Association and, as such, it is important and appropriate that ultimate authority rests with the Board.

Members of the Association (i.e. the legal members – in the case of a company limited by guarantee, for example, this means the members of the company whose names are entered into the company's register of members) also have an important role to play in governance, and the requirement that the Board has ultimate authority does not override or supersede the powers of such members under law.

Matters reserved to the Board often include:

- Approval of the Association's strategy (see Requirement 1.1\(Part B\) and the commentary on it below);
- Approval of the long term financial plan and annual budget;
- Monitoring delivery of the strategic plan and objectives;
- Periodic review of the financial plan and performance against annual budget;
- Ensuring legal and regulatory compliance as required;
- Periodic review of major risks;
- Discussion of, and engagement with, stakeholder proposals and concerns; and
- A process to identify areas where the Board may be assisted by further education and training.
- It is expected that the Board will discuss each of the above at least annually (and more frequently if necessary).
- In practice, the Board may delegate some responsibilities to committees or other groups but choose to retain certain matters for its attention only. It is important to understand that ultimately, accountability lies with the Board and accountability cannot be delegated. Requirements 1.23 to 1.28 discuss committees in more detail.

Part B:

It is important that the Board has the authority to set the Association's strategy but it is likely that in order to do so effectively, the Board will need to draw on, and consult, a range of stakeholders (the commentary to Requirement 3.3 notes that a stakeholder is 'any person or group who has an interest in the Association or is affected by its actions').

Best practice suggests that the Board should set a rolling three to four year strategy for the Association which outlines its key long term objectives and the strategies being implemented to achieve them. This will be aligned to the National Game Strategy in place at the time. However, as one National Game Strategy comes towards an end, it is important that the Board continue to plan ahead and do not wait for the new Strategy guidance before commencing any planning.

From this strategic plan, an annual business/operational plan is developed by the executive of the Association, which outlines the key tasks to be undertaken to contribute to the achievement of the strategic objectives. The Board will agree with The Football Association key performance indicators and secondary measures to monitor the achievement of the strategic plan and business/operational plan objectives, with responsibility for achievement of the objectives, tasks and key performance indicators allocated to specific committees, employees or volunteers.

The responsibility to set the strategy also extends to keeping it under review, and it is recommended that the Board reviews it at least annually.

BOARDS

Part C:

Associations have an executive or management team which has responsibility for the day-to-day running of the Association and which is accountable to the Board.

Some Associations may only have a small number of staff and perhaps one or two senior executive positions. In this case it is still important to ensure, as far as possible, there is separation between the operational responsibilities of staff and the strategic role of the Board.

To enable the Board and the executive to perform their respective functions effectively it is important that the responsibilities of each are clear and understood by Directors, senior executives and others within the Association. As well as a list of reserved matters (see Requirement 1.1 \(Part A\) and the commentary under it); the Board should consider putting in place a list of delegated authorities covering both financial and non-financial obligations of the Board and the Board members.

Boards are non-executive (with the exception of the CEO or equivalent being appointed onto the Board in an Ex-Officio capacity) and non-operational. It is important that the Board understands that the Executive team, led by the lead Executive (CEO or equivalent) are free to deal with day-to-day operational matters without interference from the Board.

Boards may wish to consider the extent (if any) to which members of the Board or Council (if applicable) are able to liaise directly with the executive outside of the formal procedures, and whether any such communication should be reported to the Board for their record and information.

Where Associations have a Council, the role, responsibilities and decision-making rights of the Council are to be clearly defined. It is important that the Board are able to make decisions regarding the financial and operational elements of the business, where the Council can enjoy constitutionally derived powers to regulate the game. This is often referred to as "Business matters" (Board) and "Football matters" (Council). Where an Association does not have a Council, but has other committees with delegated authority or constitutionally derived powers, the same Principle applies.

Adherence to this Code will ensure that the Board contains the right skills to deliver the capability to make sound decisions regarding these business matters.

Requirement 1.2

All Directors must act in the best interests of the Association, and in a manner consistent with their legal duties.

Directors should act with this in mind when contributing to Board discussions and decisions. It is recognised that nominated Directors may be appointed to the Board by the Council and as such may provide a useful conduit between the Board and their 'constituency'. However, their duty to act in the best interests of the Association (as a whole) is paramount. This responsibility would ordinarily be explained to Directors as part of the appointment and induction process (see Requirements 2.11 and 2.12) and followed up by the Chair if necessary. It may also be reflected in the Directors' Code (see Requirement 4.4).

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 4: Companies Act 2006 – Duties of a Director
- See Appendix 5: Example of Director and Council Member Code of Conduct

COUNCILS

Requirement 1.3

A Council shall not be able to override the Board, but may have reasonable rights to consultation and constructive challenge (see Requirement 1.1 \(Part A\))

A Council is defined as: ‘a body forming part of the constitutional structure of a County Football Association, representing some or all of its stakeholders in some capacity, and having powers or rights with respect to its governance, but which is not the Board of the Association (or a committee of the Association) or the shareholders in a general meeting’. The definition also notes that a body will be treated as a Council for the purposes of this Code if it fulfils this definition, regardless of the name given to it by the Association.

This Code does not offer any opinion nor recommendation as to whether a County Football Association should have a Council or an alternative structure, this is for the Association to determine.

Not all County Football Associations include a Council within their governance structure. However, where they exist they often act as the conduit for the members’ views, and can therefore play an important role in ensuring healthy democracy within the Association (see also Requirement 1.1 \(Part A\)).

It is for the Association to determine the role of its Council within the parameters set by this Code. However, the reasonable rights to consultation and constructive challenge that a Council may have in fulfilling its role as a conduit for the views of the wider sport could include:

- An audience with the Chair of the Board;
- An audience with the Board as a whole;
- The power to call a meeting of the members;
- The power to put resolutions at a members’ meeting;
- The right to be consulted on the development of the Association’s strategy and any major strategic decisions which affect football;
- Providing a forum for debate among stakeholders;
- Acting as a ‘sounding board’ for the Board and providing advisory opinions as and when appropriate;
- Providing a pool of candidates to fill certain positions; and
- Acting as an ambassador to disseminate the Association’s strategic vision, helping to ensure that all stakeholders understand and support a shared vision for the development of football and of their respective Association.

An Association may wish to consider undertaking periodic evaluations of:

- Its Council’s role, rights and effectiveness; and
- Whether it represents fairly the participant and stakeholder landscape of the sport: see also Requirement 3.3 which requires Associations to develop a strategy for engaging with its stakeholders.

This evaluation can help the Association to decide whether its Council is serving the Association and its stakeholders well, and take any necessary steps to address any areas of weakness that are identified. In accordance with the Principle of transparency, the Association may decide to publish a summary of the conclusions of this evaluation process, and the resultant steps planned and/or taken, on its website.

Requirement 1.4

Where Councils are permitted to appoint Directors, such appointments shall reflect not more than one third of the Directors.

By promoting Boards with skilled, diverse and independent opinion this Code seeks to ensure better informed and more rounded decisions. Striking the right balance between those who have an intimate knowledge of the sport and those who bring experience from outside is also important. All Directors should, however, act in the best interest of the Association, as set out in Requirement 1.2.

If one third is not a whole number, then this should be rounded down for the purposes of calculating the maximum number of Directors who may be appointed by the Council.

Requirement 1.5

A Nominated Director shall not be considered an independent Director and must be non-executive.

A Nominated Director is defined in 'Definitions' on page 14 as a Director 'whose appointment to the Board arises from provisions in the articles of association of the Association permitting the election or nomination of Directors by the Association's membership, Council or by particular stakeholders'. This description means a Nominated Director does not meet the definition of independent.

Requirement 1.6

Council members may hold office for a maximum of either two, four-year terms or three, three-year terms.

Although the application of Council term limits is encouraged, it is, as per other areas of this Code, up to the Association to decide which elements of this Code are applied.

Term limits ensure a periodic injection of new people and ideas and provide an opportunity to refresh the skills base of a Council to suit its purpose. This may be important in terms of succession planning, particularly if the Council appoints Nominated Directors to the Board. Establishing term limits for Council members will also open up opportunities for new or younger members to become actively involved in the administration of the game. It is important that the Council is collectively, and proportionately, representative of football being played in the County, and term limits help create a focus on understanding how to attract new individuals into the Council structure to support this representation. Without term limits, it is a risk that the Council could become less representative of the membership, especially in times of change of that membership group.

It is understood that it is challenging to attract a younger volunteer workforce onto organisations such as Councils, however it is possible if consideration is given to adapting how Councils function, in order to make them more appealing to a younger generation. Term limits will help Associations prioritise their planning in how to make this possible.

The Association may also wish to consider whether it needs to improve other aspects of diversity on its Council and if so how it will achieve this, for example by implementing and publishing a plan to achieve greater diversity on the Council and reporting publicly progress against it.

The Requirement sets maximum term limits: Associations may find it appropriate to set shorter individual terms (e.g. of two years) which can be repeated subject to the maximum limit of eight or nine years set out in the Requirement.

Term limits are not required to be set retrospectively at the point of introducing this Code; however although not a requirement they could be applied retrospectively if the Association chooses to do so.

COUNCILS

Requirement 1.6 cont'd

Term limits will not apply to committee members where a committee structure exists in place of a Council (this does not apply if a committee structure runs alongside a Council, with Council members being placed on the committees. In this case it is the Council term limits that apply).

It is appreciated that Council Members are volunteers who willingly give their time in the interests of running the game and it may be the case that the organisation with the right to appoint a Council Member may find it difficult to find someone to replace the incumbent when he/she has reached the end of his/her term. In these exceptional circumstances, when no-one else can be found to represent that particular organisation on Council, and where they are willing to do so, the Association may decide to extend the incumbent's term by a single additional term. In such circumstances we would expect the Association to work with the organisation to identify opportunities to appoint a new representative at the end of the additional term. This means that a Council member could potentially serve for a maximum of 12 years.

Term limits will apply to any other body to which stakeholders have a right of appointment even if this body is not called a Council.

If a council member is appointed as a Board Director, that member may remain on Council in a non-voting, non-representative capacity when he/she reaches the end of his/her Council term for as long as they remain a Board Director. The term as Board Director starts at zero regardless of term spent on Council, as the Director will become an Ex Officio Council Member. Despite these limits, this means a Council member could serve for 9 years on Council, with a potential extra term of another 3 years, then 9 years on the Board, with an additional term of 3 years if appointed as The Chair of the Board or onto The FA Council, which would be a total of 24 years.

In accordance with Principles 03 and 04, Councils must act with integrity and be transparent in their workings.

Acting with integrity and in a transparent manner are key elements of this Code. To demonstrate compliance, Associations with Councils should consider carefully how these Principles apply to their Councils. To assist, they may find it helpful to refer to the Requirements of Principles 03 and 04 of this Code in order to formulate relevant policies and procedures. Examples include:

Integrity

- The requirement for a code of conduct for Council members (see Requirement 4.4 by way of comparison); and
- Proactive management of conflicts of interest (see Requirement 4.6 by way of comparison).

Transparency

Publication of (Publication on the Association's website is recommended):

- An explanation of the purpose of the Council;
- Council meeting agendas and minutes;
- The Council members' code of conduct;
- Council members who are in place from time to time;
- An explanation of how members are elected onto Council;
- Any conflicts of interest of Council members; and
- The outcome of any evaluation of the Council together with the resultant steps taken or to be taken (see the commentary to Requirement 1.3).

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 5: Example of Director and Council Member Code of Conduct

BOARD SIZE AND COMPOSITION

Requirement 1.8

Where an individual no longer represents a stakeholder on The Council but is able to attend Council meetings in an honorary capacity, he/she shall not be able to vote.

Representatives of Council must all be representative of a particular stakeholder (e.g. a club or league). Those on Council in an honorary position are not eligible to vote.

Requirement 1.9

The Board shall be of an appropriate size to:

- (a) Meet the requirements of the Association;
- (b) Have the appropriate balance of skills, experience, independence and knowledge;
- (c) Manage changes to its composition (including that of its committees) without undue disruption; and
- (d) Promote an open dialogue amongst the Directors.

An appropriate Board size allows for full and frank discussions amongst all Directors, while balancing the need to have varying and diverse opinions, achieved by a membership with a balance of skills, experience, independence and knowledge. If the Board is too big, it may be too unwieldy to make effective decisions. If too small, issues of continuity may arise when vacancies occur and it may be difficult to achieve the required range of skills.

It is for the Association to determine the appropriate size for its Board, having regard to the factors set out above. The following Requirements are also relevant to this:

- Requirement 1.10 below which says that the size of the Board shall not exceed twelve unless agreed with The Football Association. It is not mandatory to have a Board of twelve, and Associations should consider whether a smaller Board would be appropriate for them, bearing in mind the above factors; and
- Requirement 3.4, by which County Football Associations must have a strategy for engaging with their stakeholders. A full understanding of the Association's stakeholder landscape may inform the composition of its Board (and it's Council, if it has one).

Requirement 1.10

The size of a Board should not exceed twelve persons.

The Football Association expect an Association to be able to meet Requirement 1.9 with a Board size of twelve or fewer. A temporary increase in size may be appropriate if it would assist in succession planning.

BOARD SIZE AND COMPOSITION cont'd

Requirement 1.11

Each Association must maintain an up-to-date matrix detailing the skills, experience, independence and knowledge required of its Board.

One element which enables a Board to constitute itself properly and perform effectively is knowing which skills are required to deliver and oversee the Association's strategy, and then securing these skills through the Board appointment process. Requirement 2.4 is clear that all Board appointments should be skills-based.

The skills matrix should clearly set out the skills required of the Board and include an assessment of the current position. Any gaps can then inform the preparation of the role description and person specification for any new Director which the Association is seeking to appoint. This assessment also enables the Association to have a clear picture of the skillset of its current Directors and draw on this experience as necessary when relevant matters arise, and to assess training and development needs.

This skills audit is to be conducted as a minimum every three years as continual self-assessment could result in blind spots developing. It is recommended that this is conducted independently to avoid blind spots in the process.

The requirement states that the skills matrix must be kept up-to-date. The Board should therefore review and if necessary amend it from time to time (it is suggested annually), and it may be convenient to undertake this review alongside the annual Board evaluation (see Requirements 4.1 and 4.2).

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 7: Board Skills: Diagnostic and Evaluation Questionnaire
- See Appendix 8: Board Skills: Diagnostic and Evaluation – Independent Assessment Flow
The process flow to support Appendix 8 is available by contacting your FA Regional Manager to source an appropriate consultant.

Requirement 1.12

No one individual on the Board may have the unfettered ability to take a decision.

A Board's terms of reference will normally include a provision that ensures a certain number of people (a quorum) is required in order for a decision to be made. In determining this number, it is helpful to consider what would work from a practical viewpoint given the size of the Board. However, to avoid a situation where one individual is able to unduly influence or make a decision, this should, at the least, be greater than one.

If authority is delegated to an individual by the Board then the terms of the delegation should be clearly and fully recorded.

BOARD SIZE AND COMPOSITION cont'd

Requirement 1.13

If a member of the executive management of the Association (e.g. the Chief Executive Officer (or equivalent) or Senior Finance Officer) is appointed to the Board, then they may only be appointed in an Ex Officio capacity.

Some Associations may determine that it is appropriate for a member of its executive or senior management team to be a Director because of the way the Association operates and the knowledge, experience or insight brought by that role (see definition of 'Ex Officio' in the 'Definitions on page 14'). In these circumstances, the appointment relates to the role rather than the individual and if an individual ceases to be in that role, they should also cease to be a Director. As a vacancy arises the Association may take the opportunity to consider if it is still appropriate for the Ex Officio position to be a Director based on the skills and knowledge required by the Board.

It is recommended that CEOs (or equivalent) are on the Board in an ex-officio capacity although this is not a mandated requirement. Benefits of this include:

- The ability of the CEO to ensure the Board are well informed on operational matters;
- An ability for the CEO to challenge the Board if they are becoming too operationally involved (see Requirement 1.1C); and
- A reduced risk in a lack of clarity of matters being delegated to the CEO (or equivalent) by the Board.

TERM LIMITS

Requirement 1.14

Subject to the exceptions set out in Requirement 1.15 below, a Director may serve on the Board for a maximum of three terms of three years.

Term limits ensure the Board benefits from a periodic injection of new people and ideas and that power is not perpetually concentrated in one group. Terms limits also enable a Board to recruit the right skills at the right time to suit the strategic objectives of the Association. In a broader sense, term limits can also enlarge the group of people who promote the Association as former Directors leave but continue to speak positively about the Association.

The term limits required by this Code are not required to be applied retrospectively, although Associations may wish to apply retrospectively*. For those Associations choosing not to apply retrospective Board limit terms in full, the application of partially retrospective limits is encouraged.

* Associations wishing to be fully compliant with Tier 3 of the Sport England Code will need to adopt retrospective term limits.

Requirement 1.15

The exceptions referred to in Requirement 1.14 are as follows:

- (a) A Director may serve on the Board for a maximum of twelve years if appointed as Chair of the Association or if appointed onto the FA Council;
- (b) A Director appointed in an Ex Officio capacity may serve on the Board for the duration of their holding the relevant office; and
- (c) In exceptional circumstances (for example to assist succession planning), a Chair or Director may hold office for a further year.

Part A:

If an individual holds a position as Chair of the Board, or is appointed onto the Football Association's Council;

- They may serve on the Board (for an additional 3 year term and a maximum of twelve years); or
- They may be appointed to an honorary position, and/or attend Board meetings as an observer (i.e. not as a Director, and on a non-voting basis).

Part B:

This is in line with the definition of 'Ex Officio' found in 'Definitions' on page 14.

TERM LIMITS

Requirement 1.15 cont'd

Part C:

As noted at Requirement 1.9(c), the size of the Board should be sufficient to handle changes to its composition. In addition, Requirement 2.7 requires succession plans for orderly appointments to the Board. However, where it would make sense to retain an individual beyond their normal term of office, and they are willing to do this, the Board may decide to extend their term for a further year. Whilst it is for the Board to decide when this is the right course of action, the expectation is that the rationale would be clear and it would only be done on an exceptional basis (e.g. because of unforeseen succession planning issues or because an individual brings a particular skill that is needed at that time). The Football Association would expect to be consulted on any proposal to extend a Director's term.

Requirement 1.16

When a Director has completed their maximum term, at least four years must elapse before they can be eligible to stand as a Director for that Association again.

Associations may wish to set a longer period if they consider this appropriate. If the Association does not allow a Director to stand again, even after four years have elapsed, this is not a Code compliance issue.

THE CHAIR

Requirement 1.17

Each Board must appoint a Chair who shall be responsible for the leadership of the Board, and consideration should be given to appointing an Independent Chair.

The Chair has an important role in leading the Board and establishing an environment that enables the Board to achieve its potential and secure the long term success of the Association. As part of this leadership role, Chairs often:

- Set the Board's agenda;
- Ensure the effectiveness of the Board, including how individual Directors perform and interact at meetings (see Requirement 4.1 regarding Board evaluation);
- Ensure that the Directors receive accurate, timely and clear information;
- Ensure that adequate time is available for discussion of all agenda items, in particular strategic issues, and that this time is used productively;
- Ensure that Board decisions are executed;
- Promote a culture of openness and debate amongst the Board by facilitating the effective contribution of all Directors and ensuring constructive relations between executives and Directors;
- Act as a link between the Board and executive, particularly the Chief Executive Officer (or equivalent);
- Manage conflicts of interest;
- Take a lead on governance matters; and
- Set an example in the values and behaviour they adopt, acting at all times in line with the mandatory Director's code that has been agreed by the Board (see further Requirement 4.4).

Associations are not required to appoint an independent Chair, but it may be prudent, when a Chair vacancy arises, to consider whether the appointment of an independent Chair would be the right step for the Association, as independent Chairs offer the potential to have a more detached, objective view.

Tools/Resources:

- See Appendix 11: County FA Chair of the Board of Directors' Role Profile – Template
- Also, within the first month of appointment, each new County FA Chair will be invited to Wembley Stadium to meet a combination of The FA Company Secretary, Director of Operations, Head of Operations, Senior Operations Delivery and National People Development Manager for an induction into the business.

THE CHAIR cont'd

Requirement 1.18

The roles of Chair and Chief Executive Officer shall not be exercised by the same individual and the division shall be established in writing and agreed by the Board.

This re-enforces Requirement 1.1 \(Part C\) which requires a clear division between the Board's management and oversight role and the executive's operational role. A Chair is only able to provide objective oversight if they have sufficient separation from, and are not directly responsible for, the day-to-day management of an Association. Conversely, a Chief Executive Officer (or equivalent) is often required to become intimately involved in developing and executing management plans for an Association. Keeping the roles separate therefore ensures each has the opportunity to perform their respective functions to the best of their ability.

Tools/Resources:

- See Appendix 9: County FA Chief Executive Officer Role Profile – Template
- See Appendix 11: County FA Chair of the Board of Directors' Role Profile – Template

INDEPENDENT NON-EXECUTIVE DIRECTORS

Requirement 1.19

At least one third of the Board shall be independent non-executive Directors.

‘Independent’ is defined in ‘Definitions’ on page 14.

There are a number of reasons why it is beneficial to have independent non-executive Directors on a Board. They enhance decision-making by providing objective scrutiny and offering an independent perspective, drawing on their current and previous experience from outside of the Association. Having an element of independence in an Association’s governance structure often enhances the reputation of the Association and makes it a more favourable proposition to potential partners, investors or sponsors.

In some Associations, the majority of the Board is independent. However, other Associations may have good reasons for not adopting this model.

To perform effectively independent non-executive Directors need to receive a good induction (see Requirement 2.12), have access to the right information at the right time, and have the confidence and space within the boardroom to offer constructive challenge. In return, independent non-executive Directors need to ensure they are able to commit sufficient time to their role and to understanding the business of the Association.

In order to preserve the value deemed from having an element of independent challenge in the decision-making process, Associations may want to consider if a quorum of the Board should include a certain number of independent Directors.

This mirrors the Councils ability to appoint one third of Directors (see Requirement 1.4).

If one third is not a whole number, then this should normally be rounded up for the purposes of calculating the required number of independent non-executive Directors (unless otherwise agreed with The Football Association).

- See Appendix 12: County FA Governance Nomination and Appointment Committee – Terms of Reference
- See Appendix 13: Board Recruitment Process Guidelines

INDEPENDENT NON-EXECUTIVE DIRECTORS cont'd

Requirement 1.20

Each Board shall appoint one of its independent non-executive Directors to be the Senior Independent Director.

The Senior Independent Director has a specific role set out in 'Definitions' on page 14. Senior Independent Directors can assist the working of the Board through the exercise of these special responsibilities. It is for Associations to decide whether this replaces the role of Vice-Chair should Associations decide to appoint a Vice-Chair (which is not a mandatory requirement).

The key difference between the Senior Independent Director and the Vice-Chair role is that the Vice-Chair, when standing in for The Chair, will utilise the Senior Independent Director as a sounding board, and also utilise the Senior Independent Director for feedback on performance. This is the same support the Senior independent Director would provide to the Chair.

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 14: County FA Senior Independent Director – Role Profile
- See Appendix 15: ICSA Guidance Note: The Roles of the Chairman, Chief Executive and Senior Independent Director under the Combined Code

BOARD CONDUCT

Requirement 1.21

Boards shall adopt policies and practices that:

- Foster openness and debate amongst Directors; and
- Set out clear expectations with respect to the running of Board meetings and direct behaviour.

A Board's effectiveness is determined not only by who sits on it, but also what it does and how it acts. To garner the benefits brought by having a diverse Board with independent non-executive Directors, it is important that each Director feels they can offer their view in a trusted environment where different opinions are respected. Any policies and practices adopted by the Board should therefore foster an environment where Directors feel they can openly debate matters and are clear about how meetings are run and what is expected of them. As noted under Requirement 1.17, the Chair plays a key role in ensuring the right environment exists and that meetings are run according to the policies and practices that have been agreed by the Board.

It is recommended that this be evidenced through a Board Code of Conduct.

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 3: County FA Board of Directors' Handbook Index – Template
- See Appendix 5: Example of Director and Council Member Code of Conduct

BOARD MEETINGS

Requirement 1.22

The Board and its committees shall:

- (a) Meet sufficiently regularly to discharge their duties effectively; and
- (b) Maintain a proper record of their meetings and decisions.

Part A:

The regularity of Board (and committee) meetings is a matter for the Association to decide and is often determined by the Chair in consultation with other Directors and the Chief Executive Officer (or equivalent role). However, in deciding what is appropriate, the Association may wish to consider:

- The role the Board plays in monitoring and scrutinising performance against key strategic and financial priorities; and
- The benefits of scheduling meetings to fit with key business milestones (such as financial reporting periods) and to ensure dates are set well in advance to secure time in Directors' diaries.

Boards may choose to make provision in their terms of reference to enable meetings to take place 'virtually' to handle urgent matters that arise outside of the normal Board (or committee) meeting calendar.

Part B:

Maintaining a proper record of meetings and decisions promotes accountability and transparency by providing clarity about what was agreed, why a decision was made and who made it.

If a Director has any concerns about the running of the Association or a proposed action, these concerns should be recorded in the Board minutes.

Minutes from committee meetings should be made available to the Board so that Directors are aware of any decisions made under delegated authority. In the interests of wider transparency, Associations are also encouraged to think about publishing the minutes (or summary reports) from Board and committee meetings to provide stakeholders with information about decisions (see also the commentary under Requirement 3.1).

Tools/Resources

BOARD COMMITTEES

Requirement 1.23

The Board shall maintain an audit committee unless the particular circumstances of the Association are such that it is appropriate for the Board to act as the audit committee.

Audit committee

The audit committee has particular responsibility in relation to ensuring the adequacy of the Association's financial reporting and internal controls. It is for the Board to determine the composition of the audit committee but best practice suggests this should be comprised of at least two, and preferably three, independent non-executive Directors, with at least one member of the committee having recent and relevant financial experience. The Chair of the Board should not ordinarily be a member of the audit committee.

The audit committee is usually responsible for making a recommendation on the appointment, reappointment and removal of the external auditors and would meet the external and internal auditors at least annually, without management, to discuss matters relating to its remit and any issues arising from the audits.

Formal terms of reference for the audit committee should be agreed by the Board, these terms of reference and reports on the committee's work may be made available on the Association's website in the interests of transparency.

BOARD COMMITTEES cont'd

Requirement 1.24

The Board shall maintain a nomination committee either on a permanent or on an ad hoc basis unless the particular circumstances of the organisation are such that it is appropriate for the Board to act as the nomination committee.

A majority of the members of the nomination committee shall be independent non-executive Directors and it shall be chaired by the Chair (except when it is dealing with the appointment of a successor to the Chair, when it shall be chaired by an independent non-executive Director).

If the Board acts as the nomination committee, it shall be chaired by an independent non-executive Director when dealing with the appointment of a successor to the Chair.

Nomination committee

A nomination committee has responsibility for leading the process for Board and senior executive appointments and making recommendations to the Board. In respect of Board appointments, this includes evaluating the Board's current capability against the agreed skills matrix, and, in light of this evaluation, agreeing a description of the role and capabilities required for a particular appointment. See also Requirement 1.11 (skills matrix).

An Association need not have a nomination committee (which in any event can be ad hoc rather than permanent) if the nature of the Association and of its scope and operations are such that the whole Board can conveniently act as the nomination committee. The expectation is that large, complex Associations with significant and sizeable operations will find it helpful to have a standing nomination committee.

Terms of reference for the nomination committee should be agreed by the Board; these terms of reference and reports on the committee's work may be made available on the Association's website in the interests of transparency.

Having a majority of independent non-executive Directors on the committee provides assurance to the Board and stakeholders (including interested candidates) that the appointment process benefits from independent and objective scrutiny. The size of the nomination committee is up to the Association but in practice many Associations find a nomination committee of three is appropriate.

BOARD COMMITTEES cont'd

The Board shall maintain a permanent committee of the Board to lead on equality, inclusion and diversity matters.

The Equality Committee above refers to the Inclusion Advisory Groups (IAG) (sometimes known as Inclusion Advisory Boards, IAB) which have been set up and maintained by Associations. This point requires the Association to make these committees, groups or boards permanent committees to their Boards. It is important to note these groups/boards should exist in an independent and advisory nature. Equality Committees enable Associations to benefit from external experience and expertise from local diverse communities who can make sure the football offer they deliver is as inclusive and representative as possible.

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 18: Inclusion Advisory Groups – What You Need to Know
- Also see within Appendices 18 and 19 for examples of an Inclusion Advisory Group's Terms of Reference
- See Appendix 20: How to be a More Inclusive County FA

Requirement 1.26

The Chair of the committee established under 1.25 shall be appointed via an open, publicly advertised recruitment process.

It has been established and reinforced through FA commissioned research that one of the critical success factors of an Equality Committee is having a strong and influential Chair driving change. Therefore the recruitment of the most able and suitable candidate from the biggest pool of applicants is important. The Chair of the Equality Committee will become either a Board observer or Board member at the Association which means this role is crucial. A specific and demanding role description and recruitment process is necessary for this particular role.

BOARD COMMITTEES cont'd

Requirement 1.27

The Board shall establish:

- Any further committees which it considers necessary to support its work; and
- Other committees as shall be required by the Rules and Regulations of The football Association from time to time.

As noted in Requirement 1.1(Part A), the Board may decide to delegate certain responsibilities to other committees or groups. Generally, delegation to committees does not detract from the Board's collective accountability for delegated issues, but can help significantly with the Board's management of them.

Typically, Boards often delegate consideration of the following governance-related issues to committees (in addition to the work of the audit committee and nomination committee).

- Risk management and internal control;
- Remuneration; and
- Ethics and compliance.

Sometimes these issues are part of the work of other committees (e.g. the audit committee's remit may include risk management and internal control, and the nomination committee's remit may include remuneration); sometimes separate committees are established. Whether and how to delegate consideration of the above issues is for the Board to determine.

In addition, Boards sometimes constitute committees to give detailed and expert consideration of football-specific issues.

A committee may include individuals who are not Directors, if the Board considers this appropriate. Recruiting individuals to serve on committees can bring specialist skills to them, and also act as a development opportunity, giving valuable experience to individuals who may in the future wish to pursue becoming Directors. It is recommended that any such appointments of non-Directors to committees are skills-based, and if appointments are to be made from outside the sport (e.g. the recruitment of technical specialists to audit or nomination committees), that they are publicly advertised, e.g. on the websites of The Football Association (a free service). Consideration should be given to ensuring that any relevant codes of conduct or expected behaviours are passed down to such appointees.

Each committee established under Requirements 1.23, 1.24, 1.25 or 1.27 shall report to the Board and have clear terms of reference which identify its responsibilities and any powers delegated to it by the Board.

Terms of reference for Board committees should set out the reasons for the delegation and the responsibilities and powers the Board has agreed to delegate. They should be agreed by the Board. Best practice suggests that terms of reference should also include details about the membership of the committee, the frequency of meetings, how decisions are recorded and reported to the Board and how many committee members should be present for a decision to be made (i.e. the quorum). As well as sharing minutes from committee meetings, it is important that the Chair of each committee has an appropriate reporting mechanism to the Board to ensure Directors are aware of key decisions made under delegated authority.

The terms of reference of each committee may be made available on the Association's website in the interests of transparency.

YOUTH COUNCIL

Requirement 1.29

Each Association shall be required to establish a Youth Council in line with the guidance provided by The Football Association from time to time.

Due to the proportion of affiliated football being played by young people, it is sensible that all Associations should have a Youth Council that formalises the voice of young people in the administration and development of the game at a local level. Where they work best, the involvement of Youth Councillors adds to the confidence and credibility of the Association in how it engages with young people. It also extends the Association's workforce with a number of skilled and motivated volunteers. There are examples of Youth Councils aligning themselves with the Association's Development Plans to aid and extend delivery as well as buddying Youth Councillors with Football Development staff. Youth Councils have contributed previously to the delivery of safeguarding programmes, the staging of events, festivals and Cup Finals, marketing and communications, Respect campaigning, club and league development and outreach community football programmes.

Youth Councils have proved useful and important for both The FA and many County FAs. The FA has, for example, received international recognition for its Youth Council, which is represented on both the main FA Council and The FA's Inclusion Advisory Board.

Requirement 1.30

The Youth Council shall have the right to appoint a member representing young people onto the Associations' Equality Committee (as required by Requirement 1.25).

In parallel with The FA, which appoints a representative of its Youth Council onto its Inclusion Advisory Board, having the voice of young people on the Equality Committee is a logical and inclusive step towards greater diversity across all areas of the game. Formalising this voice and embedding it in this way will help to change the culture of football, in terms of how football is run and developed at a local level.

Any member of an Association's Youth Council who is proposed to sit on an Equality Committee must also comply with the role description 'essential' criteria to ensure the relevant standards, skills, experience and qualities are brought to the committee.

YOUTH COUNCIL cont'd

Requirement 1.31

The Board shall be required to demonstrate how it provides the opportunity for the views of young people to be heard within the Board.

Boards of the Association shall be required to provide evidence that they are listening to, representing and empowering young people.

As highlighted in the commentary of Requirement 1.30, The FA Youth Council are represented on FA Council and via the FA Inclusion Advisory Board. Other means could be created to enable the views of young people to be heard within the Board of the Association:

- Full Board member;
- Co-opted Board member;
- Board member with observer status only;
- Invited to Board meetings to discuss matters which directly involve and/or impact young people; and
- Association's Youth Council and IAG minutes to be submitted to the Board for discussion.

If this is not achieved by a young person being on the Board in any capacity, then evidence in the form of agendas and minutes from the Board itself can be used.

PEOPLE

THE PRINCIPLE:

Associations shall recruit and engage people with appropriate diversity, independence, skills, experience and knowledge to take effective decisions that further the Association's goals.

WHY IS THIS IMPORTANT?

Diverse, skilled and experienced decision-making bodies which contain independent voice and engage in constructive, open debate enable good decision-making.

REQUIREMENTS AND RESOURCES

DIVERSITY

Requirement 2.1

Each Association shall:

- (a) adopt a target of, and take all appropriate actions to encourage, a minimum of 30% of each gender on its Board;
- (b) demonstrate a strong and public commitment to progressing towards achieving greater diversity generally on its Board, including the adoption of further Board diversity targets to include but not be limited to BAME and disability. The targets shall be determined by the Association and shall reflect the diversity of its local area as evidenced through local demographic data; and
- (c) appoint a member of the committee leading on equality, inclusion and diversity matters to the Board, as a minimum in an observer capacity (see Requirement 1.25).

It is recognised that decision-making is improved when a Board is able to draw on, and harness, a diverse range of opinions.

Gender is an important aspect of diversity and an Association will be expected to work towards achieving at least 30% of each gender on its Board, while also demonstrating publicly its commitment to achieving gender parity and greater diversity generally on its Board. It should demonstrate the actions it is taking to meet these targets. Although the term “each” is used in reference to gender in these notes, non-binary identification should also be considered when applying this requirement.

If 30% is not a whole number, then this should normally be rounded up for the purposes of calculating the required number of male/female Directors (unless otherwise agreed with The Football Association).

The targets referred to in this Requirement are explicitly targets, and not fixed quotas. However, the Association must be able to demonstrate how the target reflects local demographic data. The obligation on funded Associations is to demonstrably commit to work towards achieving them, and to take all appropriate actions in order to do so. Nevertheless, in order to drive real change The Football Association expects this commitment and the actions taken to be meaningful.

Requirement 2.1(b) above references Black, Asian, and minority ethnic and disability diversity expressly within the context of greater diversity generally. Data from the sector shows that representation from these groups on Boards remains low and that Associations need to do more to increase it, and to be able to demonstrate the actions they are taking to do so.

It is also important to think about what ‘greater diversity’ means. Here the Code is referring not only to the protected characteristics of the Equality Act 2010 (which are gender, age, disability, gender reassignment, race, sexual orientation, religion or belief, marriage and civil partnership and pregnancy and maternity) but also socio-economic background and diversity of thought. Associations should seek to recruit to their Boards people who think in different ways as well as those who have different backgrounds. For example, Associations may wish to consider the possibility of addressing the diversity of formal structures other than the Board, in order to build internal capacity for succession planning.

DIVERSITY

Any member or related Association or body (e.g. a Council) which has the right to appoint Directors of the funded Association should do so in a way that encourages a diverse range of candidates, e.g. by use of a structured process which allows for the consideration of candidates from a range of backgrounds. Where diversity is being driven exclusively or primarily from independent, non-executive Directors, The Football Association may wish to challenge whether Associations really are taking all appropriate actions to drive diversity.

It will be for an Association to decide how it identifies and agrees the actions that should be taken to support and/or maintain the diversity targets set out in this Requirement. However, the Board should have a role in this process and should monitor progress against the actions, in particular discussing the annual progress update and the plan for the following year before this information is published.

Each Association shall identify proportionate and appropriate actions to be taken to support and/or maintain (as appropriate) the diversity targets set out in Requirement 2.1.

Same commentary as applies to Requirement 2.1.

Requirement 2.3

The Board shall ensure that the Association prepares and publishes on its website information (approved by the Board) about its work to foster all aspects of diversity within its leadership and decision-making, including an annual update on progress against the actions identified in Requirement 2.2.

Same commentary as applies to Requirement 2.1.

BOARD RECRUITMENT

Requirement 2.4

Each Association shall have a formal, rigorous and transparent procedure for the appointment of new Directors to the Board, and all appointments shall be made on merit in line with the skills required of the Board.

The aim of the recruitment process is to secure the best candidates for the Board, and to do so in a formal and transparent way which builds trust in the Association (thereby demonstrating integrity, as required by Principle 04).

The appointment process may well differ for independent and Nominated Directors but whatever the process, it should comply with this Requirement. Thus, it should be documented, and information about the process should be available to the Board and relevant stakeholders as appropriate. For example, if a Nominated Director is appointed by the membership, it is important to ensure all members have access to the information about the process in a timely manner.

Irrespective of the process of appointment, all appointments should also be made on merit in line with the skills required of the Board. Requirement 1.11 requires each Association to maintain an up-to-date matrix detailing the skills, experience and knowledge required of its Board. This skills matrix enables the Association to prepare the role description and person specification for any new Director which the Association is seeking to appoint, whether this be for an independent non-executive Director or a Nominated Director position. The Association's succession plan (Requirement 2.7) also informs this process.

In order to ensure that the appointment of Nominated Directors who, under the terms of the Association's constitution, are elected to the Board (e.g. by a particular constituency or by the membership as a whole) are made on merit and in line with the required skills, Associations may wish to give consideration to the following process.

- As noted above, a role description and person specification are prepared;
- Vacancies (including the role description and person specification) are communicated widely (e.g. by publication on the website of The Football Association.); and
- The nomination committee reviews applications and provides a view on whether proposed candidates have the required skills and experience. If this is the case, in the interests of transparency, it would be appropriate for the view of the nomination committee to accompany any election materials relating to that candidate so that those making the selection have access to that information.

(Note: see further Requirement 1.24 about nomination committees.)

In exceptional circumstances a Director may be co-opted onto the Board if this is necessary to ensure that the Board has the skills and/or experience necessary to fulfil its role.
A Co-opted Director as defined in 'Definitions' on page 14 is a Director who is 'temporarily appointed as such by the Board outside of the customary appointment process'. It is for the Board to determine why and if a Co-opted Director is required and the length of time the Co-opted Director remains on the Board. However, this period should be limited and would not normally be longer than a year. The Co-opted Director's voting rights should be decided by the Board at the time of appointment. If a Director joins the Board in this capacity it is helpful to ensure the reasons for this are documented and that the Co-opted Director has a clear understanding of their position. BOARD RECRUITMENT cont'd

The appointment of the Board Chair and independent non-executive Directors must be via an open, publicly advertised recruitment process.

Open recruitment is the best way to find high quality candidates. In addition, the active promotion of diversity is a core element of the Code and to support this it is crucial that Board positions are advertised widely and not solely through personal connections. Associations are encouraged to post any Board vacancies on the jobs section of the Football Association website (there is no cost to an Association to do this). Associations should also consider where else they can be advertised, in order to obtain the widest possible reach.

Council Chairs are not to be appointed as Ex-officio Board Chairs. In an open and transparent process, Council Chairs would be eligible to apply, but would go through an open and transparent selection process.

Requirement 2.7

The Board shall have in place succession plans for orderly appointments to the Board and to key positions within senior management.

Effective succession planning reduces the risks associated with the loss of experienced leadership and helps maintain an appropriate balance of skills and experience within the Association and on the Board, as well as ensuring progressive refreshing of the Board. Having plans in place also enables the Board or Association to act swiftly in response to abrupt changes to the Board or senior management, helping to reduce any associated risks or costs.

It will be for the Association to determine which positions within senior management should be captured by the succession plan.

BOARD RECRUITMENT cont'd

Requirement 2.8

The nomination committee shall lead the process for Board appointments on behalf of the Board (unless, as set out in Requirement 1.24, the Association does not have a nomination committee, in which case the Board shall be responsible for the appointment process).

Commentary under Requirement 1.24 sets out the role of the nomination committee.

The nomination committee (or Board) may also want to consider the following when leading the process for Board appointments:

- As well as referring to the Board skills matrix (Requirement 1.11) when preparing the role description and person specification for each Director role, it is helpful for the documentation to include an assessment of the time commitment expected (recognising the need for availability in the event of crises);
- In order for the Board to decide whether to approve a recommendation, it is important that it has sufficient and timely information about the recommended candidate, and the Chair of the nomination committee would ordinarily be responsible for ensuring this is the case; and
- If the candidate recommended by the nomination committee is rejected by the Board, the Board should be clear about its reasons and refer the matter back to the nomination committee: the nomination committee may be able to recommend a suitable alternative candidate from the current process, or alternatively that the recruitment process is re-run.

Requirement 2.9
The Board or nomination committee shall inform The Football Association of any appointment process being carried out by the Association in relation to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) any Directors; (b) the Chief Executive Officer; and shall permit The Football Association to observe any such process.
The appointment process for Directors and the Chief Executive Officer is a matter for the Association to determine and conduct and this Requirement does not signal an intention to lead or control the process. Indeed if The Football Association ask to be involved in a particular process, it would only be in the capacity of an observer and would not include having a vote on which candidate to appoint. It may also be that The Football Association could offer support during the process and act as a critical friend, ensuring that the process is fair and accords with best practice. The Football Association would ask the Association to ensure the representative has sufficient information about the process (e.g. timetable, job specification, CVs of those shortlisted) in a timely fashion. The notification should go in the first instance to the Football Association's Regional Manager, who will inform the Head of Operations and The Company Secretary.

INDUCTION OF NEW DIRECTORS

Requirement 2.11

On appointment, each Director shall be given a written statement of their responsibilities.

Directors need a clear understanding of their collective and individual responsibilities in order to perform effectively. It will be for an Association to determine the form of this statement but it may include reference to:

- The responsibilities set out in the Board's terms of reference;
- The requirement that they may act in the best interests of the Association as a whole (rather than a particular group or constituency), and in a manner consistent with their legal duties (see Requirement 1.2);
- Expectations about conduct (in line with the Directors' code at Requirement 4.4); and
- Any responsibilities specific to their particular role on the Board (e.g. Senior Independent Director).

It is good practice to review the statements periodically to ensure they remain up to date.

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 4: Companies Act 2006 – Duties of a Director

INDUCTION OF NEW DIRECTORS cont'd

Requirement 2.12

Each Association shall ensure that new Directors receive a full, formal and tailored induction on joining the Board.

All Directors should receive an induction on joining the Board. The objective of an induction process is to ensure all new Directors have the information they need to become as effective as possible, as soon as possible. A good induction process should help build an understanding of the Association and its main relationships and establish links with the key people within the Association. The induction may be tailored in recognition of the different needs, skills and experience of each Director but there is likely to be a baseline of common information shared with all. Associations may also find it helpful to think about using different methods for the induction process (e.g. one-to-one meetings, attendance at events, information packs, and visits).

Topics that may be covered in an induction include the following:

- The role of a Board and the duties of a Director (in line with the written statement of responsibilities at Requirement 2.11);
- The Association's history and structure;
- The Association's governing documents (e.g. articles, schedule of reserved matters, Board and committee terms of reference, recent Board and general meeting minutes), strategic plan, financial information, and significant issues;
- The Association's key stakeholders (it may be appropriate to facilitate meetings with such stakeholders, e.g. clubs, leagues, funders etc.); and
- This Code.

Careful consideration should be given to the amount of time needed for a proper induction, and whether it should be staggered in order to promote incremental learning and avoid an immediate over-burdening of too much information. This could be discussed with a new Director, also giving them an opportunity to contribute to the process by outlining any specific elements they would like included; for example, a newly appointed Director who is taking a position on a Board committee may want to spend more time with those who are responsible for matters that come before that committee.

Associations may wish to consider pairing a newly appointed Nominated Director with an independent non-executive Director, and vice versa, in order that each can learn from the other: Nominated Directors often have unrivalled knowledge of football, and independent Directors often bring experience from senior levels of the wider business community.

Tools/Resources

REMUNERATION

Requirement 2.13

Remuneration of Directors and employees, if any, shall be determined in accordance with a formal, approved procedure.

Having a formal, approved procedure for determining remuneration provides assurance to Directors and employees that decisions are made on a consistent basis. In addition, a good remuneration policy is designed to support performance, encourage the underlying financial health of the Association and promote sound risk management.

As noted in Requirement 1.27, a Board may choose to constitute a remuneration committee and delegate responsibility to it to agree the remuneration of Directors and senior management. The committee may also have responsibility for agreeing a remuneration policy.

Whatever procedure an Association chooses to adopt for determining remuneration, it should be clearly documented and made available to those with an interest in the outcome.

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 22: County FA Remuneration Committee Terms of Reference – Template

FA REPRESENTATIVE

Requirement 2.14

Each organisation shall have an open, formal and transparent procedure for the appointment of the FA representative.

The appointed representative shall comply with any eligibility criteria as required by The Football Association from time to time.

The appointment shall be made by the Board.

The FA representative is the representation of the Association within the main Football Association Council, and by virtue of being on that Council will also be appointed onto various committees, helping to shape football in England. Given the importance of FA Representatives contributing effectively in these areas, it is important that FA representatives are chosen who are able to contribute.

An “Open” procedure is one that ensures all who are eligible are aware of the vacancy and the appointment procedure. A “Formal” process is one where a clear process exists in writing and the process is documented and minuted accordingly. A “Transparent” process is one in which it is easy for interested parties to find out information about how the appointment process works along with the duties that the FA Representative is required to undertake.

A Board who have been selected based on skills will be able to identify the skills required for an FA Representative to contribute in this way and also to act as an ambassador for the Association within the FA Council.

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 8: Board Skills: Diagnostic and Evaluation – Independent Assessment Flow
The process flow to support Appendix 8 is available by contacting your FA Regional Manager to source an appropriate consultant.

SAFEGUARDING CHAMPION

Requirement 2.15

Each Association shall appoint one of the Directors as the Board Safeguarding Champion in compliance with The Football Associations Safeguarding Operating Standard and the Board Safeguarding Champion shall fully meet the role description.

See the County FA Safeguarding Operating Standard for further information.

PRINCIPLE 03

THE PRINCIPLE:

Associations shall be transparent and accountable, engaging effectively with stakeholders and nurturing internal democracy.

WHY IS THIS IMPORTANT?

Being responsive to stakeholders, understanding their interests and hearing their voice helps shape the Association's governance and strategy. Transparency about why the Association exists, what it is trying to do, how it is doing it and with what results empowers stakeholders by giving them the information about the Association that they need to know.

DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION
Requirement 3.1 Each Association shall publicly disclose information on its governance, structure, strategy, activities and financial position to enable stakeholders to have a good understanding of them.
Requirement 3.2 Any information disclosed shall be fair, accurate and presented in an understandable manner.
Activities Many Associations publish an annual review of the activities of the Association. From a governance perspective, this review could include reports on the working of the Board (as referred to in Requirement 1.22), its Council (if the Association has one) and key committees. Finance Requirement 5.5 requires audited annual accounts to be published. Diversity Requirements 2.1 to 2.3 set out the obligations concerning transparency with regard to diversity. To comply with these Requirements, the Association should give consideration to publishing the following as standing information: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A statement of intent about its commitment to equality and diversity goals, and • Its policies and procedures relating to equality and diversity. Annual reporting could include details of the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How the Association has ensured that any Board recruitment activity that has occurred during the year has been undertaken in such a way as to increase diversity; • Data on Board, staff, volunteers and participants; • Identification of a strategic lead for equality and diversity; and • Any other activities that have been undertaken, e.g. shadowing and mentoring schemes, and/or programmes to reach out to particular communities to build capacity in the leaders of the future. Other Associations may wish to go further and publish more information.

ENGAGEMENT STRATEGY

Requirement 3.3

Each Association shall develop a strategy for engaging with, and listening to, its stakeholders which the Board shall contribute to and review at least annually.

This is to be published under a Governance section on the Associations website. It is important that local stakeholders are able to find such information quickly and easily

A stakeholder is any person or group which has an interest in the Association or is affected by its actions.

The stakeholder landscape of an Association is likely to be complex, and one model is unlikely to fit all. For example, Associations have hugely differing numbers of participants. Nevertheless, it is incumbent on each Association to consider properly who its stakeholders are, and how it should best engage with them.

Accessibility and effective communication are important in order to give stakeholders timely and accurate information: see further Requirement 3.1 above.

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 33: Documents to consider including in Governance Section of County FA Website

STAFF SURVEY

Requirement 3.4

Each Association shall be expected to carry out a regular staff survey at least once a year and:

- act on the results internally, communicating clearly to their employees how such actions are to be taken; and
- make topline data available to The Football Association to collate the results for the purpose of developing a greater understanding of the County Football Association workforce.

To build a healthy organisational culture it is important to listen to staff on a regular basis in a way in which they feel their voices are being heard and that from which, they can see that action results. Such feedback can help leadership of the Association understand opportunities to drive culture, performance, job satisfaction, retention and to improve the mental health and wellbeing of the workforce.

It can also be a useful tool in building trust between the workforce and senior leadership.

It is recommended that such surveys are anonymous to ensure honesty in responses.

The Football Association will engage an independent research partner (currently Critical Research) to conduct an annual County FA staff engagement, diversity and wellbeing survey.

STAFF SURVEY

Requirement 3.4 cont'd

Tools/Resources

Work is in progress between The FA and independent research company Critical to design a staff survey for County FAs. The administration of the survey and the analysis and reporting of the results will be carried out entirely by Critical to ensure independence and anonymity of respondents. Every County (where the completion rate is greater than 90%) will receive a report designed to assist the Board and CEO in deciding on interventions to improve staff engagement, diversity and wellbeing. The FA will receive a top line report of the results across all County FAs.

The first survey is planned for launch in February 2020 and the subsequent reports are planned to be delivered in April 2020

The survey will be an annual exercise.

STANDARDS AND CONDUCT

THE PRINCIPLE:

Associations shall uphold high standards of integrity, and engage in regular and effective evaluation to drive continuous improvement.

WHY IS THIS IMPORTANT?

Having the right values embedded in the culture of the Association helps protect public investment and also enhances the reputation of the Association, earning stakeholder trust. Constantly seeking to improve makes an Association swift to respond to new challenges and opportunities.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE BOARD

Requirement 4.1

The Board, led by the Chair, shall undertake, and maintain in writing a record of, an annual evaluation of its own skills and performance and of individual Directors, and that of its committees (committee evaluation need not be undertaken annually).

Evaluation assists with the continuous improvement of the Board and its committees. The Requirement covers three tiers of evaluation: the whole Board, Board committees, and individual Directors.

Internal evaluation of the Board

The areas to be covered in the annual whole-Board evaluation will depend on factors specific to the Association, e.g. its purpose, size and particular challenges it is facing, (it may be helpful to refer to the skills matrix) but it is expected that, broadly, it will cover the following issues:

- (i) The balance of skills, experience, independence and knowledge of the Directors on the Board;
- (ii) Its diversity (see Requirements 2.1 to 2.3);
- (iii) The ability of the Board to function as a unit; and
- (iv) Any other factors relevant to its effectiveness.

The above list is not exhaustive.

Evaluation of Board committees

The process should usually be led by the Chair of the committee, reporting to the Chair of the Board. It is for the Board to determine the frequency with which evaluations of Board committees should take place. Annual evaluation is considered best practice, but it is recognised that the size of many funded Associations means that their resource needs to be carefully focused so as to maximise governance performance.

Evaluation of individual Directors

The purpose of individual evaluation is to determine whether each Director continues to contribute effectively and demonstrate commitment to the role of a Director. This process should normally be led by the Chair of the Board. The non-executive Directors, led by the senior independent Director, are usually responsible for performance evaluation of the Chair, taking into account the views of all other Directors. It may be appropriate to agree individual development plans as a result of these evaluations; these should not be published.

The Association should ensure that its Directors continually update their skills, knowledge and familiarity with the Association required to fulfil their role. It should provide them with the necessary resources in order to do so.

A toolkit is available to help Associations undertake such audits. Although such audits can be undertaken by way of self-assessment, it is important that they are conducted externally every 3 years (as a minimum) to ensure impartiality in the process (see Requirement 4.2).

DEVELOPMENT OF THE BOARD cont'd

Requirement 4.2

External evaluation of the Board shall be facilitated at least every three years or at the request of The Football Association.

External evaluation of the Board provides independent perspective on the performance of the Board. It should be facilitated at least every three years or at the request of The Football Association. If the external facilitator has any other connection with the Association, then this should be disclosed to The Football Association and, it is recommended, publicly in the annual governance statement. This is because if, for example, the facilitator also provides other services (e.g. recruitment services) to the Association, there can arise the perception of a lack of objectivity. The provision of other services is not in itself a bar to undertaking facilitation of a Board review, but the Board must consider any potential conflict of interest.

The Football Association has procured partners to help provide these services to County Football Associations, although the Association is not obligated to use the procured partners (provided they utilise a provider who is independent). The Football Association will endeavour to create processes that minimise costs to the Associations of such evaluations. Details of these procured partners are available from Mark Hardcastle, Senior Operations Delivery Manager.

Requirement 4.3

The Board shall agree and implement a plan to take forward any actions resulting from the evaluations.

Board evaluations are only worthwhile if the issues that are identified are addressed and followed up.

Following an evaluation, the Chair should act on its results by recognising the strengths and addressing the weaknesses of the Board. This could include, where appropriate, proposing new members be appointed to the Board or seeking the resignation of Directors.

Continuing development – governance expertise

Associations should consider undertaking activity which will build their governance understanding and knowledge. This is to ensure that there is continuous development by Associations as a whole of their governance activity. Relevant activity may include attendance by a Director or senior member of staff at a governance training event run by a recognised leader in the field (e.g. the Sport and Recreation Alliance, Sport England, UK Sport, the Institute of Directors, the Institute of Chartered Secretaries and Administrators, a law firm event, or a private sector conference provider etc.), or by a bespoke training event run for the Association perhaps in conjunction with other funded Associations in order to promote efficiency.

INTEGRITY

Requirement 4.4

Each Association shall adopt a mandatory Directors' code that, amongst other things, requires all Directors to act at all times, with integrity, in a forthright and ethical manner and in accordance with their Association's conflicts policy (see also Requirement 1.22\(b\)).

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 5: Example of Director and Council Member Code of Conduct

Requirement 4.5

The Directors' code, terms of reference and other policies of the Board and its committees shall be reviewed at least every three years to ensure compliance with current laws.

- See Appendix 1: Model County FA Articles of Association to Comply with Code of Governance
- See Appendix 5: Example of Director and Council Member Code of Conduct

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Requirement 4.6

The Chair shall proactively address and manage conflicts of interests amongst the Directors. No Director may participate in the discussion of, or vote in respect of, a matter in which they have a material conflict of interest.

Conflicts of interest can arise where there is a conflict between the interests of the Association and either the Director's personal interests or those of another body with which the Director is involved.

The Association may find it helpful to maintain a register of interests.

Acting in the best interests of the Association includes disclosing to the Board (and in the annual report) any other significant commitments that might impede a Director's ability to participate or make decisions without bias. This obligation is on-going, and conflicts must be reported if they arise subsequent to appointment.

REQUIREMENTS AND RESOURCES

LEGAL COMPLIANCE AND CONTROL

Requirement 5.1

The Board shall ensure that:

- (a) both individually and collectively it understands the key legal and regulatory obligations which affect the Board and the Association; and
- (b) the Association has appropriate policies and procedures in respect of these obligations.

In order to assist Directors in meeting these requirements, the Director's written statement of responsibilities (see Requirement 2.11) may include an outline of key legal and regulatory obligations, and the Directors' induction process (see Requirement 2.12) could supplement this by explaining what each obligation means. The obligation is however on-going, and Boards should consider how they can keep their understanding of these obligations up to date.

Directors are not required to have absolute knowledge of all applicable regulations that may apply to the Association. However, they must be sufficiently familiar with the applicable regulations to enable them to identify potential issues and, know the appropriate channels to elevate such issues for further investigation.

Associations are best placed to determine which legal and regulatory obligations are pertinent to them. This could include the following topics (which is not an exhaustive list):

- Company law;
- Charity law (if applicable);
- Health and safety;
- Data protection;
- Bribery and anti-corruption;
- Whistle-blowing legislation; and
- Safeguarding of vulnerable groups. (Note: the funding agreements of The Football Association contain specific obligations concerning safeguarding. These require appropriate policies and procedures to be put in place, and that Associations implement and adhere to the Safeguarding Operating Standard issued by The Football Association).

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 4: Companies Act 2006 Duties of a Director
- See Appendix 36: Director Appointment Letter – Template

FINANCIAL CONTROL

Requirement 5.2

Each Association shall exhibit honesty, integrity and competence in financial matters.

The Board takes responsibility for ensuring that it and the Association's staff have the relevant financial competence and qualifications to meet their obligations. More detailed guidance can be found in the Financial Management County FA Operating Guidance Manual (see link below).

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 10: County FA Finance Director Role Profile – Template
- Refer to the Financial Management County FA Operating Guidance Manual v1.4

Requirement 5.3

The Board shall adopt appropriate and proportionate finance policies and procedures. The Association shall take all reasonable steps to ensure that these policies and procedures, where appropriate, are communicated to, and understood and followed by, its Directors, staff and volunteers (where relevant). The Board must review and update them at least once every two years.

The financial policies and procedures of an Association are an important part of the overall control framework. Effective policies and procedures, that are understood by the Directors, staff and volunteers will help to ensure effective management of the Association's finances. The financial policies should be appropriate for the Association but would be reasonably expected to include policies covering:

- Controls on expenditure – who can spend what and with whose authority;
- Controls on travel and subsistence – when and what can be claimed for travel and subsistence;
- Exercising budgetary control – who can spend how much and on what, and what expenditure needs special permission;
- Banking – how income is banked, who can authorise direct debits and how bank accounts are reconciled;
- Procurement – how an Association ensures that effective competitive procurement processes are in place where appropriate; and
- Reserves – target levels and how these will be monitored.

A policy around reserves is an important element of the financial management and forward financial planning and a policy would usually establish the target level of reserves for an Association to hold. This level will vary from Association to Association, and the policy on reserves would set out why a certain level is appropriate for that Association and therefore why holding these reserves is necessary. The reserves policy is explained in the the Financial Management County FA Operating Guidance Manual (see link below).

Communication of the relevant policies to staff and volunteers will be important for ensuring that the policies are understood and followed. Associations may want to consider including relevant policies within their induction processes and making policies readily accessible via an intranet page or staff handbook.

FINANCIAL CONTROL cont'd

Requirement 5.4

Each Association must prepare annual accounts which:

- (a) comply with legal requirements and recognised accounting standards; and
- (b) give specific disclosure of income received from The Football Association and public investors and clearly account for the expenditure of such funding.

Most Associations will be required to follow the accounting standards set out under UK Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). Responsibility for the approval of the accounts rests with the Board and Directors should also ensure that the annual accounts are transparent and understandable to members, funders and the general public.

In addition to the requirements under UK GAAP, as a recipient of public funds, the annual accounts of each Association should provide visibility of the income received from The Football Association via a note, together with an analysis of expenditure against that income.

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 10: County FA Finance Director Role Profile – Template
- Refer to the Financial Management County FA Operating Guidance Manual v1.4

Requirement 5.5

The annual accounts must be audited and published on the Association's website.

As laid out in section 7 of the County FA funding agreement, the County FA must have its accounts independently audited annually. This can be undertaken by a 'reporting accountant', but in any case such accountant must be wholly independent of the Association. Accounts are to be published where it is easily accessible to members and the public, for instance on the Association's website.

Tools/Resources

- See Appendix 10: County FA Finance Director Role Profile – Template
- Refer to the Financial Management County FA Operating Guidance Manual v1.4

FINANCIAL STRATEGY

Requirement 5.6

The Board must actively plan and monitor the financial position and performance of the Association against an annually approved budget and at least three year financial forecast.

The Board should present a fair and transparent assessment of the Association's long term position and future prospects.

This includes establishing a strategic plan and making judgements about the longer term financial viability and direction of the Association. Typically the strategic plan and financial forecast would be for a minimum of 3 years and aligned to the National Game Strategy. The Board should have processes in place to monitor progress against that plan and the one year budget and how they will put in place remedial action if required.

Many Associations in the sporting sector have relied on public funding to contribute to their ongoing administration costs.

Boards should ensure that their strategy includes a balanced assessment of ways that they might realistically seek alternative sources of funding or could engage with other partners to deliver shared objectives. Examples would include engaging members, the public or private sector on sponsorship opportunities or commercialisation of sporting rights.

RISK MANAGEMENT AND INTERNAL CONTROL

Requirement 5.7

The Association shall maintain robust risk management and internal control systems.

The Board is responsible for determining the nature and extent of the principal risks that it is willing to take in achieving its strategic objectives.

The Board should ensure there are processes to:

- Consider and maintain a record of identified risks;
- Agree appropriate steps in order to mitigate their potential impact;
- Monitor and review the risk management systems; including detailed risk assessments ; and
- Focus on those risks which could threaten the Association's financial position, strategic objectives and future performance.

The Board should describe in their annual report the principal risks and how they are being managed and mitigated. Risks may include financial, operational, reputational, behavioural or external risks. Financial approval levels are an example of a financial risk. See Financial Operating Guidance Manual for further information.

If the Association only has one member that member shall be a quorum. - 33.1 A poll on a resolution may be demanded:
 - 33.1.1 In advance of the general meeting where it is to be put to the vote; or

- 34.2 The Association may require proxy notices to be delivered in a particular form and, subject to the Act, by a particular time and may specify different forms for different purposes.
- 34.3 Proxy notices may specify how the proxy appointed under them is to vote (or that the proxy is to abstain from voting) on one or more resolutions.
- 34.4 Unless a proxy notice indicates otherwise, it must be treated as:
 - 34.4.1 Allowing the person appointed under it as a proxy discretion as to how to vote on any ancillary or procedural resolutions put to the meeting; and
 - 34.4.2 Appointing that person as a proxy in relation to any adjournment of the general meeting to which it relates as well as the meeting itself.

35. Delivery of Proxy Notices

- 35.1 A person who is entitled to attend, speak or vote (either on a show of hands or on a poll) at a general meeting remains so entitled in respect of that meeting or any adjournment of it, even though a valid proxy notice has been delivered to the Association by or on behalf of that person.

 - 36.1.2 The proposed amendment does not, in the reasonable opinion of the chairman of the meeting, materially alter the scope of the resolution.
- 36.2 A special resolution to be proposed at a general meeting may be amended by ordinary resolution if:
 - 36.2.1 The chairman of the meeting proposes the amendment at the general meeting at which the resolution is to be proposed; and
 - 36.2.2 The amendment does not go beyond what is necessary to correct a grammatical or other non-substantive error in the resolution.
- 36.3 If the chairman of the meeting, acting in good faith, wrongly decides that an amendment to a resolution is out of order, the chairman's error does not invalidate the vote on that resolution.

37. Resolutions in Writing

- 37.1 A resolution executed by such number of members as would have been required to vote for the resolution had it been proposed in general meeting at which all of the members were present and voting shall be as valid and effectual as if it had been passed at a general meeting duly convened and held.
- 37.2 For the purposes of this Article 37:

County FA Code of Governance Articles of Association – Guidance Notes

Introduction

Articles of Association are a key constitutional document of a company, setting out its basic management and administrative structure. They regulate the internal affairs of the company including, for example, powers and duties of directors, and meeting and voting requirements.

County FAs are now subject to The FA's Code of Good Governance ("Code"), which draws on the Tier 3 Principles of Sport England's Code on Sports Governance. To assist you in meeting the Five Principles of Good Governance under the Code, we have prepared a template set of Articles for you to adapt to fit the particular needs of your County FA ("Association").

This guidance note is intended to assist you with reviewing and adapting the Articles, and ultimately to adopt a new set of Articles to meet the requirements of the Code. It should be read alongside the Code, noting in particular that the Code includes cross-references to the relevant provisions of the Articles which address a particular Requirement of the Code. It is recommended that you take legal advice on the completion and adoption of these template Articles. In particular, it is likely that Associations will have their own Council provisions, which will need to be incorporated into the Articles. This is considered further in the guidance notes below.

Administrative requirements

Once the Articles have been adapted to meet the requirements of your Association, they can be adopted by special resolution of the members (section 21, Companies Act 2006). The special resolution and the new articles will need to be filed at Companies House.

A memorandum of association is required for a company limited by guarantee, but there is no need to restate the memorandum of association when adopting new articles. If the Associations were incorporated under the Companies Act 1985, the existing memorandum is automatically deemed to form part of the articles. If the current objects of an Association (as set out in the existing memorandum) are altered or deleted through the adoption of the new articles, a Form CC04 will need to be filed at Companies House.

The articles of some County FAs require that The FA approve any proposed changes to the articles. If this is the case, please send them to The FA Company Secretary. If the articles do not include this requirement, please notify The FA of the changes you are proposing to make.

Example of Authority Scheme of Delegation

1. Introduction

The Delegated Authorities (or schedule of delegations) is a key control document for The Company and compliance with it at all times is mandatory. The schedule sets out who can:

- (i) Enter the Company into a spending commitment;
- (ii) Authorise payments.

Failure to comply with any of the requirements of the Delegated Authorities policy could be classified as gross misconduct and could lead to dismissal.

2. Policy Statement

Delegated authorities have been established on the basis that the primary control point is when placing the order or awarding the grant, and not the payment process.

A Delegated authority is required for the following activities:

- To enter the Company into a spending commitment on grants, goods and services, on gifts and hospitality;
- The approval of payments of authorised expenditure on grants, goods and services, travel and subsistence and on gifts and hospitality;
- The approval of purchase ledger payments;
- The physical signing of cheques;
- The electronic authorisation required to transfer funds to a third party.

3. Qualification/Exemptions

These arrangements apply to:

- All Company employees including those seconded from other Companies
- All staff placed through agencies e.g. interims, contractors, temporary staff
- The Company Board
- The Sub Committees of the Company Board
- The Council of the Company
- The Independent members of The Company's Committees and Advisory Groups

4. Implementation Responsibilities

Staff should ensure that they are aware of their delegated authority in the course of entering the Company into a spending commitment or when authorising payments. Staff members acting in a higher position are not automatically delegated authority.

All staff who have a delegated authority will receive a formal letter outlining their limits. The staff member will be requested to sign and return their acceptance of this authority, and will need to provide a specimen signature for The Company's records to Finance.

In considering any decision to enter into a spending commitment or approve payments, full compliance with The Company's Conflict of Interest policy is mandatory.

Companies Act 2006 – Duties of a Director

The following text is a verbatim lift of the relevant numbered clause in the Companies Act 2006.

170. Scope and nature of general duties

1. The general duties specified in sections 171 to 177 are owed by a Director of a company to the company.
2. A person who ceases to be a Director continues to be subject:
 - (a) To the duty in section 175 (duty to avoid conflicts of interest) as regards the exploitation of any property, information or opportunity of which he became aware at a time when he was a Director; and
 - (b) To the duty in section 176 (duty not to accept benefits from third parties) as regards things done or omitted by him before he ceased to be a Director.

To that extent those duties apply to a former Director as to a Director, subject to any necessary adaptations.

3. The general duties are based on certain common law rules and equitable Principles as they apply in relation to Directors and have effect in place of those rules and Principles as regards the duties owed to a company by a Director.
4. The general duties shall be interpreted and applied in the same way as common law rules or equitable Principles, and regard shall be had to the corresponding common law rules and equitable Principles in interpreting and applying the general duties.
5. The general duties apply to a shadow Director of a company where and to the extent that they are capable of so applying.

171. Duty to act within powers

A Director of a company must:

- (a) Act in accordance with the company's constitution, and
- (b) Only exercise powers for the purposes for which they are conferred.

172. Duty to promote the success of the company

1. A Director of a company must act in the way he considers, in good faith, would be most likely to promote the success of the company for the benefit of its members as a whole, and in doing so have regard (amongst other matters) to:
 - (a) The likely consequences of any decision in the long term,
 - (b) The interests of the company's employees,
 - (c) The need to foster the company's business relationships with suppliers, customers and others,
 - (d) The impact of the company's operations on the community and the environment,
 - (e) The desirability of the company maintaining a reputation for high standards of business conduct, and
 - (f) The need to act fairly as between members of the company.
2. Where or to the extent that the purposes of the company consist of or include purposes other than the benefit of its members, subsection (1) has effect as if the reference to promoting the success of the company for the benefit of its members were to achieving those purposes.
3. The duty imposed by this section has effect subject to any enactment or rule of law requiring Directors, in certain circumstances, to consider or act in the interests of creditors of the company.

173. Duty to exercise independent judgment

1. A Director of a company must exercise independent judgment.
2. This duty is not infringed by his acting:
 - (a) In accordance with an agreement duly entered into by the company that restricts the future exercise of discretion by its Directors, or
 - (b) In a way authorised by the company's constitution.

174. Duty to exercise reasonable care, skill and diligence

1. A Director of a company must exercise reasonable care, skill and diligence.
2. This means the care, skill and diligence that would be exercised by a reasonably diligent person with:
 - (a) The general knowledge, skill and experience that may reasonably be expected of a person carrying out the functions carried out by the Director in relation to the company, and
 - (b) The general knowledge, skill and experience that the Director has.

175. Duty to avoid conflicts of interest

1. A Director of a company must avoid a situation in which he has, or can have, a direct or indirect interest that conflicts, or possibly may conflict, with the interests of the company.
2. This applies in particular to the exploitation of any property, information or opportunity (and it is immaterial whether the company could take advantage of the property, information or opportunity).
3. This duty does not apply to a conflict of interest arising in relation to a transaction or arrangement with the company.
4. This duty is not infringed:
 - (a) If the situation cannot reasonably be regarded as likely to give rise to a conflict of interest; or
 - (b) If the matter has been authorised by the Directors.

5. Authorisation may be given by the Directors:
 - (a) Where the company is a private company and nothing in the company's constitution invalidates such authorisation, by the matter being proposed to and authorised by the Directors; or
 - (b) Where the company is a public company and its constitution includes provision enabling the Directors to authorise the matter, by the matter being proposed to and authorised by them in accordance with the constitution.
6. The authorisation is effective only if:
 - (a) Any requirement as to the quorum at the meeting at which the matter is considered is met without counting the Director in question or any other interested Director, and
 - (b) The matter was agreed to without their voting or would have been agreed to if their votes had not been counted.
7. Any reference in this section to a conflict of interest includes a conflict of interest and duty and a conflict of duties.

176. Duty not to accept benefits from third parties

1. A Director of a company must not accept a benefit from a third party conferred by reason of:
 - (a) His being a Director, or
 - (b) His doing (or not doing) anything as Director.
2. A "third party" means a person other than the company, an associated body corporate or a person acting on behalf of the company or an associated body corporate.
3. Benefits received by a Director from a person by whom his services (as a Director or otherwise) are provided to the company are not regarded as conferred by a third party.
4. This duty is not infringed if the acceptance of the benefit cannot reasonably be regarded as likely to give rise to a conflict of interest.
5. Any reference in this section to a conflict of interest includes a conflict of interest and duty and a conflict of duties.

177. Duty to declare interest in proposed transaction or arrangement

1. If a Director of a company is in any way, directly or indirectly, interested in a proposed transaction or arrangement with the company, he must declare the nature and extent of that interest to the other Directors.
2. The declaration may (but need not) be made:
 - (a) At a meeting of the Directors, or
 - (b) By notice to the Directors in accordance with:
 - (i) Section 184 (notice in writing), or
 - (ii) Section 185 (general notice).
3. If a declaration of interest under this section proves to be, or becomes, inaccurate or incomplete, a further declaration must be made.
4. Any declaration required by this section must be made before the company enters into the transaction or arrangement.
5. This section does not require a declaration of an interest of which the Director is not aware or where the Director is not aware of the transaction or arrangement in question.

For this purpose a Director is treated as being aware of matters of which he ought reasonably to be aware.

6. A Director need not declare an interest:
 - (a) If it cannot reasonably be regarded as likely to give rise to a conflict of interest;
 - (b) If, or to the extent that, the other Directors are already aware of it (and for this purpose the other Directors are treated as aware of anything of which they ought reasonably to be aware); or
 - (c) If, or to the extent that, it concerns terms of his service contract that have been or are to be considered:
 - (i) By a meeting of the Directors, or
 - (ii) By a committee of the Directors appointed for the purpose under the company's constitution.

Example of Director and Council Member Code of Conduct

1. Scope

- 1.1 This Code of Conduct ("Code") applies:
 - (i) To all Directors appointed to the Board of the Association;
 - (ii) All Members of The Council of the Association ("Council") as defined within the Association's Articles of Association ("Articles");
 - (iii) All individuals appointed to any committee or sub-committee of the Council or of a Board of the Association; and
 - (iv) Where so stated, to past Directors of the Association or past members of any committee or sub-committee of either a Board or Council.
- 1.2 The Code applies whenever a Director, Council Member or Committee Member is
 - (i) conducting the business of the Association;
 - (ii) conducting the business of the office to which they have been elected or appointed; and
 - (iii) when they are acting as a representative or ambassador of the Association.
- 1.3 This Code is supplemental to and should be read in conjunction with: (i) the Articles; (ii) the Standing Orders for the Conduct of Business at Meetings of Council of the Association and Committees of a Board or Council ("Standing Orders"); and (iii) the terms of reference of any committee and/or sub-committee.

2. Accountability

You are accountable to the Association and must exercise your powers in accordance with your legal duties (where applicable) in good faith and for the benefit of the Association, its members, employees and the wider football family. You will be held accountable for your actions and your part in reaching decisions, and must submit yourself to whatever scrutiny is thought to be appropriate to your role.

3. Confidentiality

- 3.1 You must ensure that you handle confidential information in accordance with the law and with regard to the best interests and reputation of the Association.
- 3.2 You must not use confidential information for private purposes or to harm the Association or to maliciously damage the reputation of others, or disclose confidential information to the media or any other third party without the prior authority of the Chair or the Chief Executive Officer (or a nominee of either the Chair or Chief Executive Officer). This obligation continues indefinitely after you cease to hold any position referred to in paragraph 1.1 above.
- 3.3 Confidential information is any information which comes into your possession as a result of your Association role, which you know or ought reasonably to know is confidential including, without limitation, the personal data of individuals who are subject to regulatory proceedings.

4. Press and Media

- 4.1 You are not entitled to discuss or disclose any Association business with or to the press or wider media, unless:
 - (i) It is explicitly part of your remit; or
 - (ii) You are specifically authorised by the Association to do so.
- 4.2 If you receive any enquiries from the press or wider media about the Association you agree not to comment on behalf of the Association and to pass on the relevant information as soon as reasonably practicable to the Chief Executive Officer or Chair of the Association. If you are representing the views of another body as opposed to the Association on a matter affecting the Association, this must be made clear to the media and you should inform the Chief Executive Officer or Chair of such media engagement. It is acknowledged that your position within the Association may be referred to by the media notwithstanding that you are not commenting on behalf of the Association.

5. Conflicts of interest

- 5.1 You agree to abide by the law, the articles of association of the Association, Standing Orders and relevant committee terms of reference relating to conflicts of interest. You must declare all conflicts of interest in advance and, if required, preclude yourself from participation where a material conflict of interest exists.
- 5.2 You must notify any actual or perceived conflicts of interest to the Chief Executive Officer of the Association through the annual declaration process and on an interim basis, as soon as reasonably practicable after becoming aware of the actual or perceived conflict, if your circumstances change.

6. Decision-making

- 6.1 Whilst you may properly be influenced by the views of others, including the body that has the right to appoint you to the Association, it is your responsibility to decide objectively, independently and in good faith what view to take, and how to vote.
- 6.2 Directors must act in the best interests of the Association in a manner consistent with their legal duties. In particular, a Director must exercise their duties in a way that they consider, in good faith, would be most likely to promote the success of the Association for the benefit of its members as a whole having regard (among other matters) to:
 - (i) The likely consequences of the decision in the long term;
 - (ii) The interests of employees;
 - (iii) The need to foster business relationships with suppliers, customers and others;
 - (iv) The impact of operations on the community and the environment;
 - (v) The desirability of maintaining a reputation for high standards of business conduct; and

- (vi) The need to act fairly as between the relevant members of the Association.

- 6.3 You must not act outside the constitutional framework of the Association.
- 6.4 You should support the Principle of collective decision-making, accept a decision passed by the relevant threshold and support that decision. It is acknowledged that you may wish to convey your dissenting view to a decision to your relevant stakeholders through appropriate communication channels (including for example but without limitation at a Council Meeting) where such decisions may be the subject of further scrutiny or discussion. Such communications shall not be a breach of the Code provided they conform with your duties in relation to Confidentiality (paragraph 3) and Press and Media (paragraph 4). It is recognised that if the decision is not in accord with the views of the body you represent, you may publicly represent the views of that body on that issue.

7. Diligence

You must exercise reasonable skill, care and diligence in carrying out your duties, especially (but not limited to) preparing for and attending Board, Council, committee and sub-committee and other meetings.

8. Allowances and Expenses

You agree to abide by the Association's Expenses Policy as amended from time to time and must ensure that your claims are reasonable, accurate and honest and supported by appropriate documentation and that you do not use the Association's resources for your own, your family or friends' gain.

9. Gifts and Hospitality

Appendix 5.1

1. Procedure in the event of an alleged breach

In the event that an individual alleged to be in breach of the Code is an employee of the County FA (including the CEO) the relevant disciplinary processes as set out in the employee's contract and the Association's Disciplinary Policy shall be followed in the first instance.

In the event that an individual alleged to be in breach of the Code is a Participant (pursuant to the Rules as amended from time to time), the relevant disciplinary processes as set out in the Rules shall be followed in the first instance.

Nothing shall prevent any action being taken pursuant to the Code of Conduct or these procedures following the instigation of an employment or Rules related disciplinary process.

Where there are reasonable grounds to suspect that an individual has breached the Code, all relevant evidence shall be passed to the Chief Executive Officer ("CEO") of the County FA. Where the allegation is against the CEO, the relevant evidence should be passed to the Chair or a Board Director designated by the Chair ("designated person"). The CEO (or designated person) shall then as soon as reasonably practicable commence a four-part process:

- 1.1 Decision on whether there should be an Interim Suspension or other appropriate interim action;
- 1.2 Investigation and Recommendation;
- 1.3 Decision and Sanction; and
- 1.4 Appeal Process.

Each part of the process is more particularly described in paragraphs 1.1 to 1.4 below. Where considered appropriate, the Chair and a Vice-Chair or other Board Director of the County FA may jointly agree to vary the process set out in paragraphs 1.1 to 1.3, and the Chair may vary the Appeal Process set out in paragraph 5 (except where the Chair or the relevant Vice-Chair of the County FA is the subject of an ongoing disciplinary process). A variation to the process may include, but shall not be limited to, a person other than the CEO/ designated person, or together with the CEO/ designated person, leading the process as described below.

All parties involved in an investigation and related proceedings shall act in a spirit of cooperation to ensure that proceedings are conducted expeditiously, fairly and appropriately.

1.1 Decision on whether there should be an Interim Suspension or other appropriate interim action

Where there are reasonable grounds to suspect that an individual has breached the Code, the CEO/designated person shall have the power to order that the individual be suspended on an interim basis from his/her duties or that other appropriate interim action be taken pending an investigation. Any such power shall only be exercised in consultation with the Chair (or in the event that the Chair is the subject of the disciplinary process a suitable alternative that is agreed by the Vice-Chair of the County FA). A non-exhaustive list of factors to be considered when reaching this decision include:

- (a) The strength of the evidence available;
- (b) The seriousness of the alleged breach;
- (c) Whether there are any relevant safety or welfare concerns to be considered; and
- (d) Whether the individual is to fulfil any duties on Association business prior to a final decision being reached.

1.2 Investigation and Recommendation

- 1.2.1 The CEO/designated person shall carry out an investigation into all alleged breaches of the Code, which shall include (where practicable) giving the individual an opportunity to answer any allegations made. The CEO/designated person shall be entitled to request any reasonable support in conducting the investigation including for example but without limitation the appointment of a third party to assist in the investigation. The CEO/designated person or the alternative competent investigator assisting the CEO/ designated person in the investigation will interview the individual and any witnesses to produce statements, which will be used in the formation of the recommendation. At the end of any investigation, the CEO/ designated person shall consult with the Chair (or if the Chair is the subject of the disciplinary process a suitable alternative that is agreed by the Board of the County FA (as appropriate) and then provide a written report (the “Report”) to the individual which shall include the following:

- (a) Details of which section(s) of the Code are alleged to have been breached;
- (b) Details of relevant evidence to support the allegation(s); and
- (c) The CEO/designated person’s conclusion on whether there is sufficient evidence for the matter to proceed.

- 1.2.2 Upon receipt of the Report from the CEO/designated person, the individual shall be granted a reasonable opportunity to provide any further written submissions that he/she may wish to put forward prior to a final decision being reached by the “Deciding Panel” (see 1.3 below).

1.3 Decision and Sanction

- 1.3.1 The Chair (or if the Chair is the subject of the disciplinary process a suitable alternative that is agreed by the Vice-Chair of the County FA) shall constitute a “Deciding Panel” which shall comprise of at least two members and may include the Chair, the Vice-Chair of the Association, the Senior Independent Director or other persons (including persons independent from the Association). No person shall participate in the Deciding Panel where they have a conflict of interest.
- 1.3.2 Bearing in mind the nature of the matter before them, the Deciding Panel may appoint any third party, such as an expert in one of the protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010, to provide them with guidance on any matter involving the alleged breach including for example but without limitation:
- (i) Whether a breach may have occurred;
 - (ii) The severity of the breach; and/or
 - (iii) If relevant, an appropriate sanction.

- 1.3.3 The individual against whom the allegations are made shall have the opportunity to appear before the Deciding Panel if so requested by the individual. The Deciding Panel may also request that the individual appear before it if the Deciding Panel consider this to be necessary and appropriate. The individual may choose to be accompanied by a representative. If the individual chooses to have formal legal representation, this shall not be at the County FA’s cost.

- 1.3.4 The Deciding Panel may speak directly with a complainant or witness or other persons as it may choose.

- 1.3.5 The Deciding Panel shall collectively decide, after considering the Report provided by the CEO/designated person, together with any written or oral submissions by the individual, complainant and any witnesses as well as the views of any third party whose guidance is sought, whether there has been a proven breach of the Code, and on any appropriate sanction.

- 1.3.6 The Deciding Panel shall consider the admissibility of anonymous evidence on a case by case basis in the context of the fairness of the proceedings as a whole and on the assumption that such anonymous evidence shall only be admissible in exceptional circumstances. In doing so, the Deciding Panel shall consider the significance of such evidence (for example, if the evidence is new or is available from other sources) and the reason(s) for the witness wishing to provide the evidence anonymously.

- 1.3.7 In reaching a decision the Deciding Panel shall apply the civil standard of proof being “the balance of probabilities”.

- 1.3.8 The following non-exhaustive list of matters may be taken into account when considering the appropriate sanction:

- (a) The severity of the breach of the Code;
- (b) The manner in which the individual has acted following the alleged breach, including, for example, the manner in which the individual has co-operated with the investigation;

- (c) Any other mitigating factors; and
 - (d) Whether the individual can continue to represent the County FA, including fulfilling his/her duties on the Board of the County FA, or Council or on any County FA Committee(s) with integrity and credibility.
- 1.3.9 Available sanctions may include, but are not limited to, any one or more of: a warning, censure, suspension of any nature and duration, or removal from office. The factors that the Deciding Panel shall consider when determining the appropriate sanction are set out in paragraph 1.3.8 above.
- 1.3.10 The individual shall be notified of the decision in writing with reasons.

1.4 Appeal Process

- 1.4.1 The individual may appeal against any finding that he/she has breached the Code, and/or against any sanction imposed following such a finding.
- 1.4.2 The notice of an appeal must be lodged with the Chair within 14 days of notification of the decision appealed against.
- 1.4.3 The notice of appeal must:
- (a) Identify the specific decision(s) being appealed;
 - (b) Set out the grounds of appeal;
 - (c) Set out a statement of all of the facts and submissions upon which the appeal is based; and
 - (d) Confirm whether the individual requests an oral hearing.
- 1.4.4 The available grounds of appeal shall be only that:
- (a) The Deciding Panel misinterpreted or failed to comply with the Code or any rules or regulations relevant to its decision;
 - (b) New evidence has come to light that was not available at the time of the original hearing;
 - (c) The Deciding Panel came to a decision to which no reasonable such body could have arrived at; and/or

- (d) The Deciding Panel issued a sanction which is excessive.
- 1.4.5 The appeal shall be considered and finally determined by the Chair unless
- (i) The Chair has been a member of the Deciding Panel in which case the appeal shall be considered by a nominee of the Chair; or
 - (ii) The appellant specifically requests that the appeal is determined by an Appeals Panel, in which case the Chair shall constitute such an Appeals Panel and the provisions of paragraphs 1.3.1 and 1.3.2 of this procedure shall apply.

In the event that an oral hearing is requested:

- (a) The Chair shall have the right to appoint other persons to act as his/her advisers during the hearing. Such persons shall not, however, vote on the final decision which shall be the Chair's.
- (b) The Chair may adopt such procedures as he/she considers appropriate and expedient for the just determination of any appeal, and shall not be bound by any enactment or rule of law relating to the admissibility of evidence in proceedings before a court of law.
- (c) The individual appearing before the Chair may be accompanied by a representative (as per paragraph 1.3.3 above). Any such representative shall not be permitted to give evidence as a witness. The Chair may, in his/her discretion, appoint any person (who shall not be a professional legal adviser) ("the Respondent") to present the case against the individual. The Chair may also proceed in the absence of any party, unless he/she is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for the failure of the party to attend, and shall do so in such manner as he/she considers appropriate.

- 1.4.6 Following consideration of the submissions of the parties (whether at an oral hearing or in writing), together with all documentary evidence presented, the Chair may:
- (a) Allow or dismiss the appeal;
 - (b) Remit the matter to be considered again by the Deciding Panel;
 - (c) Exercise any power which the Deciding Panel could have exercised; or
 - (d) Make any further or other order considered appropriate, either generally, or for the purpose of giving effect to his/her decision.
- 1.4.7 In the event that the Chair is the subject of the disciplinary procedures, one of the Vice-Chair of the County FA shall be responsible for the application of the relevant procedures set out in 1.4 and the notice of appeal shall be lodged with the CEO.

2. Confidentiality/Publication of proceedings

- 2.1 Subject to paragraph 4.2 below, the investigation and any related proceedings shall be confidential between the County FA and the individual concerned.

- (i) The outcome of any investigation and related proceedings;
 - (ii) The details of any decision; and

Subject to their duty of confidentiality as set out in the Code, the individual may choose to make a public statement following the published outcome of the disciplinary process.

3. Arbitration

- 3.1 Subject to paragraph 3.2 below, any dispute or difference arising out of the Code of Conduct or these procedures shall be referred to The Football Association.
- 3.2 Where there has been an alleged breach of the Code the individual that is alleged to have committed the breach may not commence an arbitration until such time as the process set out in paragraphs 1.1 to 1.4 above has been concluded.

County FA Governance Nomination and Appointment Committee – Terms of Reference

1. Code Requirement

Point 1.24 of the Governance Code requires that the Board shall maintain a Nomination Committee either on a permanent or ad hoc basis unless the circumstances of the organisation are such that it is appropriate for the Board to act as the Nomination Committee.

2. Purpose

The Nomination and Appointment Committee has the responsibility for leading the process of recruitment for Board and senior executive appointments. However, the Board retains the authority to make the final decision.

In respect of Board appointments, it is the responsibility of the Nomination and Appointment Committee to evaluate the Board's current capability against the agreed skills matrix, and, considering this evaluation, agree a description of the role and capabilities required for an appointment. See also Requirement 1.11 (skills matrix).

3. Remit

The Nomination and Appointment Committee will:

- Consider nominations for the role of elected Directors of the Association against agreed criteria and to ensure that the candidates have the skills, knowledge and experience to adequately perform the role.
- Oversee the process for engaging appointed Directors, including:
 - Ensuring that role descriptions and person specifications are drafted and approved.
 - Ensuring that the post is advertised widely in a manner that will attract a diverse range of candidates.
 - Considering all applications against the agreed criteria and conducting interviews where appropriate.
 - Making recommendations to the Board of Directors.

- Oversee the process for appointing members of Standing Committees of the Association, including:
 - Ensuring that posts are advertised widely in a manner that will attract a diverse range of candidates.
 - Considering all applications against the agreed criteria and conducting interviews where appropriate.
 - Making recommendations to the Board of Directors.

4. Membership

Most of the members of the Nomination and Appointment Committee shall be Independent Non-executive Directors and it shall be chaired by the Chair (except when it is dealing with the appointment of a successor to the Chair, when it shall be chaired by an Independent non-executive Director). In many cases the Nomination Committee will have three members and be set up on an ad hoc basis. If the Board does not have a Nomination and Appointment Committee, the Board itself will be responsible for recruitment to the Board.

5. Role of the Nomination and Appointment Committee in recruiting Appointed Directors

It will usually be the responsibility of the Nomination and Appointment Committee to draw up the shortlist of candidates from the applications received with support of the CEO.

In establishing an interview panel, the Nomination and Appointment Committee may invite additional individuals to join who have specific expertise such as The FA Senior Regional Manager.

After the interview process, the Nomination and Appointment Committee reviews the assessment of the candidates and makes recommendations to the Board of the preferred candidate. If possible, the Nomination and Appointment Committee should reach a unanimous verdict.

If multiple candidates are deemed appointable, the Nomination and Appointment Committee may draw attention to this point.

The Board should be provided with enough information on the candidates who were interviewed in order that they can reasonably come to a decision. It is assumed that the Board will accept the recommendations of the Nominations and Appointment Committee in nearly all cases. However, the Board has the ultimate authority to appoint.

6. When the Board acts as Nomination and Appointment Committee

For those County FAs which do not have a Nomination and Appointment Committee, the Board itself will be responsible for recruitment to the Board. It should be the aim of the Board to reach a consensus view on the preferred candidate. If that is not possible, the Chair or Senior Independent Director when recruiting a new Chair, should be responsible for the final decision.

It is important when the Board acts as the Nomination Committee, it is particularly mindful of any conflicts of interest that may arise.

7. Recruiting without discrimination

It is a legal requirement not to discriminate against role applicants at any stage of the process because of protected characteristics as specified in the Equality Act. Stages include:

- Advertising the role
- Longlisting
- Shortlisting for interview
- Interviewing
- Making an offer

The Board should have an overview of diversity among the Board and across the County FA as a whole. Where it reasonably thinks that a protected group is under-represented or faces disadvantage it can set aspirational targets to improve diversity and inclusion in the County FA.

Any targets set must be realistic and must avoid unlawful discrimination.

8. Advertising for Appointed Directors

To attract the most skilled and diverse range of candidates possible, positions for appointed Directors should be advertised widely. Advertising should be tailored to the target audience both in the content of the advert and where it is placed. Evidence suggests that the wording of role descriptions impacts on the diversity of applicants (beyond simply ensuring that the application does not actively discriminate).

It is recommended that the application period is left open for approximately 4 weeks.

9. Invitations to Interview

Applicants who are to be invited to an interview should receive at least one week's notice and be sent the following information:

- Time and place of interview
- Names and positions of interviewers
- Details of the selection process
- Requirement to bring identity documents

Candidates should be asked about access needs before the interview and relevant needs should be met.

10. Interview questions

The Nomination and Appointment Committee should convene in advance of the interviews to decide on the questions to be asked and to agree an objective means of candidate assessment such as a scoring system.

Candidates should be asked for specific examples to demonstrate the competencies being sought.

11. Interview Panel composition

The Nomination and Appointment Committee may choose to appoint additional members to the interview panel, should it be deemed necessary.

Typical interview panel composition would be:

- Chair
- CEO
- Expert – preferably externally verified
- Independent adviser (e.g. HR, Regional Manager)
- One other Board Member

It is recommended that the interview panel should be of mixed gender.

The interview panel should arrange to meet for an initial discussion before the first interview and then should speak again directly or soon after the final interview.

12. Decision-making

- The decisions of the Nomination and Appointment Committee shall be communicated in writing, which includes emails.
- The Nomination and Appointment Committee is empowered to refuse the nomination of any person who objectively fails to meet the criteria.

13. Disclosure and Barring Service Check

A DBS Check is likely to be needed for some (if not all) Board roles. Consult with the Senior Safeguarding Lead for advice.

14. Informing unsuccessful candidates

Candidates who take part in an interview but are unsuccessful should be informed by phone and some feedback should be provided.

Candidates rejected before interview should be informed by email at the earliest opportunity.

15. Appointment letter for new Directors

Any verbal offers should only be made on a conditional basis.

The successful candidate should be sent a written offer detailing the terms and conditions of appointment. While there is not a contract of employment between the County FA and any non-executive Director, all Directors will have legal duties under the Companies Act.

Appointments should be conditional upon:

- Satisfactory DBS Check, if needed;
- Completion of Declaration of Good Character (see Appendix 40 for a Template).

16. Co-opting a Director

A co-opted Director is a Director who is temporarily appointed by the Board outside of the customary appointment process. This period would not normally be longer than a year. The reasons for co-opting a Director should be documented. During the period of co-option, the Nomination and Appointment Committee should implement plans to address the reason for the original co-option (e.g. recruitment to fill a skills gap).

17. Review

The Board will review the terms of reference and processes of the Nomination and Appointment Committee on an annual basis.

The roles of the chairman, chief executive and senior independent director under the Combined Code

Introduction

Corporate governance in the UK is regulated not by legislation but by the Combined Code, which is annexed to the UK Listing Rules and requires companies to either comply or explain why they are choosing a different course. This means that companies are entitled to have procedures that suit their business, rather than follow a prescribed legal structure, as long as they can give an adequate explanation in their annual report for not following the Code.

Some of the proposed changes to the Combined Code resulting from the Higgs review¹ which gave the most cause for debate related to what was seen as a weakening of the role of the chairman. Many of these issues were resolved before the final version of the Code was produced in July 2003. This note looks to identify the respective roles of the chairman, the chief executive and the senior independent (non-executive) director.

1 The role and effectiveness of the non-executive director, by Derek Higgs published January 2003

The roles of the chairman, chief executive and senior independent director under the Combined Code

The chairman

The Higgs review sees the chairman playing a pivotal role in the company, and creating the conditions for overall board and individual non-executive director effectiveness. The Combined Code clearly differentiates between the running of the company's business and the running of the board. The Code states that the chairman is responsible for:

- Leadership of the board, ensuring its effectiveness on all aspects of its role and setting its agenda;
- Ensuring that the directors receive accurate, timely and clear information;
- Ensuring effective communication with shareholders;
- Facilitating the effective contribution of non-executive directors and ensuring constructive relations between executive and non-executive directors, and
- Acting on the results of board performance evaluation by recognising the strengths and addressing the weaknesses of the board and, where appropriate, proposing new members be appointed to the board or seeking the resignation of directors.¹

To ensure that this happens the Combined Code now requires that the roles of the chairman and chief executive be separated,² in addition the board needs to agree a high level statement of which decisions are to be taken by the board and those that are delegated to management.³ Appendix 1 to this guidance note details a suitable outline statement for the board to adopt.

The Combined Code now suggests that a chief executive should not go on to become chairman of the same company.⁵ This is because the detailed knowledge of the general running of the company will impede the handover of management responsibility to another individual. This may cause confusion among other executives and result in unwanted tensions between the chairman and chief executive. It may also impact on the chairman's ability to keep the non-executive directors informed, as they may take for granted that the non-executives have the same level of inside knowledge as they do.

This does not mean that there may not be circumstances when, for a short period of time, the chief executive may be the best candidate to act as chairman. For example this may be during a period of intense company reorganisation, where the board has promoted a new chief executive from within. The outgoing chief executive could provide valuable support to the new appointee, for a short period, before a new chairman is found. This would be a clear example of the need to explain the company's non-compliance with the Code provision. In this case the chairman could not be considered independent on appointment,⁴ which would need to be disclosed in the annual report.

The chairman, under the Code, is responsible for ensuring the efficient use of the board's time and that the agenda is forward looking, concentrating on strategy, rather than approving issues which should have been delegated to management. They must allow sufficient time to discuss complex or contentious issues and if necessary arrange for preboard preparation. This should avoid non-executive directors being faced with unrealistic deadlines for decision-making.

The company secretary has a clear role to play in supporting the chairman in the design of the agenda and ensuring that the non-executive directors are comfortable with the amount of information that they receive. The Combined Code states "The company secretary should be responsible for advising the board, through the chairman, on all governance matters."⁵

The chief executive

The revised Combined Code does not specify a corporate governance role for the chief executive, but notes that the board should have a clear division of responsibilities and the posts of chairman and chief executive should not be combined in one individual.

To facilitate the division of the responsibility of running the board and running the company the Combined Code recommends that a clear division of responsibilities is set out in writing and agreed by the board.⁶ It is, however, recognised that there should be a strong executive representation on the board, so that power and information are not concentrated in one or two individuals.⁷

The senior independent director “SID”

The Higgs review builds on the view expressed in Hampel⁸ and codified in the Combined Code that a senior non-executive director should be identified in the annual report. The SID should be available to shareholders, if they have a concern that contact through the normal channels of chairman, chief executive and finance director has failed to resolve or where such contact is inappropriate.⁹ To be in a position to undertake this role, the SID should attend “sufficient meetings with a range of major shareholders to listen to their views in order to help develop a balanced understanding of their issues and concerns. The chairman should ensure that the views of shareholders are communicated to the board as a whole”.¹⁰ It must be emphasised that these are meetings that management would have as part of their normal investor relations programme, they are not special events or one to one meetings with the institution and SID, unless the shareholder has raised a concern with the SID that has not been dealt with in the normal manner.

Under the revised Code the SID should also lead a meeting of the non-executive directors at least once a year, without the chairman present, to appraise the chairman’s performance and on such other occasions as are deemed appropriate.¹¹

The purpose of this guidance note is not to be prescriptive but to provide a starting point to help ensure that all the issues are addressed. As with most aspects of corporate governance one size does not fit all and the detailed division of responsibilities will vary from one company to another according to each company’s specific circumstances and the nature of the individuals involved. Examples of such differences may be the reporting lines of some individuals or whether charitable donations are considered separately or as part of the corporate social responsibility policy.

Appendices 2 & 3 provide separate specimen descriptions of the roles of the chairman and chief executive respectively while appendix 4 provides an example of an alternative approach that some companies may prefer. Appendix 5 provides a brief suggested description of the role of the senior independent director.

- Ensuring that there is appropriate delegation of authority from the board to executive management.
- Ensuring that the directors receive accurate, timely and clear information, including that on the company's current performance, to enable the board to take sound decisions, monitor effectively and provide advice to promote the success of the company.
- Managing the board to allow enough time for discussion of complex or contentious issues. The chairman should ensure that directors (particularly nonexecutive directors) have sufficient time to consider critical issues and obtain answers to any questions or concerns they may have and are not faced with unrealistic deadlines for decision making.

- Identifying the development needs of the board as a whole to enhance its overall effectiveness as a team.

¹² This corresponds to provision A.1.3 of the Combined Code however experience suggests that the scope of such meetings may need to be carefully defined and controlled to ensure that executive directors are not made to feel that decisions are being made without their involvement.

The roles of the chairman, chief executive and senior independent director under the Combined Code

- Ensuring the performance of the board, its committees and individual directors is evaluated at least once a year and acting on the results of such evaluation by recognising the strengths and addressing the weaknesses of the board. Terms of reference for the audit committee

A Introduction

This guidance note proposes model terms of reference for the audit committee of a company seeking to comply fully with the requirements of the UK Corporate Governance Code. It draws on the experience of company secretaries and is based on best practice as carried out in some of the UK's largest listed companies.

It reflects the UK Corporate Governance Code as revised in April 2016 (the 'Code') and the updated FRC Guidance on Audit Committees (the 'FRC Guidance'), also published in April 2016. The Code is applicable for financial periods beginning on or after 17 June 2016. Copies of the Code and the FRC Guidance are available at www.frc.org.uk

The model terms of reference are intended as a guide for companies to adapt to their needs. In particular:

- Companies with additional primary listing(s) may need to amend the terms of reference in light of additional requirements in the relevant country, in particular the US Sarbanes-Oxley Act 2002.
- Some responsibilities that are relevant to certain sectors only are shown in square brackets.
- There are a number of responsibilities that may be carried out by the audit committee which, alternatively, may be carried out by another board committee or at board level and these have been mentioned in footnotes.

The guidance notes on terms of reference for all board committees should be read together when allocating responsibilities to the committees. It is important to recognise the links and overlap between the responsibilities of board committees and consequently the need for each board committee to have full knowledge of the deliberations of other committees through reports to the board and, if possible, by appointing one audit committee member to the remuneration committee and one to a separate risk committee, if there is one.

Terms of reference for the audit committee

B The Code

The Code states that:

‘The board should establish formal and transparent arrangements for considering how they should apply the corporate reporting and risk management and internal control principles and for maintaining an appropriate relationship with the company’s auditors.’¹

It goes on to clarify that, in practical terms, this means that: ‘The board should establish an audit committee ...’.²

The Code recommends that the main role and responsibilities of the audit committee should be set out in written terms of reference, tailored to the particular circumstances of the company,³ and be made available (e.g. by including them on a website maintained by or on behalf of the company).⁴

There is a requirement in the Code for the audit committee to ‘report to the board on how it has discharged its responsibilities’.⁵ In addition, the Code recommends that the work of the committee in discharging its responsibilities should be described in a separate section of the annual report.⁶ The annual report should also include a statement from the audit committee explaining its recommendation in relation to the appointment, reappointment or removal of the external auditor, wherever the board has not accepted that recommendation.⁷ The audit committee chairman should attend the annual general meeting and be available to answer questions.⁸

The provisions of the Code⁹ ensure that companies are required not only to go through a formal process of considering their internal audit and control procedures and evaluating their relationship with their external auditor, but to be seen to do so in a fair and thorough manner. As part of this process, it is essential that the audit committee is properly constituted with a clear remit and identified authority, and that it has processes in place to enable directors serving on audit committees to perform their role.

Terms of reference for the audit committee

C Notes on the terms of reference

The FRC Guidance is designed to assist company boards in making suitable arrangements for their audit committees and provides recommendations on the conduct of the audit committee's relationship with the board, executive management and internal and external auditors. Audit committees are not required to follow the FRC Guidance but it provides a useful framework when implementing the provisions of the Code. It recognises that audit committee arrangements need to be proportionate to the task, and will vary according to the size, complexity and risk profile of the company.¹⁰

As regards the composition of the committee, it is best practice that it comprises a minimum of three independent non-executive directors. Audit committees of smaller companies may comprise two members and one may be the chairman, provided he or she does not chair the committee and was independent on appointment as chairman.¹¹ The board should satisfy itself that at least one member of the committee has recent and relevant financial experience and competence in accounting and/or auditing, and that the audit committee as a whole has competence relevant to the sector in which the company operates.¹² Other non-committee members may be invited to attend and assist the committee from time to time, according to the particular items being considered and discussed.

The audit committee should be provided with sufficient resources to undertake its duties.¹³ Although not a provision in the Code, it is good practice for the company secretary, or his or her nominee, to act as secretary to the committee. The FRC Guidance states that the audit committee should have access to the services of the company secretariat on all audit committee matters. It also states that the company secretary should ensure that the audit committee receives information and papers in a timely manner to enable full and proper consideration to be given to the issues.¹⁴ In this regard, it is the company secretary's responsibility to ensure that the board and its committees are properly constituted and advised, and that there is clear coordination between the board and the various committees.

¹⁰ FRC Guidance, paragraph 2

¹¹ Code provision C.3.1. A smaller company is one that has been below the FTSE 350 throughout the year immediately prior to the reporting year (see footnote 6 to the Code).

Terms of reference for the audit committee

The frequency with which the committee needs to meet will vary depending on the nature, scale and complexity of the company and may change from time to time. The FRC Guidance states that it is for the audit committee chairman, in consultation with the company secretary, to decide the frequency of meetings. There should be as many meetings as the audit committee's role and responsibilities require and the Guidance recommends there should be no fewer than three meetings each year.¹⁵ When scheduling meetings, there should be a sufficient interval between audit committee meetings and board meetings to allow for work arising from the audit committee to be carried out and reported to the board.¹⁶

The list of duties included in the model terms of reference are those which all audit committees should consider in line with best practice. Some companies may wish to add to this list¹⁷ and some smaller companies may need to modify it in other ways. The audit committee should take the initiative in deciding the key matters it should consider and what information and assurance it needs to carry out its functions, and it should satisfy itself that the sources of information and assurance it receives are sufficient and objective.¹⁸

The Code requires that a separate section of the company's annual report describe the work of the audit committee in discharging its responsibilities and sets out the contents requirements for that report.¹⁹ Such report should be signed by the audit committee chairman.²⁰

¹⁵ FRC Guidance, paragraph 18

¹⁶ FRC Guidance, paragraph 19

¹⁷ For example, some companies also require the committee to monitor/make recommendations on the potential implications of legal actions being taken against the company, the adequacy of arrangements for managing conflicts of interest, the expenses incurred by the chairman, treasury management policies, monitoring the company's supply chain and processes/procedures for compliance with the Modern Slavery Act 2015, and gender pay gap reporting.

However, the finance director, head of internal audit and external audit lead partner will be invited to attend meetings of the committee on a regular basis and other non-members may be invited to attend all or part of any meeting as and when appropriate and necessary.²⁸
- 1.4 The board shall appoint the committee chairman. In the absence of the committee chairman and/or an appointed deputy at a committee meeting, the remaining members present shall elect one of themselves to chair the meeting.

21 Or in the case of smaller companies (companies below the FTSE 350 index) two members. Code provision C.3.1. and FRC Guidance, paragraph 9.

22 if the board has a separate risk committee

23 It is not always possible for a company's audit committee to include a member of the remuneration committee but it is helpful to address the issue of board committees working independently whilst having some overlapping agenda items.

24 FRC Guidance, paragraph 13

25 Guidance on circumstances likely to affect independence is given in Code provision B.1.1. See also FRC Guidance, paragraph 14.

26 See Code provision C.3.1.; DTR 7.1.1A R and FRC Guidance, paragraph 15 which also provide that the audit committee as a whole shall have competence relevant to the sector in which the company operates, and set out recommended experience and skills of members.

27 unless the company is a smaller company. See Code provisions regarding the independence of the chairman: A.3.1., B.1.1. and footnote 5. Provision C.3.1. of the Code provides that in smaller companies the company chairman may be a member of, but not chair, the committee provided she or he was independent on appointment as chairman. Except on appointment, the chairman of the company is not considered independent.

28 FRC Guidance, paragraph 20

Terms of reference for the audit committee

2 Secretary

The company secretary, or his or her nominee, shall act as the secretary of the committee and will ensure that the committee receives information and papers in a timely manner to enable full and proper consideration to be given to issues.²⁹

3 Quorum

The quorum necessary for the transaction of business shall be [two] members.³⁰

4 Frequency of meetings

- 4.1 The committee shall meet at least [three] times a year at appropriate intervals in the financial reporting and audit cycle and otherwise as required.³¹
- 4.2 Outside of the formal meeting programme, the committee chairman, and to a lesser extent the other committee members, will maintain a dialogue with key individuals involved in the company's governance, including the board chairman, the chief executive, the finance director, the external audit lead partner and the head of internal audit.³²

²⁹ FRC Guidance, paragraph 25

³⁰ Code provision C.3.1. requires that at least one member of the committee has recent and relevant financial experience and DTR 7.1.1A R states that one committee member must have competence in accounting and/or auditing. It would therefore be preferable for any quorum to include such a member whenever possible.

³¹ FRC Guidance, paragraph 18. The frequency and timing of meetings will differ according to the needs of the company and meetings should be organised so that attendance is maximised. The FRC Guidance suggests key dates within the financial reporting and audit cycle might include: when the audit plans (internal and external) are available for review and when interim statements, preliminary announcements and the full annual report are near completion.

³² FRC Guidance, paragraph 22

Terms of reference for the audit committee

5 Notice of meetings

- 5.1 Meetings of the committee shall be convened by the secretary of the committee at the request of any of its members or at the request of the external audit lead partner or head of internal audit if they consider it necessary.
- 5.2 Unless otherwise agreed by the committee, notice of each meeting confirming the venue, time and date together with an agenda of items to be discussed, shall be forwarded to each member of the committee no later than [five] working days before the date of the meeting. Supporting papers shall be sent to committee members at the same time.³³
- 5.3 Notices, agendas and supporting papers can be sent in electronic form where the recipient has agreed to receive documents in such a way.

6 Minutes of meetings

- 6.1 The secretary shall minute the proceedings and decisions of all meetings of the committee, including recording the names of those present and in attendance.
- 6.2 Draft minutes of committee meetings shall be agreed with the committee chairman and then circulated promptly to all members of the committee, unless it would be inappropriate to do so in the opinion of the committee chairman.

7 Annual general meeting

The committee chairman should attend the annual general meeting to answer shareholder questions.³⁴

8 Duties

The committee should have oversight of the group as a whole and, unless required otherwise by regulation, carry out the duties below for the parent company, major subsidiary undertakings and the group as a whole.³⁵

³³ Copies of the agendas, papers and minutes may be circulated or made available to the other non-executive directors and to attendees as appropriate and as agreed.

³⁴ Code provision E.2.3. and FRC Guidance, paragraph 85

³⁵ This drafting assumes that these Terms of Reference are adopted by a parent company of a group. FRC Guidance, paragraph 7

8.1 Financial reporting

- 8.1.1 The committee shall monitor the integrity of the financial statements of the company, including its annual and half-yearly reports, interim management statements, preliminary announcements and any other formal statements relating to its financial performance, and review and report to the board on significant financial reporting issues and judgements which those statements contain having regard to matters communicated to it by the auditor.³⁶
- 8.1.2 In particular, the committee shall review and challenge where necessary:³⁷
 - 8.1.2.1 the application of significant accounting policies and any changes to them;
 - 8.1.2.2 the methods used to account for significant or unusual transactions where different approaches are possible;
 - 8.1.2.3 whether the company has adopted appropriate accounting policies and made appropriate estimates and judgements, taking into account the external auditor's views on the financial statements; and
 - 8.1.2.4 all material information presented with the financial statements, including the strategic report and the corporate governance statements relating to the audit and to risk management.
- 8.1.3 The committee shall review any other statements requiring board approval which contain financial information first, where to carry out a review prior to board approval would be practicable and consistent with any prompt reporting requirements under any law or regulation including the Listing Rules or Disclosure Guidance and Transparency Rules sourcebook.
- 8.1.4 Where the committee is not satisfied with any aspect of the proposed financial reporting by the company, it shall report its views to the board.

³⁶ Code provision C.3.2. and FRC Guidance, paragraph 32. See also FRC Guidance, paragraph 83 which clarifies that the audit committee would not be expected to disclose information that would be prejudicial to the interests of the company.

³⁷ FRC Guidance, paragraphs 32 to 38

8.2 Narrative reporting

Where requested by the board, the committee should review the content of the annual report and accounts and advise the board on whether, taken as a whole, it is fair, balanced and understandable and provides the information necessary for shareholders to assess the company's performance, business model and strategy³⁸ and whether it informs the board's statement in the annual report on these matters that is required under the Code.³⁹

8.3 Internal controls and risk management systems⁴⁰

The committee shall:

- 8.3.1 keep under review the company's internal financial controls systems that identify, assess, manage and monitor financial risks, and other internal control and risk management systems;⁴¹ and

- 8.4.2 review the company's procedures for detecting fraud;

38 Code provision C.3.4. and FRC Guidance, paragraph 37

39 Code provision C.1.1.

40 If the board has a separate board risk committee composed of independent directors with responsibility for the review of internal controls and risk management systems, or the board itself has this responsibility under the matters reserved for the decision of the board, the audit committee's responsibilities would be confined to internal financial controls: Code provision C.3.2. See also FRC Guidance, paragraph 41

41 Code provision C.3.2. and FRC Guidance, paragraph 40

42 unless this is carried out by the board or risk committee. FRC Guidance, paragraph 44

43 If the board has a separate risk committee the duties of that committee could include whistleblowing, fraud, the prevention of bribery, and procedures for compliance with the Modern Slavery Act 2015. Where the company is required by regulation to have in place a designated non-executive director as 'whistleblower's champion', the interaction of their responsibility with the committee's will need to be considered and suitable arrangements put in place.

44 Code provision C.3.5.

Terms of reference for the audit committee

- 8.4.3 review the company's systems and controls for the prevention of bribery and receive reports on non-compliance;
- 8.4.4 [review regular reports from the Money Laundering Reporting Officer and the adequacy and effectiveness of the company's anti-money laundering systems and controls]; and ⁴⁵ If the company does not have an internal audit function, the committee should consider annually whether there should be one and make a recommendation to the board accordingly; the absence of such a function should be explained in the annual report: Code provision C.3.6. and FRC Guidance, paragraph 46. See also FRC Guidance, paragraphs 45, 47 and 56.

FOREWORD

An Inclusion Advisory Group (IAG) is a key tool in helping The FA realise its vision of 'Football For All' by aiding County FAs to become more inclusive businesses, achieve their inclusion targets and most of all connect with local communities.

With support from The FA, the Inclusion Advisory Board and the National Game Board, I hope that we will all be able to meet to some of the challenges that can be thrown up within the world of equality and diversity, and make every effort to grow the game by making football truly inclusive and enjoyed by everyone.

Paul Elliott

Chair, The FA Inclusion Advisory Board

WHAT IS AN IAG AND HOW TO SET ONE UP?

WHAT IS AN IAG?

An IAG is a committee of your County FA and the purpose of an IAG is to support County FAs with embedding inclusion into their everyday business and county plans.

An effective IAG will guide you towards ensuring your policies and practices are inclusive. An IAG should be populated by people who understand the needs and barriers (real or perceived) faced by those who have traditionally found it difficult to access football.

An effective IAG will also provide guidance on ways in which to reach people who may feel excluded or find it difficult to access football, whether it be because of their age, gender, gender reassignment, sexual orientation, marital status or civil partnership, race, nationality, ethnic origin, colour, religion or belief, ability or disability, pregnancy and maternity. Clearly every County is different, so your IAG will focus on your specific demographics, priorities and communities.

WHAT ARE THE FIRST STEPS TO ESTABLISH AN IAG?

There are four key steps when preparing to run an effective IAG:

1. Obtain agreement from your Board, Council and County FA staff. The CEO should visibly drive the work of IAGs with support from the CFA Board.
2. Ensure diverse recruitment of members to IAGs where possible, and ensure recruits have the skill sets and competencies to support County FAs with their planning. IAG membership should fully support your objectives.
3. Embed IAG work into all areas of CFA work so that they are used as a consultation mechanism prior to finalising Plans, and play a key part in monitoring and evaluating your interventions to grow the game within all communities.
4. Embed IAG work into County Business Plans and make sure IAGs are part of the process to produce them.

MANAGEMENT

INDUCTION

An induction will make clear from the outset the role of the IAG enabling members to fully understand their role and be most effective. It should be compiled and run by a nominated IAG Co-ordinator in partnership with all staff.

Materials and support should include:

- A full briefing and information pack provided when they join the IAG, including Terms of Reference, Codes of Conduct and the structure of the County FA
- Informal and formal induction to the IAG and the County FA, using and amending the existing County FA induction process and information
- Harnessing members' skills – people want to be involved if they know they can make a difference, so you should let each member know what you feel they can contribute from their own expertise and experience.
- Ongoing guidance and support from the County FA's IAG Co-ordinator – inside and outside IAG meetings
- Training and development in particular skills of operating in meetings, e.g. challenging and scrutiny
- Operational details, e.g. payment of expenses

MANAGEMENT

An IAG is managed and owned by the County FA in the same way as any other committees, but having an independent group chair who is not part of the county is a preferable model and the norm.

Management includes recruitment, producing terms of reference, frequency of meetings, codes of conduct for IAG members, setting objectives and targets, and the reconstitution of the Group, if necessary.

RECRUITMENT

The diagram below shows the recommended stages to follow to recruit IAG members. The list is not exhaustive, so make the best use of local networks and stakeholders.

Many of the organisations listed as stakeholders will equally be able to provide potential IAG members who have experience with wider inclusion issues.

Please bear in mind that your IAG members are volunteers, and a benefits package to support their involvement as well as their expected level of commitment should be explained at the outset. Some of the benefits are:

- A unique opportunity to influence the way football is delivered across the county
- Secondments/co-options onto to County FA Board, Council and committees
- Training and development
- Travel expenses when attending meetings

PRINCIPLES

Try to adopt the following principles when recruiting members:

- Explain why the IAG is being set up and what members will do (in details)
- Develop a clear role profile and person specification for both IAG chair and members, and stick to them.
- Include the skills, knowledge and experience the group should have
- Outline the commitment to being a volunteer at a County FA, the group Terms of reference and a code of conduct
- Details of who to contact to find out more
- Application process
- The selection process
- Timescales

SKILLS AND EXPERIENCE

Decide early on whether strategic and/or practitioner would be best suited.

Seek out people who can advise across a broad range of issues e.g. race, sex, gender reassignment, disability, religion or faith, age, sexual orientation and inclusion (low income, rural deprivation, social mobility and other local issues).

Look for members who think in a strategic way. The key roles of an IAG are to:

Provide support and advice on the County operational Plan and the likely impact it may have on specific under-represented communities within the county, e.g. ethnic minority communities, women and girls or people with impairments.

- Review performance and data to pro-actively deliver equality of opportunity in all areas.
- Advise on specific interventions to increase participation by all communities to both address gaps in provision and grow the game.
- Be a vehicle for increased representation of traditionally under-represented groups in football, including County FA Board, Council and committees.
- Monitoring and reviewing the impact of the County FA's work in relation to equality through County Plans and working towards achieving the next level of the Equality Standard for Sport.

REMEMBER:

IAGs are not delivery agents. Instead, they shape the way football is provided in an inclusive way; however, members of IAG may act as ambassadors for the game and help promote inclusion within County FAs.

PRIORITIES

Once set up, the immediate focus should be threefold:

- Increasing participation in playing, coaching and refereeing, and representation on county boards, councils and committees.
- Supporting processes for dealing with abuse and discrimination within the grassroots game.
- Ensuring that inclusion is embedded into the process of everything the county does

One way of working through these actions above is to use the steps below:

- Commit to renewing at your current level of the Equality Standard or achieving the next level

Look at one or two special interventions to promote inclusion and grow the game. These may include:

- Diverse representation on your Football Panel
- Measures to second/co-opt from your IAG onto Council
- Addressing unaffiliated football
- Increasing participation from diverse communities for example through The FA's Asian Inclusion Plan, Refugee and Football Plan, Women's Strategy, Disability Workforce or FA Faith and Football Group
- Promoting transparency within your recruitment processes
- Promoting your processes for reporting abuse and discrimination

TERMS OF REFERENCE

In summary, Terms of Reference are a number of over-arching roles and responsibilities the IAG should work towards. These could include the IAG's remit to:

- Maintain a strategic overview of County FA work from an inclusion perspective.
- Support the County FA in their design, planning and consultation of County Plans and development plans.
- Review, monitor and scrutinise all County FA programmes from an inclusion perspective.
- Receive and comment on inclusion assessments of key aspects of County FA work.
- Provide advice and support, in particular about:
 - Community engagement
 - Proactive interventions to address gaps in equality and inclusion
 - Embedding inclusion into the county planning process
 - Enhancing development programmes for inclusion
 - Supporting the County FA with the continuous recruitment to Local Football Anti-Discrimination Panels
- Abide by the County FA Codes of Conduct
- Attend and represent IAGs on committees and at Board via the IAG Chair.
- Provide advice and support where relevant on fine-tuning disciplinary procedures to support good practice on handling allegations of discrimination.

Support the County FA in the development of specific campaign work with targeted communities

NOTE:

It is important that Terms of Reference and Codes of Conduct are reviewed either six-monthly or annually. This could be a standing item at one of the meetings during the year.

Recruitment Pack for Appointment of County FA Independent Chair of Inclusion Advisory Group

Dear Applicant,

In December 2012, The FA Board approved English Football's Inclusion and Anti-Discrimination Action Plan 2013-17. This was an important moment as it was the first time that all parts of the game (The FA, Premier League, Football League, Professional Footballers Association, League Managers Association, Professional Game Match Officials Limited and the Referees Association) had come together with a comprehensive plan to promote inclusion and tackle discrimination in all its forms.

Fast forward six years and The FA announced a new three-year equality, diversity and inclusion plan called 'In Pursuit of Progress' in August 2018, as part of our commitment to ensure the diversity of those leading and governing football better reflects what we see on the pitch in the modern game today.

County FA is developing an Inclusion Advisory Group (IAG) to provide advice and guidance on all equality matters to the County FA and to provide strategic oversight of the delivery of its operations plan in a county-wide inclusive way which includes all sections of all communities. We would like our members to consist of passionate individuals from a variety of backgrounds, experiences and perspectives to help guide and drive our work for everyone.

We are currently looking to recruit an Independent Chair who will lead the IAG to support our organisation. The successful person will have significant knowledge and experience of operating at a strategic level in either the Public or Private Sector and equally bring a breadth and depth of knowledge or experience in equality matters.

You will need to be able to think strategically and have the capacity to guide the implementation of local inclusion provisions. You will need to be an advocate of the role of football within inclusion and anti-discrimination with a proven ability to work collaboratively and challenge constructively.

It is an exciting, but challenging opportunity with the incentive of shaping our County FA's inclusion work and positively impacting the landscape of football at every level.

The pack includes the following:

1. The role advertisement
2. A potential IAG Terms of Reference
3. The role profile
4. How to apply – the application form
5. County FA Equality and Diversity Form

The pack provides all the necessary information that you require to submit an application. Should you have any questions about the role, or require clarity on the recruitment pack, you can contact [insert name of CEO of your County FA and contact details you wish to share]

Inclusion Advisory Group Independent Chair Application

Voluntary/Expenses

We are looking for a dynamic, self-motivated and proactive individual who wants to make a positive contribution to the governance of grassroots football in Countyshire.

The Chair will use their experience to lead and steer the group to promote Inclusion and Diversity throughout the organisation, ensure the group is focused and provide advice and guidance in relation to the challenges that we face in local football.

The Inclusion Advisory Group will report directly to the Board on all issues relating to Inclusion, Equality and Diversity.

There will be a minimum of four IAG meetings each season (although this could change according to need) as well as communication between meetings to support the County in delivering the National Game Strategy and its contract with The FA. There will also be a requirement to attend Board meetings when required and attend the National County FA Inclusion Day annually.

The Inclusion Advisory Group (IAG) will embed inclusion into the County FA, through support and advice on all issues of diversity and equality within the strategic and operational workings of County FA.

The successful applicant must also be able to demonstrate excellent communication and influencing skills.

What can we offer?

- An exciting opportunity to be part of a forward thinking, progressive business.
- To work with key stakeholders within the grassroots and game.
- A commitment to empowered and supportive personal development.
- Travel expenses when attending meetings

How to apply:

Applications will be accepted upon the completion of the application form contained in this recruitment pack. It is essential that applicants clearly demonstrate their ability to meet the requirements of the role, explaining how their experience and technical skills will assist them.

Recruitment for the voluntary role will be based on both the technical ability to fulfil the role and also the following key behavioural competencies, as defined in the County Football Association Competency Model:

- Honesty
- Efficiency
- Respect
- Teamwork
- Trust

We would appreciate if you could complete The FA's Diversity Monitoring form along with your application. Completion of this form is entirely optional however it does on a generalised level provide the Association with the opportunity to track the breadth and depth of the applications from different parts of the community. This form should be filled out anonymously and sent to us separately to your application form, using the pre-paid postage envelope attached. This data will then be collected and collated anonymously.

The interview process:

The date for applications to close will be at 5pm on [insert date].

Applications will be shortlisted and we will invite some candidates for an interview.

The interviews will take place week commencing [insert date] and will be held at County FA Headquarters. We can be flexible with interview times where required.

4. MARKETING AND COMMUNICATIONS

The public face of any organisation can sometimes be shaped more by good PR than good practice. That's because the vast majority of customers will never enter the County FA office to meet you in person. Therefore, your County FA development relations will also engage and attract non-customers to get involved in the game.

Now that most County FAs have full-time staff, your County FA has the capability to deliver marketing campaigns and social media to a local level. However, with County FA's County FA require inclusive communications to be a key part of your strategy and to support diverse communities in the game.

Suggestions: e.g. Have you...	Tick
Consulted your IAG on your marketing strategy and plan?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Ensured your current marketing plan has been equality and diversity assessed?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Checked that your marketing strategy aligns with your Equality and Diversity Strategy?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Ensured your marketing channels and resources reach all areas of all communities?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Checked that you regularly quote and communicate your wider diversity strategy?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Partnered with diverse external partners and reflect this in your communications?	<input type="checkbox"/>

CASE STUDY – HERTFORDSHIRE FA

COMMUNICATIONS: LGBT HISTORY MONTH

In a regular audit of its county demographics revealed that Hertfordshire FA had not meaningfully engaged with LGBT people or communities through football, especially young people. As a result, the County FA's Equality Officer identified an efficient and appropriate way to reach out and engage via social media. Working with their Youth Council, the voice of young people at the County FA, Hertfordshire FA gave control of their social media channels to their Youth Council for a day during LGBT History Month.

The impact of this strategy was the increase in awareness of non-County FA customers at no cost to the County.

CASE STUDY – BIRMINGHAM FA

MARKETING: NON-CONSUMER RESEARCH

To achieve its goal of reaching out through football to engage diverse people from all communities, Birmingham FA started from the position that the majority of people in Birmingham were not customers. Therefore, finding out more about their non-customers was essential to move the conversation forward and inform their strategy. They commissioned a local sports insight company to carry out this research, using a mixture of qualitative and quantitative research with diverse local people not involved in affiliated football.

The results recommended a campaign that begins to provide a distinction between local grassroots and professional football, ensuring people understand the actual experience they may have could be different to their perceived experience. The report also recommended targeting girls, particularly marketing through mothers, who, although they may not play the game themselves, would encourage their daughters to play.

5. COACHING

Coaching is one of the two main roles within football development over which County FAs have significant influence. The other is refereeing. In turn, coaches have a significant role to play in the game. Research has revealed that one of the biggest influences on many people's decision to take up the game is their first sports coach. With coaches being role models for young people, having diversity across the coaching workforce is really important for young people to see. Research with someone who looks just like them – a role model who can collectively make the game more inclusive.

Here are a few tips that you can generate a more diverse coaching workforce within your County FA:

Suggestions: e.g. Have you...	Tick
Compared your County demographics with that of your local coaching workforce?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Consulted with your IAG on your Youth Council?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Used your coach bursary funding to subsidise course fees for diverse coaches?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Utilised your Coach Mentor workforce, especially the FA BAME Coach Mentor group?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Used key dates such as Black History Month, Ramadan or LGBT History Month to target potential coaches from diverse communities?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Profiled any of your current diverse coaches within social media or on your website?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Considered diversity specific coaching courses?	<input type="checkbox"/>

CASE STUDY – ESSEX FA

PARTNERSHIP WITH THE MUSLIMAH SPORTS ASSOCIATION

Essex and East London has a very large Asian and Muslim population that doesn't participate in affiliated football. Asian and Muslim females participate less than women from other communities and are the least active social group in society.

Recognising this fact, Essex FA worked with the Muslimah Sports Association, a local female only sports club, to address the women's lack of experience in traditional football settings. It was arranged to run a Level 1 female only coaching course in a local mosque where sessions were adapted to fit in with the mosque's women's schedule. After a six-week programme, 12 new coaches were qualified. After being assigned a female FA coach mentor the coaches are now coaching other women in their club and community.

6. REFEREEING

Refereeing is the backbone of the game. Every weekend up to 10,000 FA-registered referees take to the county's grassroots pitches to manage and govern matches and ensure they are enjoyed by everyone. Fewer studies have found that the one thing more valued by grassroots players than anything else is having a qualified referee officiating their game.

In turn, having visibly diverse referees changes the perception of the game to players, parents and coaches, especially if they are diverse themselves. This level of diversity further enhances the game's For All ethos, making it very ready for those who take it up, but it can be difficult to recruit people. Given this, County FAs, especially diverse ones, should be as informed and strategic as possible due to the fact that the club referees following the whole over the long term.

County FA's currently has BAME and female referee targets linked to their funding from The FA. Here are a few tips that you can follow when considering your next referee recruitment project:

Suggestions: e.g. Have you...	Tick
Broken down your current referee workforce by their diversity?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Consulted with your IAG on your Youth Council?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Undertaken an Equality Impact Assessment?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Spoken to The FA Referee Development Officers at neighbouring County FAs?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Spoken to any other sports? Or institutions such as the police, cadets or schools?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Spoken to any local religious institutions, as well as especially diverse schools or colleges where new referees could help regulate their own matches?	<input type="checkbox"/>

How to be a more inclusive County FA | 19

CASE STUDY – LANCASHIRE FA

REFEREE COURSE WITH LOCAL FAITH SCHOOL

Lancashire FA recognised the levels of diversity across the county weren't reflected within their referee workforce. After analysing the data they realised that the biggest diversity group not represented across refereeing was Asian Muslims, and working through their current diverse referees they partnered with Tufessal Boys School, a local Faith (Islamic) School.

After speaking to the school's head teacher, Lancashire FA arranged a referees' training course to form part of the school's curriculum. All 24 boys who took part passed the qualification. Mentoring and game practice was also built into school's hours, ensuring the boys were more likely to stay in refereeing.

The school is a boys' school and a curriculum sports centre also took place at its all girls' 'sister' school.

7. INCLUSION ADVISORY GROUPS (IAGS)

The purpose of an IAG is to support County FAs with embedding inclusion into their everyday business and plans. An effective IAG will guide you in ensuring your policies and practices are inclusive. An IAG should be populated by people who understand the needs and barriers (real or perceived) faced by diverse people, particularly those difficult to access football.

An effective IAG will also ensure that all those who may be excluded or find it difficult to access football, whether the barrier of their age, gender, gender reassignment, sexual orientation, marital status or civil partnership, race, nationality, ethnic origin, colour, religion or belief, ability or disability, pregnancy and maternity. Clearly, the County FA is not different, so the IAG will focus on your specific demographics, priorities and communities.

County FA members should be encouraged to participate in the IAG and good IAGs will have:

No	Critical Success Factor	Score yourself: 1-5 (1 = worst and 5 = best) (circle as appropriate)
1	Having the right mix of people on your group	1 2 3 4 5
2	Having a Chair driving change	1 2 3 4 5
3	Your IAG working well with your Board	1 2 3 4 5
4	Your IAG working well with your staff	1 2 3 4 5
5	An IAG involved in Strategic Planning	1 2 3 4 5

Using the above table will help you self-reflect on what's going well and what needs more attention within your IAG.

Here are a few other IAG related suggestions you could consider:

Suggestions: e.g. Have you...	Tick
An IAG page on your website that profiles your group members?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Made sure your IAG are fully included and ready to make a difference from Day 1?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Ensured your IAG is an essential part of your County FA Planning Process?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Considered using your IAG members as Ambassadors? A kind of diverse sales force?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Assessed whether your IAG Chair could automatically reserve into a place on your Board?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Considered whether your Youth Council Chair could automatically take up a seat on your IAG or an observer or director role on your Board?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Considered an IAG roadshow, travelling round the county to help you reach out and engage?	<input type="checkbox"/>

CASE STUDY – MANCHESTER FA

ESTABLISHING AND RUNNING AN INCLUSION ADVISORY GROUP (IAG)

In 2018 Manchester FA reviewed and re-advised for its IAG. It was previously run along the traditional model with local football stakeholders coming together to talk about their experience of the game. Under the new Chair of Inclusion, the IAG transformed into a dynamic and representative body which has influenced all parts of the County FA. Firstly, the IAG insisted on all Manchester FA staff having equality, diversity and inclusion embedded within all staff PDs (Personal Development Reviews).

The IAG Chair also automatically made a member of the County FA Board, embedding inclusion into wider County FA decision making.

The group that resulted from across different levels of football, bringing on board members with football and strategic experience of sitting on wider boards and committees. The group is comprised of key strategic partners rather than just football leagues and clubs.

The IAG was then made a standing committee of the main Board and regular communication started to happen between the IAG and the main board. This trickled down to and empowered – County FA staff, who had already been made more accountable for inclusion within their PDs. The IAG then began action plan and also recognised that the County FA needed a dedicated resource to oversee and guide all of this work, in the form of a For All Football Development Officer. This role is now in place and the full circle of new links together the County FA staff team, the IAG, the Board, inclusion activities and the wider operations plan.

8. REPORTING DISCRIMINATION AND THE SUBSEQUENT PROCESS

All County FAs consider any reports of alleged discrimination as a matter of fundamental importance and will investigate all reports. There is a robust, transparent and fair process in place which allows for a fair regulatory procedure to be followed.

As a reminder, the following is a process adopted by all County FAs when an incident of discrimination is reported within the County FA.

- Any incident of discrimination should be reported immediately to the relevant authorities. If this occurs at a game the match should be reported to the match referee but also to the County FA.
- The County FA should be notified of the matter directly to the Football Association who will also guide the County FA through the process.
- The County FA discipline team will seek further information from any witnesses, including the match officials, in order to determine the facts of the case.
- The County FA reviews the information received and will then make a recommendation to the FA as to whether to raise a charge.
- When a charge is raised, the person charged has 14 days to respond.
- Depending on the response, the matter will then be dealt with by the County FA either as a Personal Hearing or as a Correspondence Hearing.
- The Commission is appointed centrally by The Football Association and will consist of appointed members.
- At a Personal Hearing, all witnesses in support of the charge will be required to attend and provide evidence.
- There are specific procedures adopted where participants under 18 years of age are involved.
- Following the hearing the report will be confirmed in writing and full written reasons will be produced.
- All cases are also subject to appeal.

It is also important that all case information is recorded. This allows for collaboration across teams and external parties such as County FA Inclusion Advisory Groups. County FAs have a greater level of accountability on how disciplinary casefiles are managed due to the more impactful and sensitive nature of such cases.

Here are some further tips around how to improve the inclusiveness of reporting of discrimination and the disciplinary process:

Created a County FA pinned 'How To Report' leaflet or PDF which includes an explanation of the process and push it to all clubs, coaches and referees?	<input type="checkbox"/>
Fully trained your staff discipline team around discrimination cases and do you publicly disclose annually a summary of how all of those cases went? This allows for greater transparency and confidence.	<input type="checkbox"/>
Made it County FA policy to always notify the alleged victim of the result of any case and give them a channel to feedback directly to County FA staff? Call them personally.	<input type="checkbox"/>

9. SUMMARY

Hopefully this document has helped you reflect on just how inclusively your County FA operates. Maybe some of the suggestions and case studies it contains have provided some positive actions.

To summarise, here are some principles we think will be of use:

Communicate more

County FA is a great job. The football you deliver brings people together and benefits them in many ways, but we are famously poor at blowing our own trumpet. Make it a resolution to gain credit's due.

Lead the way

Many of our communities have no idea what County FA is or how they can benefit from you. Having an inclusive based marketing plan will make a big difference to your diversity – and your bank balance!

Reach out and engage

For the most part, our football diverse communities have been breaking down the doors of County FA and our grassroots partners in our region and beyond. We need to get out there and make it happen. We need to be seen and heard and we need to be heard and seen. If you have made the effort.

Use the professional

The professional game is the heart of football. It is in your interests to work with them more. Every professional club has a Community Trust for Foundation and many of their objectives will be the same as yours. The power of their badge is something worth using to your advantage.

Campaign with others

Sometimes it makes more sense to partner with the experts and have a bigger joint impact. Campaigns like Kick It Out and Show Racism the Red Card will be more likely to work with you to try and help make football a better place. Kick It Out is part funded by the FA to do exactly that and has two grassroots officers whose roles focus on County FAs and grassroots football. For more info go to KickItOut.org.

HOW TO BE A MORE INCLUSIVE COUNTY FA 27

WHEN WE SAY FOOTBALL IS FOR ALL... WE MEAN IT.

As England's national sport, with more than 30 million spectators, 13 million participants and 100,000 grassroots teams, football has incredible power to bring people together, pull down barriers and act as a force for good.

With this comes great responsibility. As the game's governing body in England, we consider this responsibility to be a day-to-day duty. So much so that we've published our Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Plan for 2018-21, which is now in its second year. You can download a copy from the Inclusion and Anti-Discrimination section of TheFA.com.

It contains clear targets across four priority areas of work:

- The FA and its culture
- The England home support structure
- The game's grassroots workforce
- Inclusion programmes across the game

Our priority areas are also underpinned by our ongoing work to deliver a game free from discrimination.

All our targets are measurable. At the end of each completed year we publish a progress report. The latest one can also be downloaded from TheFA.com.

We've determined to ensure football is For All.

County FA Youth Council Guidance

The following pages contain a FA-produced PowerPoint presentation covering the above topic. It is editable to create a bespoke version for your County FA.

The FA Youth Leadership Charter

The FA's sees young people aged 16-25 not just as the leaders of tomorrow. They have the energy, skills and ideas to change football and the wider community for the better today.

The FA wants to establish a culture of involving young people in the organisation of football. This approach will not only benefit young people but promote better informed and more representative decision making, and bring through a new generation of volunteers into the workforce across the grassroots game. For this approach to work it needs to be based on genuine youth-adult partnerships.

The FA and its Youth Councils will also work with its County Associations and our football partners to encourage a similar commitment and approach across the country.

To achieve this we will consult and involve young people. We will promote the concept and benefits of youth leadership and volunteering within the FA and with our football partners. We will deliver programmes and events created, directed and staffed by young people that demonstrate this commitment.

CONSULT

- Involve young people in our policy making and governance structures - specifically The FA Council, The FA Inclusion Advisory Board and the FA Youth Participation Committee.
- Build relevant communication channels to talk directly with young people as to the opportunities available to them.
- Commission research to ensure that our programmes are relevant and attractive to the young people they seek to engage.
- Support the running of a National Youth Council as a key reference point for the FA's work with young people. The National Youth Council will in turn support the operation of County FA Youth Councils.

PROMOTE

- Seek out and shape good practice to demonstrate what can be done when young people are meaningfully engaged in the governance, organisation and development of football.
- Work with the football network to provide opportunities for young people to take leadership responsibility in clubs, leagues and other football programmes.

DELIVER

- Use the events we stage (e.g. major tournaments, international matches, cup finals etc.) to provide high quality volunteer staff to the organisers and leadership development opportunities for the young people involved.
- Run an annual FA Leadership Academy, named and led by young leaders. The Academy will develop the skills of its participants and celebrate the successes in community football.

By adopting the approach and measures listed above we believe we can derive huge benefits to the young people engaged, the organisation of football, health and well being of wider society.

County FA Youth Council Guidance

In line with the County FA Governance Code, Safeguarding Operating Standards (SOS) and current growth and maintenance of County FA Youth Councils this guidance has been created to offer suggestion and direction around core components which underpin effective functioning Youth Councils.

This guidance has been co-created with County FAs, The FA Youth Council and The FA. There is no 'one size fits all' approach, and this guidance does not serve to suggest a specific approach, but offers suggestions aligned to the guiding principles outlined through ideas, examples and practices which are working throughout the network.

This guidance is set out to share the formal structure and running of The FA Youth Council showing all components in one example. Followed by definitions, and ideas across the components of Purpose, Safeguarding, Structure, Recruitment, Communication & Learning. Closing with key documents and templates, relevant contact information and case studies of all of the County FA's who supported the creation of this guidance.

Now left to your interpretation, the guidance set out to be a live document, updated and added to regularly with any future additions of shining ideas and examples.

The FA Youth Council - Structure

The FA Youth Council - Structure

The FA Youth Council roles are based around the core role of the Youth Council in supporting the County FA Youth Council structure, and developing the leadership capabilities of young people in the game.

The Chairperson represents all children & young people within The FA's Governance structure, this as a full member of the FA Council and relevant committees. The Chairperson sets the strategic direction for the FA Youth Council.

The 2 Vice Chairpersons are in place to manage and oversee the operations of The FA Youth Council. Developing and delivering meetings, leading communications and support to senior members and leading key programmes of work.

Senior Officers – lead sub-teams within the group, providing individual support and guidance, whilst feeding into the senior leadership group with any challenges or discussions where required.

The FA Youth Council - Structure

Community Officer – Being the direct link between The FA Youth Council and key partners to share learning, opportunities and collaborative opportunities.

Co-created Purpose – Young people to have a meaningful role within the governance of the organisation, with clearly identified aims and objectives in line with County FA/ organizational needs.

A County FA Youth Council is an enabler. A dynamic resource to support the strategic objectives of the organisation whilst also training and developing the future football workforce – the Youth Council therefore creates enables a beginning for future careers.

As a by-product of the Safeguarding Operating Standards, the requirement to listen to the voice of young people is paramount. Through an effective Youth Council, this requirement can be met whilst giving ownership for young people to provide a voice within football across what they can control and influence. The role of young people is not limited to the pitch or meeting room. There is an increasing movement from County FA's to have young people represented within the governance structure using various methods and routes.

Young people offer a viewpoint of the game right now, innovation and an understanding of technology which is shown to be enhancing the football landscape, how it is engaged with and consumed. Engaging with young people at all levels, ensures that there is a diversity of thought, and that the current and major stakeholders are a part of decision making which impacts them.

The purpose and role of the Youth Council and its members should be co-created alongside the County FA. There are numerous programmes and potential roles which could be delivered and fulfilled through the Youth Council. Common practices have seen Youth Councils:

Ownership

The FA Youth Council co-create their work programme alongside the FA through a VMOST. VMOST is a planning tool used to identify the Vision, Mission, Objectives, Strategy & Tactics.

The VMOST is an ever present with individual ownership assigned, and specific project plans developed for each project showing designated actions and responsibilities of individuals.

There is a balance to be struck. In ensuring the Youth Council serves a purpose, which shows a return on investment across County FA objectives and Key Performance Indicators (KPIs). Whilst not being too adult heavy, co-creation requires an equal seat at the table to help design, create and decide. There are pros and cons to both ends of the continuum. Co-creation allows for responsibility to be shared, and owned by adults and young people at different times.

Youth in Governance

As noted within the County FA Governance code, it is encouraged for County FAs to consider and implement actions to allow young people to play a role within the governance of the association. This ensuring the youngest and largest stakeholder group are represented and listened to on matters which influence and impact them. The options are used to be able to evidence and meaningfully engage young people within the governance of the organisation, specifically around the Boardroom. Currently across the country, young people are being engaged through the following routes:

Youth on Board Activity

Youth in Decision Making

Safeguarding – The safety of all young persons is paramount and comes before any team, role or activity.

Any activity involving young people in football demands the highest safeguarding policies and structures to ensure all involved have relevant and appropriate qualifications, understanding and access to support when required. Following the introduction of the FA Safeguarding Operating Standards (SOS), clearly defined processes and procedures are already in place for County FA activity involving young people.

As the minimum, the SOS provision should be followed to ensure all activity from meetings to project delivery is risk assessed, with appropriate safeguarding in place to minimise risk. Cascade training/ safeguarding introduction should be deployed with all members being shown and taken through relevant training around risks, appropriate reporting measures and considerations around identifying and raising concerns. Through the cascade training/ safeguarding introduction, a Code of Conduct will be required to be signed by all members. Taking through the code and adding anything which would be specific to the Youth Council would be prudent.

All members and staff should have an in date DBS, and where possible the FA's safeguarding (children and FA Emergency) Act qualification. A register should be in place to sign members in and out, with emergency contact details provided prior to any activity. Across the County FA Youth Council network, the following actions have been taken and are in place going above and beyond the operating standard.

Optional

Wellbeing

Psychological safety is becoming a core factor in effective team and organisation functioning. Creating an environment built on trust, and safety enables individuals to be able to contribute and fulfil responsibilities.

Aside from Youth Council responsibilities, Youth Council members will all have other priorities and lifestyle demands which sit outside of the Youth Council commitment.

Wellbeing

All Youth Council members should be treated and supported in the same way any colleague is, with access to support and networks which might be of benefit throughout the season. The simple matter of remembering everyone is human, and at any time individuals will have challenges to work through. We're not suggesting the personal lives of anyone should be exploited, much rather appreciated and understood.

We know of education, volunteering, work and home life to name a few. Consideration for external factors impacting commitment and delivery should be considered from a matter of safeguarding and wellbeing. This could be incorporated within the safeguarding needs or be in addition to monitor and support the wellbeing of Youth Council members.

Pertinent Structure – A representative team structure which serves the group purpose, with relevant roles and size of membership.

The purpose of a Youth Council should drive the requirement around a group structure and membership needs. Creating opportunities for individuals to be able to engage within project and development opportunities. A group small in size may have more responsibility, but also less support to spread a workload. A team with a large, could allow for social learners and responsibility to be diluted. On average Youth Councils are holding between 8-12 active members, in some cases with additional members who are in advisory/ mentor roles.

Roles may be stable once the purpose and direction is co-created and agreed, which could allow for direct applications for roles. However, it has become an accepted route to have the Chair role as the only positional application, with all other applicants to become team members, and formal roles agreed at a later point either through internal applications or democratic votes.

Devising a group structure following the creation of a purpose and group direction, matches the operating of a County FA/ Organisation – in recruiting roles which enable key objectives to be met.

Additional roles around marketing to raise awareness and actively promote the Youth Council, and involvement of young people is an increasingly popular, alongside a lead role around inclusion. Ensuring that all work is inclusive, accessible and for all.

Succession planning should be considered, to ensure a continuous function of the Youth Council, ensuring projects and programmes are not dependent on the people but on the purpose. Term lengths over more than one year might be considered to ensure for longevity and flow from season to season. Specifically around succession planning for future Chairpersons, and how they are trained and supported to lead the group in future years. Processes might be put in place to enable the Chairperson the opportunity to serve within the role for a minimum of two seasons to be able to understand and deliver within the role. This enabling for the recruitment of Vice-Chairpersons who can become 'Chair Ready' with relevant support.

Inclusive Recruitment – Open and accessible recruitment processes; detailing expectations and role demands. With opportunities taken to promote through any available avenues to ensure for diversity in thought and membership.

From a position of openness and transparency, all Youth Council recruitment should be accessible for all young people to apply and show an interest. Simple methods of application have been shown to produce a higher return on applicants, however this doesn't always produce diverse and representative teams.

Role expectations and time demands should be outlined within the application process, with information available around the group purpose. Identified as both target areas and tactics for accessing young people, alongside varying processes being undertaken to collate and assess applications.

Inclusive Recruitment – Open and accessible recruitment processes; detailing expectations and role demands. With opportunities taken to promote through any available avenues to ensure for diversity in thought and membership.

There are numerous options to reach young people who might be interested in the opportunity to join a County FA Youth Council, some which might access a network of young people previously untapped.

Youth Council Open Evenings	County FA Social Media & website	Create a WhatsApp view of all young people active within community football	Directly contacting clubs and leagues to recommend individuals	Youth Leaders currently within the County FA programmes and initiatives
	Beyond the direct nature of the grassroots football world, colleges and universities	Other youth related organisations could be contacted for example, Scouts and Guides	County Sports Partnership and School Games Organisers, online media for events, which might be interested in developing their experience and leadership potential	Professional clubs and their community trusts

What information is required, and how?
Video/YouTube – video application	Use of Google Forms/ SmartSheet for simple form	CV & Cover Letter
Then what?
Open Evening for applicants	Informal/ Formal interview	Assessment process for decisions.

Meaningful Communication – Regular and purposeful communication through planned meetings, whilst utilising appropriate online platforms.

Communication is key to ensuring time is invested wisely. This is both face to face communication during meetings, also away from and between meetings. The time available for face to face meetings is limited, agendas should be carefully crafted to ensure time is balanced between task and developmental needs.

With the growing use and expansion of social media and online platforms, there are more ways to communicate than ever. Appropriate channels should be created to allow for updates and discussions, which do not expose anybody to any safeguarding or welfare risks.

Ultimately people buy into what they help create. Meaningful communications enable members to feel their input and actions are valued and listened to. Active online platforms ensure action is being taken, and progress can be updated from the County FA and Youth Council members.

A season calendar could be created with any key dates for events being delivered	Meeting dates to be agreed at the start of the season	Planning meeting dates set and expectations made clear allows members can plan ahead and be prepared for the commitment	Most Youth Councils meet face to face, monthly, as a minimum at a central location for around 2 hours
Meeting content then dependent on the needs of the group, split to support personal and professional development	Future meetings to be co-ordinated with County FA and training, content created by Youth Council Chairperson	Meeting one to set out objectives, introductions, rules and running of the organisation	Varying levels of ownership from meetings with significantly County FA led, all developing meetings to be Chairperson led

Hive: Safe and accessible online platforms can be created and used to maintain conversation, updates and key actions.

Trello/ SmartSheet: For sharing tools to map our project timelines and actions which can be accessed and edited by anyone linked to the group

Email: An ever present for direct formal contact with individuals or small groups. A safe method for County FAs sharing updates and arranging meetings

WhatsApp: Useful tool for quick updates and questions. The social media platform is increasingly popular for conversation and group chat.

More time will be spent and invested whilst away from the group through individual actions and experiences. Safe and accessible online platforms can be created and used to maintain conversation, updates and key actions.

Relevant Learning – Relevant and engaging learning as a core element within the season's plan, enabling individual and group development

The purpose of Youth Leadership and Engagement programmes has been described within two core parts, for young people to have an impact within the game across business objectives and to develop the future workforce. As a development programme, across the term of your Youth Council learning and development opportunities are encouraged to support the growth of members as leaders and people. The needs of the individuals and group should drive the learning content and opportunities created to ensure they are relevant and of value.

Across the Youth Council network there is seen to be several methods and practices in place, giving ownership to members to take a lead on their own learning supported by the County FA. Resource and time demand is apparent, considerations around enhancing learning and development is coming more to the fore.

Youth Council Action Planning: Purpose and Templates

Action Planning & Group Purpose

In support of the County FA Youth Council Terms of Reference, enclosed are two action planning tools which can be used to support the planning and delivery of County FA Youth Council activity. The FA utilises the VMOST (Vision, Mission, Objectives, Strategy, Tactics) format to identify a clear structure ensuring that all work to be completed clearly supports the over-arching vision and mission. A VMOST would be helpful for Youth Councils to define their purpose and reason for existing, working into activities which can then be split across the team to take responsibility.

Vision

This should be an aspirational statement for what you want to work of the Youth Council to achieve in the longer term.

For example, this is The FA's vision for women's and girls' football: Whether competitively or recreationally, to be the no.1 team sport of choice for every girl and woman in England.

Everyone should feel they have a part to play in your vision. It should be clear, but ambitious.

Mission

This should describe the everyday work that, if you do it brilliantly, will achieve your vision:

For example, here's a mission statement from an overseas FA: We develop, promote and protect football to ensure everyone can participate, compete and enjoy our national game, leading to strong club football and international success.

A bit wordy, but it says what they exist to do.

Objective(s)

These should be tangible and accurately describe key areas of work which are part of your mission and will also help achieve the vision. They should adhere to the SMART Principle:

- Specific – a clear goal you want to achieve;
- Measurable – in a definitive or quantifiable method;
- Achievable – the objective must be achievable within the time-frame provided;

- Responsibility-assigned – identify the person responsible for managing the work needed to achieve the objective;
- Time-bound – has a target completion date.

And often an extra 'S' is added – for 'Stretching'. i.e. objectives shouldn't be easy to achieve. They should be challenging.

Tip: Always start an objective with the word 'To'.

A good, simple example is: To double commercial revenues by 2024.

It's Specific, Measurable and Time-bound. You then need to decide if your objective(s) are Achievable and then assign Responsibility in each case.

Strategy

There should be a separate strategy for each objective and describe how you will achieve it.

Tip: Always start each strategy point with the word 'By'.

For example, taking the objective above, you may have the following strategies:

- By increasing all the values of our sponsorship agreements by 20% upon next renewal;
- By reviewing our current commercial agreements and creatively establishing new opportunities for revenue-generation;
- By appointing an external, commission-based sales team.

Tip: Always start each strategy point with the word 'By'.

Tactics

These are the very detailed ways in which you will deliver each of your strategies. In effect, these become main elements in your Action Plan (see below).

For example, it's clear that several activities would need to take place to ensure each of the strategies above are enacted.

Tip: Football matches provide a great parallel when thinking about objectives, strategy and tactics:

- Objective: To win our match v.
- Strategy: By playing a 4-4-2 formation
- Tactics:
 - Flood the midfield in the first 20 minutes;
 - Encourage wing-backs to get forward as much as possible;
 - Cut off the supply to their main playmaker [insert name]

This also reveals a truth about objectives, strategy and tactics. Objectives don't change unless there's a really, really good reason, i.e. you're 2-0 down with 15 minutes left and you just want to try and salvage a draw.

But strategy and tactics can, and frequently do, change. For example, you may find your 4-4-2 formation is not working, so you need to switch to another one to combat the opposition. Similarly, such strategic changes will inevitably lead to tactical changes.

Exploring a VMOST will allow for clarity in thinking, and the ability to develop a wider purpose for the Youth Council, highlighting clear strategies and activities which will be delivered. Although this would be a VMOST for the Youth Council, the creation would allow for the opportunity to co-create with the County FA to ensure all work undertaken is aligned to County FA priorities.

Once strategies and tactics have been agreed, the County FA Youth Council – Action Plan Template (see next page) can be compiled to identify key actions and timelines for delivery.

The County FA Youth Council – Action Plan template can be transferred onto SmartSheet or Google Sheets for cross-collaboration and easy access for Youth Council members and staff when required.

As you'll see, the Youth Council – Action Plan Template on the next page is split into sections to identify:

Objective:

What are the key objectives of the Youth Council, as identified within the VMOST.

Youth Council Lead:

Who is responsible and the main point of contact for this project/area of work?

Tactics:

What are the actions that need to be completed to achieve the strategies in the VMOST?

Date of Completion:

When are these actions, and overall objectives intended to be completed?

Current Progress/Position:

What has been achieved/completed so far? What is the current position of the project/area of work including any updates?

Failure to attend this training will lead to suspension of role until such a time when the induction has been completed.

The FA Safeguarding Code of Conduct is to be signed by all members and adhered to at all times.

Further information on dealing with safeguarding concerns can be found at TheFA.com/football-rules-governance/safeguarding/section-2-reporting-concerns. You should also familiarise yourself with Guidance note 4 on page 255, which gives a template for a County FA Equality Policy.

4. Confidentiality

You must ensure that you handle confidential information in accordance with the law and with regard to the best interests and reputation of the County FA. You must not use confidential information for private purposes to harm the County FA or to maliciously damage the reputation of others or disclose confidential information to the media or any other third party. This obligation continues after you cease to be a Youth Council Member.

Confidential information is any information which comes into your possession as a result of your County FA role which you know or ought reasonably to know is confidential. This does not preclude members of Council from properly consulting with the bodies which appoint them about policy matters which come before Council or any Committee of Council.

5. Press and Media

You are not entitled to discuss any County FA business with the press or wider media on behalf of the County FA, unless it is explicitly part of your remit as a Youth Council Member.

You agree to abide by the Communications Protocol set out in Guidance notes 1 and the end of this Appendix. If you receive any enquiries from the press or wider media about the County FA which asks for the views of the County FA you agree not to comment and to pass on the relevant information as soon as reasonably practicable to the County FA members of staff supporting The Youth Council. If you are representing the views of another body as opposed to the County FA on a matter affecting the County FA, this must be made clear to the media.

6. Social Media

The County FA must ensure that confidentiality and its reputation are protected. It therefore requires employees using social networking and/or blogging websites to:

- Ensure that they do not conduct themselves in a way that is detrimental to the County FA including; sharing confidential or sensitive information; using abusive or vulgar language; re-posting or re-tweeting inappropriate content and use of derogatory language to County FA associates including players or match officials.
- Take due consideration not to allow their interaction on these websites to damage working relationships between members of staff and clients/stakeholders of the County FA.

For full guidance on social media see Guidance note 2 at the end of this Appendix.

7. Conflicts of interest

Whilst you may properly be influenced by the views of others, including the body that has the right to appoint you as a Youth Council Member, it is your responsibility to objectively decide what view to take, and how to vote, on any question which the Council or committee has to decide. When taking such decisions, you agree to act in the best interests of the County FA and young people, you must fully declare all conflicts of interest in advance.

You may take part in the consideration of matters that come before Youth Council unless there is a conflict of interest between any personal or private interest (including those of connected persons) and the County FA's interest in the matter, in which case you should declare it and preclude yourself from participation. As well as avoiding actual impropriety, you should avoid any appearance of it.

Conflicts may arise not just around or in relevant meetings that you attend. A conflict of interest may exist through your external interests, appointments, employment or investments or those of members of your family or associated companies. You must ensure that you notify any actual or perceived conflicts of interest to the County FA member of staff supporting. If you are unsure of whether or not a conflict exists, you should raise this.

8. Diligence

You must be diligent in exercising your powers and carrying out your duties as a Youth Council Member, especially (but not limited to) preparing for and attending meetings. [Meeting dates are published well in advance and should, therefore take priority over other commitments]. We recognise that there may occasionally be unforeseen circumstances (such as illness) that may result in missing a meeting. Members should contact the Chairperson and/or supporting member of staff in such instances. It is also expected that members remain on-site for all meetings unless prior agreed.

For full guidance on attendance see Guidance note 5 at the end of this Appendix.

When representing The FA County FA Youth Council, you must ensure that you behave in a way that does not compromise the reputation of the group.

9. Expenses

Guidance note 1 – County FA Youth Council Communications Protocol

When making external public announcements the following Protocol must be followed:

- The press release or announcement should be approved by a supporting County FA member, preferably the CEO/or the Chairperson. When possible the expertise and support of the Marketing & Communications Officer/Lead should be used.
- The County FA is responsible for putting out the approved release via County FA official channels (e.g. County FA Websites and on Social Media platforms).
- The press release should be circulated as soon as reasonably practicable to the whole Youth Council and County FA Board members.
- No sub-committee of the Youth Council (whether individually or collectively) is to release a media statement without the matter being passed through this protocol.

Guidance note 2 – Social Media Policy

The County FA acknowledges that blogs and social networking sites provide individuals with a way of sharing their views, expressing their opinions and communicating in a global environment. When you choose to publish your opinions through a blog, social networking site or other openly accessible medium, you are legally responsible for those opinions. You should therefore be aware that you can be held personally responsible for any commentary that you post which may be deemed to be defamatory, obscene, discriminatory, libellous or proprietary (whether relating to the County FA, other individuals or any other organisation – including the County FA's customers and sponsors). In essence, what you publish or post on the Internet is at your own risk and other parties can pursue legal action against you personally for postings.

For these reasons, you should always take a cautious approach with regard to any material, remarks or characterisations that you post, ensuring that they are not defamatory, abusive, discriminatory, obscene, libellous or overtly derogatory or negative. You should also ensure that you have the right to use any copyright materials or any other intellectual property rights that you post.

Notwithstanding that you will be personally responsible for what you write or post, where the contents of what you post relates to your work (or work undertaken by others in the organisation), the County FA may also be vicariously liable for what you publish. You should therefore be aware that if you participate in certain activities (including outside of work) which the County FA considers inappropriate, given your role or position, you may be subject to disciplinary action, in accordance with the Disciplinary Policy. This includes posting inappropriate content on the Internet.

You may not post on the internet any photography or images of Wembley Stadium or St George's Park from areas not accessible by the general public and/or that would compromise security. You also must not post photographs or images which either as a result of your uniform, or location, identify you as a representative of the County FA. You should also ensure that you have the express consent to use any photographs of any employees and ex-employees of the County FA. This shall include current or ex Board and County FA Council members.

You may use photographs that are already in the public domain, to the extent that they or the use to which they are put does not bring the County FA into disrepute, and providing that such use is not in breach of any other part of this policy (including the above paragraph). For the safety of all those employed by the County FA, care must be taken in relation to the posting of personal data. Work based contact details must not be posted on sites used for non-work purposes. Permission must be sought from either the Legal, HR team or your Manager to post your own or colleagues work based contact details on the Internet.

Guidance note 3 – Betting & Gambling

Betting and gambling on the County FA premises is not allowed, including via the telephone or the Internet, except for occasional Sweepstake with the permission of your County FA staff member.

Additionally, you should not bet or gamble on any football related activity or issues where there may be, or may be reason to suspect, knowledge of confidential information due to your position at the County FA a potential conflict of interest.

We are sure you recognise that in some circumstances betting may result in unfavourable personal publicity, as well unfavourable publicity for the County FA and The FA. The passing of, or use of, confidential information due to your position at the County FA is prohibited. Any betting on football-related activities or issues could lead to suspicion of the use of such information. Such activity therefore must be avoided.

Unless it is your role to do so, it is a breach of contract to provide statistical or forecasting data to third parties for any purpose, particularly for any purpose involving gambling or betting. A breach of these requirements could result in disciplinary action up to and including summary dismissal.

Guidance note 4 – Equality Policy

As the governing body of English Football in [shire], the County FA is responsible for setting standards and values to apply throughout the game at every level. Football belongs to, and should be enjoyed by, anyone who wants to participate in it.

The County FA's commitment is to confront and eliminate discrimination whether by reason of gender, age, sexual orientation, gender re-assignment, marital status, race, nationality, ethnic origin, colour, religion or belief, ability or disability. The County FA is also committed to promoting equality by treating people fairly and with respect, by recognising that inequalities may exist, by taking steps to address them and by providing access and opportunities for all members of the community.

The aim of this policy is to ensure that everyone is treated fairly and with respect and that the County FA is equally accessible to them all.

The County FA will not tolerate harassment, bullying, abuse or victimisation of an individual, which for the purposes of this policy and the actions and sanction applicable is regarded as discrimination. This includes sexual or racially based harassment or other discriminatory behaviour, whether physical or verbal. The County FA will work to ensure that such behaviour is met with appropriate action in whatever context it occurs.

The County FA is committed to taking positive action where inequalities exist, and to the development of a programme of ongoing training and awareness raising events and activities in order to promote the eradication of discrimination and promote equality within football.

The County FA is committed to a policy of equal treatment of all employees and requires all employees to abide and adhere to these policies and the requirements of The Equality Act 2010 as well as any amendments to this act and any new legislation.

The County FA commits itself to the immediate investigation of any claims, when it is brought to their attention, of unacceptable behaviour or discrimination on the above grounds and where such is found to be the case, a requirement that the practice stop, and sanctions imposed as appropriate.

Guidance note 5 – Attendance Policy Policy Statement

The County Football Association has high expectations for all of its Youth Council members, and member attendance is closely linked to successful outcomes.

Attendance at all meetings, events and activities as organised by the County FA is considered critical in helping members achieve their full potential individually and collectively and for serving the local game effectively.

The County FA has a responsibility to know which members are attending and a duty of care for young adults when representing the County FA Youth Council.

The County FA also recognises the importance and positive impact that excellent attendance can have on a members' potential to develop, achieve and succeed.

It is therefore the responsibility of every member to attend all pre-organised dates as set out and communication at application stage and through any subsequent agreed amendments. Applying for the programme is considered a commitment by each member that they will participate fully in the scheduled programme.

Members should be punctual for all meetings and events and ready to contribute, demonstrating evidence of advance planning and self-management. The importance and expectations around attendance and punctuality will be communicated at induction stage (first meeting) and closely monitored.

Known (authorised) absence

The County FA recognises that in certain circumstances, some absences are unavoidable, and we endeavour to be caring and supportive towards individual cases.

Known absences may include;

- Illness
- Medical appointments which cannot be arranged outside of the scheduled programme
- A job interview
- Attendance at the funeral of a close relative
- Care responsibilities

The above is not an exhaustive list of known absences; the County FA reserves the right to decide what is and is not acceptable. In doing so, the County FA will consider what a reasonable employer would be prepared to accept.

Members may be asked on occasions to provide evidence for known absences.

Procedures for requesting absence

If members are unable to attend for any reason or need to miss any part of an arranged event, they must:

1. Contact the Chairperson in advance to request absence and where possible offer possible solutions.
2. Make any such requests at least two weeks in advance, wherever possible, to enable sufficient time for County FA staff to change plans, amend bookings and avoid unnecessary costs.
3. Propose the efforts to be made to catch up with missed involvement, at the time of request, and agree this with the Chairperson.

All members must recognise that, in signing this Code of Conduct, lateness and absenteeism will be challenged in a fair and appropriate manner.

Failure to attend without prior agreement will automatically result in the absence being considered as unauthorised and the Disciplinary Procedure may be used.

Programme Target

The minimum expectation for attendance will be [%] attendance from all pre-scheduled activities and events.

At quarterly intervals, attendance will form one of the Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) used as part of the quality monitoring and improvement process by managers.

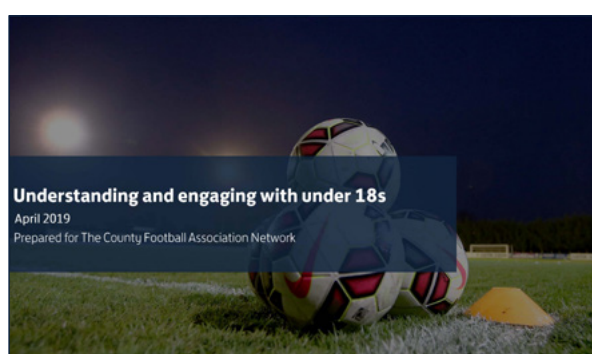

Attendance which falls below the programme target will be discussed with individuals.

Monitoring, Review and Evaluation

The County FA will review the Attendance Policy every two years or sooner to take account of any new guidance, member feedback or best practice documents.

Understanding and Engaging with Under-18s

TheFA
FOR ALL

This document draws together a synthesis of all The FA insight around young people

The purpose of this synthesis document is to align (and suggest actions) to CFAs on Area 3 of The FA Safeguarding Standards.

This document aims to provide a knowledge base for all CFAs, from which to action and implement local initiatives and plans that can successfully evidence (and be successful in achieving) the requirements detailed in Area 3.

Safeguarding Standard – Area 3: Listening to the voice and supporting under-18s

This requires CFAs to show how they create an inclusive culture for, engage with and listen to children.

It requires CFAs to show how they are increasingly putting the child and young person's voice more centrally in what they do, including demonstrating that they are starting to use their communication channels to engage children in a safe and effective way.

How this document should be used going forwards ...

The information provided in this document can be used to...

- Increase your understanding of the attitudes of young people in society
- Increase your understanding of the attitudes of young people towards football
- Comprehensively review the barriers, concerns, and influencing factors that should be considered to create a positive and suitable environment within the game
- Inform your work to achieve Safeguarding Standard – Area 3: Listening to the voice and supporting under-18s (slide 4)
- Check and challenge your existing initiatives (and general thinking) that encourage positive engagement and outcomes with young people in football within your county

However, by itself, this document cannot be used ...

- As evidence towards Safeguarding – Area 3.
- As a toolkit for achieving Safeguarding Standard – Area 3.

This document is designed to increase your knowledge base of young people to help shape future actions and initiatives.

Whilst the recommendations included within this document will not guarantee a CFA 'achieves alignment' to Area 3 of the 'safeguarding standards', the 'suggested actions' will provide guidance to all CFAs looking to implement local actions and initiatives within this area.

Internal primary data and wider secondary sources have been used throughout

This document has collated attitudes and opinions from over 6,000 children aged 5 to 18 years ...

sparkler nielsen mtm sport TheFA Bonamy Finch
FORESIGHT FACTORY YouthSight Manning Gottlieb d4 SPORT ENGLAND Ofcom

All information provided is based on 'England-wide' primary and secondary research

Unless otherwise stated all information and data references provided within this document has been collected within nationally representative samples of the England population aged 5 – 18 years.

Whilst the synthesised insight is at a national scale, due to strong regional consistency of the youth population (both in terms of their behaviours and attitudes), the recommendations provided here can be planned and delivered at a local level.

Touchstone reports in England do not highlight regional difference in their youth insights

Across all of our secondary data sources, the typical digital, communication, and recreational behaviours and attitudes of the youth population in England display similar trends.

Both Sport England and Ofcom reports of children aged under 18 (in England) reported no significant regional differences in the sporting and media behaviours of the children sampled.

Children's Media Literacy Audit

Understanding subtleties within the data

Within the majority of primary and secondary data utilised for this document, sample subtleties including LGBTQ+ and BAME were not present, and could not be analysed further.

Whilst not explicitly included here, these subtleties should be recognised, and are factors to consider, in the wider application of thinking - particularly when considering future initiatives for implementation.

Understanding subtleties within the data

Urbanicity (classification of urban v rural regions of England) is also an important subtlety within our insights that must be recognised.

Approximately 17% of the population in England live in an area classified as 'rural'. Whilst only small deviations exist between urban and rural regions within the data reported, wider considerations should be kept in mind when executing all future initiatives.

- Access to sporting facilities
- Access to transport / extra requirements of transport
- Digital access and quality of coverage

Understanding under 18s

This document examines and explores three child age groups in detail

5 - 11 years
Primary School
'The Introductory Years'

12 - 15 years
Secondary School
'Emotional Development'

16 - 18 years
Young Adults
'Demand of Time and Attention'

12

Insight across all three age groups are based on robust sample sets

5 - 11 years
A total of 1,646 respondents across 6 research studies

12 - 15 years
A total of 3,870 respondents across 7 research studies

16 - 18 years
A total of 971 respondents across 5 research studies

This report collates the voice of young people, in some cases we have included the thoughts of their parents, however in these instances has provided further context to the insight already gathered from children – rather than in place of their feedback.

There is a common 'football evolution' that takes places across these age groups

Whilst the types of football participation are consistent between boys and girls, the trajectory of the evolution is often slower (i.e. new forms of football are introduced later) amongst girls

Wider cultural development is also taking place

It is not just a child's football participation and engagement that evolves over time, a wider cultural and social development is also taking place across a number of areas:

- The importance (and number) of wider activities and interests (aside from football)
- The role of digital and media in their lives
- Their communication in terms of devices, platforms, and channels utilised
- The role and importance of people in their lives

These wider areas of development are also covered within the subsequent sections of this document.

5-11 years: The Introductory Years

Children are doing things for the first time, starting to develop their interests and hobbies. It's at this point that willingness and openness to try new things is at its highest.

The majority of 5-11 year old players play football weekly, with many doing so at school as part of P.E. or an after school activity

Schools could be a critical pathway to create engagement with 5-11 year olds outside of school

Across boys and girls, the primary reason for playing football is to have fun

Specific motivations for playing football vary across the age range and between boys and girls but for all, the perception of football is a key driver

"I play football because it's fun and exciting, it lets me spend time with my friends and make new ones"

Spending time with friends and an established passion for football as a hobby from a young age are also important motivations for participation

"Football is my favourite sport and any chance I have to play it I will"

Parents also see the wider benefits, with 42% likely to encourage their children to play due to the associated health and fitness benefits and personal development that comes with being involved in a team sport

Football has to be fun to compete with wider activities/interests of this age group

- Children aged 5-11 are most open to trying new activities, with parents, teachers, siblings and friends often introducing new pursuits to consider
- As a result, football is competing with a number of different activities which can vary across boys and girls
- Children's awareness of their own preferences also develops as they grow older, with 10-11 year olds much more aware of their own preferences compared to their 5 year old self

Football needs to be fun first and foremost to engage this cohort but also be social, interactive and accessible to take advantage of the willingness of this group to try something new

It is also important to promote football and engage children before they reach 9/10 years so as not to miss this crucial opportunity

Evidence also suggests that engagement at this age can lead to wider engagement with the professional and international game

This further reinforces the importance of engaging the 5-11 cohort, not only to increase participation but to promote and increase engagement with the game overall

Barriers to participation are most significant amongst girls (rather than boys) in this particular age bracket

- Girls in this age bracket enjoy and want to play football however can be faced with a number of barriers to participation:
 - Gender stereotypes can be a reason enough not to engage
 - Opportunities to play more formally are dominated by boys
 - Lack of awareness of girls' football clubs / offerings for girls
 - Perceived lack of skill to play 'properly' / lack of confidence
- Parents can also create barriers, despite supporting their daughter's interest and desire to play football:
 - Football is considered a very physical game
 - Football is more of a Dad and son thing
 - Playing football at a club is a serious commitment; parents can be reluctant to put too much pressure on their daughters at this age

Overcoming these barriers is of paramount importance to engaging girls of this age, and their parents. The SSE Wildcats programme is an example of how to overcome these barriers.

Digital and media consumption is becoming increasingly important for 5-11s

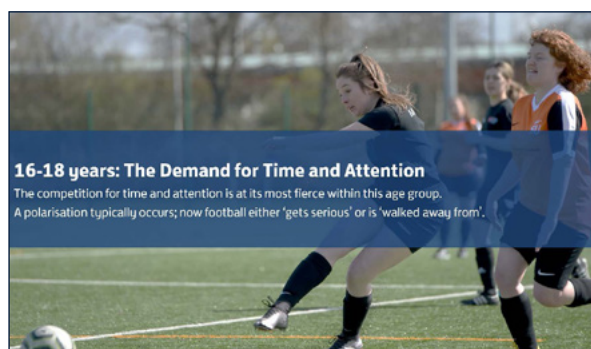

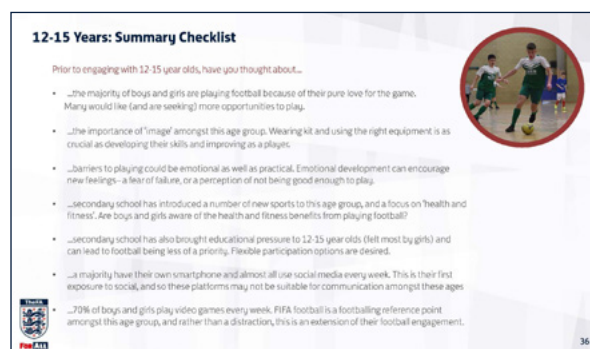

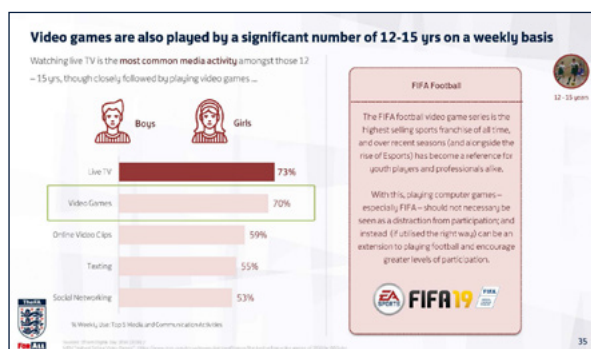

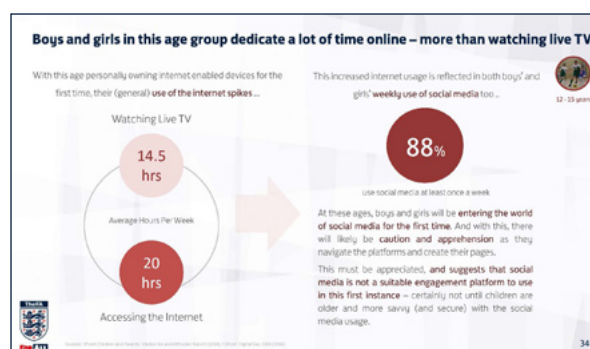

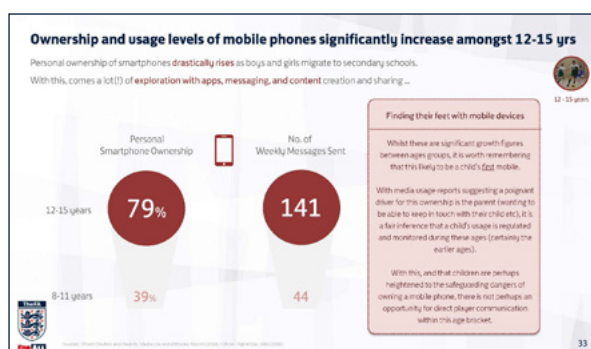

There is an opportunity to apply and harness this engagement to how this age group engage with football i.e. sharing / creating football YouTube clips, digital apps (such as The FA SuperKicks) to tap into and align with existing digital behaviours

16-18 years: The Demand for Time and Attention

The competition for time and attention is at its most fierce within this age group. A polarisation typically occurs; now football either 'gets serious' or is 'walked away from'.

Emotional growth means 'competition' overtakes 'fun' as the key motivation for playing

16-18 years

At these young adult ages, polarisation and differentiation based on ability and talent is evident. Natural streaming in these areas creates two player scenarios...

Unsuccessful Players / Teams High Potential to Lapse	Successful Players / Teams Low Potential to Lapse
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Still competing in leagues and competitions, but enjoyment and fun is compromised. As teams drop down the leagues, players lose interest and commitment. Vulnerable to lapsing as a lack of emotional reward is noticed. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Their initial love for the game is sustained as their teams have success and progress. An anticipation and desire to play, with an adult FC team is naturally created. Good managers and coaches play a valuable role throughout.

The 11-a-side Aspiration

Small sized and school based football are typically seen as more "informal" formats, which naturally encourages a view of 11-a-side (League and Cup) football as the most "proper" and "professional".

For players, 11-a-side competitive football becomes the benchmark - where their kits, referees, assistant referees etc. it's the aspirational format players have been working towards from a young age.

However the 11-a-side format exacerbates the two player / team scenarios as football becomes less rewarding for all but the best and most committed.

At these ages, if football doesn't fulfil a player, there's plenty elsewhere to grab attention

Health, Fitness and Fun	With team sports demanding consistent commitment (and with a growing focus towards their health), 16-18 yrs often turn to solo sports such as golf, gym, and cycling, as they offer more relevant reward for less commitment and effort.
Education and Schooling	Entering their last schooling years before university, many 16-18 yrs begin to prioritise their school / college work over other commitments. Activities and interests must fit around their educational demands to be sustained.
Teenage Independence	By reaching their latter teenage years, many of the things 16-18 yrs used to play football for such as socialising and having fun with friends are now offered in other (more appealing) areas, that require less regular commitment.
Employment: Part & Full Time	With their lifestyles beginning to demand a small income, a number of 16-18 yrs will enter part time (sometimes full-time) employment in order to support this - allowing less time for football and other activities and interests.

These 4 football participation barriers perhaps come together and contribute to the most common reason for this age group not playing football, "lack of time"...

"(Playing football) just took all my time. I wasn't just the Sunday games it was the Wednesday and Saturday training. I had other things to do and no real time. If I'm honest, our team wasn't going anywhere as well."

Mark Palmer Player, 16 years

40

Those who have recently stopped playing football do "miss it" in their lives

Within some of our most recent qualitative work amongst 16-18 years who had recently stopped playing football, everyone we spoke to acknowledged that they miss playing football.

Though when asked if they would ever start playing football again, common barriers were highlighted:

- Those who originally stopped playing due to a lack of enjoyment felt like they wouldn't be able to "get back into the game and enjoy it" due to having "spent too much time out".
- Those whose circumstances had now changed (i.e. they had more time to commit) highlighted their biggest barrier as "having an opportunity to play adult football".

"I do miss it. It was fun and I wish I could go back to the times I was playing when I was younger. I'm not sure if I'll ever play for a club again though..."

There are retention considerations to appreciate amongst the 16-18 yrs age group

With this, key player retention considerations were highlighted (by both boys and girls) by those with low and high propensity to lapse...

Successful Players / Teams Low Potential to Lapse	Unsuccessful Players / Teams High Potential to Lapse
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Keep the competitiveness. At these ages, boys are playing the most 'proper' football ever. Ensuring a professional execution at all times (including equipment, coaching, and officiating) will maintain the competitive nature desired. Pathway into adult football. Provide boys at this age a clear pathway into the next stage of their football career. Equality to the boys. Girls at this age want to emulate, and surpass, their male counterparts and an equal provision of resource (particularly coaching) can enable this. Actively working with other teams and organisations to make sure there is continued appetite for fixtures, leagues, and cups. Pathway for continued play. Provide girls at this age a clear pathway (and how they can successfully negotiate this pathway) to carry on playing football. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Making football fun again. 16-18 yrs often cite a compromised level of enjoyment - a core reason for starting to play. Creating an atmosphere that is light-hearted and relaxed could help bring the fun back. Offering flexibility. With their increasingly busy lives, a flexible (but still accessible) approach to sessions that do not require long-term sign-up can be an option. Continuing to provide girls with an opportunity to play. Ensuring there is dedicated, consistent, resource (coaching, referees etc) for girls only (not mixed) teams. Encouraging a girls' desire to play with regular rewards and incentives. Good performance either individually, or within their team, should be recognised regularly. A suitable environment, including defining skill levels, thinking carefully about format, and fostering inclusivity at every stage.

Effective communication to 16-18 yrs is fundamental to encouraging participation

It is at this young adult age, that boys and girls are using a social media platform "almost daily". By harnessing the most suitable platform for the communication needed, direct-to-player contact can be utilised with the player's and parent's consent.

94% 16-18 yrs in England personally owns a mobile phone

Potential Communication Opportunity

- WhatsApp and Facebook Messenger are commonly used platforms for messaging bigger groups, and (with the necessary player and parent permissions) represent an opportunity for football teams communications.
- Twitter used least amongst this age group, and typically as a source or by when it is opened.

One of the most common social media activities is watching short form video content

Over half of those aged 16-18 years in England use social media to consume 'Short Online Clips' (the highest ranked activity).

Whether through YouTube or native media players within the Snapchat, Facebook, and Instagram platforms, boys and girls extend their engagement with their favourite interests by watching 0-5 minute videos.

The sharing or recommendation of football based video content should be considered to encourage more engagement with football amongst players - particularly those with high potential to lapse.

Whilst more independent, parents still play a 'facilitator' role within 16-18 yrs' lives

When discussing the footballing worlds in more detail, boys and girls players provided interesting insight into the roles of people in their lives...

Coaches	Friends	Parents
"The Gatekeepers" All expressed how important coaches were in their footballing world. A committed coach would encourage more commitment from them in return, and as a person who can shape their future football endeavours, coaches were held in high regard by all players.	"The Confidantes" At this age, friends and friendships groups have become close over time. Friends now share many of the same passions and interests - including football - and so teams are frequently made up of 1-2 sets of friends. Friends are perhaps the most trusted people in a 16-18 yrs world.	"The Facilitators" Whilst 16-18 yrs are quick to declare their independence, especially in footballing terms, boys and girls conceded that for the travel, cost, and equipment of their football, parents had a vital "facilitator" role - though in a more 'on demand' level than their earlier years.

16-18 Years: Summary Checklist

Prior to engaging with 16-18 year olds, have you thought about...

- ...football drop out rates are at their highest within this age group, due to a change in footballing experience and the appeal of wider activities.
- ...competition has overtaken 'fun' for many players. The most committed and skilled embrace this, those less skilled often take less enjoyment. Streaming skill levels could be important at these ages.
- ...11-a-side football is the most aspirational format for many, though it can also compromise the enjoyment and overwhelm those less committed and less talented.
- ...with more happening in 16-18 year old's lives (e.g. school work, employment), a significant barrier to playing football becomes a 'lack of time'. Flexibility in terms of playing and commitment is desired.
- ...social media and instant messaging platforms (with player and parent permission) can be effective communication tools. Both boys and girls regularly use these platforms to message bigger groups.
- ...coaches are well respected, and are often seen as the gatekeepers to future opportunities. Whilst this group have more independence - parents still have an important facilitator role to play too.

How to INCREASE ETHNIC DIVERSITY IN SPORTS LEADERSHIP

=SELeaderBoard=

Introduction

Achieving diversity is a perpetual challenge for the sport sector especially with current sports sector diversity audit results demonstrating an absence of ethnic diversity across both senior management and board positions. [The Black Asian and Minority Ethnic (BAME) population in the UK is 14 per cent however, latest audit figures suggest that less than 4 per cent of board positions are taken up by BAME members. With only one CEO and one Chair from a BAME background which is relatively disappointing in light of the increasing trends in BAME participation.]^{1,2} To help increase numbers and develop a more thoughtful approach in organisations, it is important to have good systems in place for trustee/board recruitment, selection, induction and training to help engage a wider pool of talent with new skills to enhance the world of sports organisations.

Diversity encompasses a range of factors including race, age, gender, education and socio-economic background which all shape behaviour and identity allowing individuals to share their expertise and skills with organisations. However this resource specifically focuses on ethnic diversity in light of the growing diversity of the population within the UK and its under representation in sport administration.

- An ethnically diverse workforce will help make the sports sector more receptive to the needs of the communities they work with and encourage more people to engage with sport.
- Diversity should be linked closely with the overall business strategy of the organisation rather than just an add-on and should permeate through all aspects of the business.
- Increased BAME involvement in sport is likely to be influenced by visible involvement of BAME individuals at the highest levels.
- BAME involvement is likely to open up new network opportunities and markets for sport.

This resource has been developed to help support the sports sector to attract BAME candidates who are traditionally underrepresented and provide advice and guidance to help embed a culture of change within the sector.

The launch of this resource is timely in light of the recently launched code for sports governance which identifies that diversity in sports sector boardrooms is still an issue and requires sustainable change and sets out some key principles in relation to a commitment towards achieving greater diversity which is highlighted in section 8 of the toolkit resource.

‘To harness the potential of an increasingly diverse market, the Boardroom must not only understand diversity, but reflect it. That means increasing boardroom diversity in the same ways we strive to do so across all business ranks, including development, awareness and inclusion programs’.

The Case for Diversity

Tackling ethnic diversity at the board level will help bring in new perspectives, voices, insight, knowledge and networks enabling the board to work together to find more diverse solutions and innovative ideas. For many sports boards and bodies the most compelling reason for diversifying is that a strategically diverse governing body has the power to serve beneficiaries more effectively.

It is often our natural tendency to recruit in our own image, to make assumptions about others' career aspirations, to put a team together based on who we know rather than looking more widely for talent. Those who are members of BAME groups are often quite different to the make-up of existing senior executives in sport and even though they have the capability they may have been missed or be unable to make progress. These are often the result of unconscious biases and actions, but they significantly contribute to preventing people from different backgrounds gaining entry to the sports sector.

National Governing Body (NGB) boards face special challenges when they recruit from certain groups. A lot of individuals from BAME backgrounds may hold preconceptions that they may not fit in. They do not have enough knowledge about the sports sector and the male dominated nature of sport can make sport an unwelcoming environment. Recruitment strategies, therefore, need to focus on the skills of the individual rather than on different ethnic backgrounds, using language which enables someone new to feel that they would fit in. Transition routes into leadership should consider mentoring and shadowing pathways which allow people to gain insight into sports development and board strategies before appointments are made.

We have made some progress on gender diversity but still have a lot to do to represent ethnic and cultural diversity. In this toolkit, we set out a series of recommendations, which we hope will provide a starting point to work towards a more inclusive sector and the ambitions highlighted in the new sports governance code.

The problem is exacerbated by the fact that 81% of charities practise recruiting of trustees by word of mouth or personal recommendation.’³

‘Diversifying boards makes good business sense. Research shows they make for better decision making and are more profitable. Diversifying the top positions in sport will therefore be a win win, meaning a more diverse range of people will participate and sport will make a substantially greater financial contribution to our country.’

Planning for Change

Some NGB boards already accept the need for becoming more ethnically diverse and inclusive, based on their individual visions and values, whilst others require a more concerted effort to convince them of the necessity for change. To drive commitments and action, it is necessary to develop a plan that includes strategies, concrete goals, objectives, tasks, and a timeline. Boards are more likely to focus on an issue if an official goal or policy exists to help drive through change.

Overcoming barriers to achieving greater diversity on boards and developing inclusive capabilities will require many organisations to introduce change. This may affect how they recruit, develop and promote staff, as well as how they bid for (and undertake) client work. The changes needed will not only affect processes and procedures, but they will also have an impact on behaviour at work.

All of this needs to be owned and championed from the very top, by partners and leaders. You should;

- Ensure that all internal staff involved in the recruitment process, from senior management to line managers, have received training on diversity issues (especially around unconscious bias) and understand and support the commitment to diversity – so that your message/brand is communicated consistently to the market.
- Ensure that you clearly communicate your commitment to diversity (including the business case for diversity) and interest in a rich, diverse pool of candidates to all internal key stakeholders as well as your recruitment partners.
- Ensure that diversity is an integral and important part of the briefing process to recruiting partners, and that departments are proactive in managing this process and relationship.
- Enter into an open, honest dialogue and partnership with your recruitment partner/agency to improve the calibre and diversity of the candidates provided.
- Monitor the diversity of candidates and actual recruitment on a regular basis.⁵
- Work closely with agencies with expertise on diversity for advice and support (e.g. Sporting Equals).

How Can You Increase Diversity?

There is no “right” answer on diversity that is appropriate for every organisation. Discussion is itself an important process through which an NGB board can consider in what ways diversity may be important in achieving its mission and in engaging with diverse communities. Here are some practical ideas to help organisations get a more diverse mix of senior leadership:

Diversify Recruitment Strategies – To achieve a different result, recruitment should cast a wide net and look at non-traditional forms of recruitment through ethnic media, online/social media, (app alerts, Facebook) and BAME voluntary/third sector.

Make use of specialist job boards targeted at local BAME communities and explore advertising on social media focusing on the type of person you’d like to attract. Contact Sporting Equals to help send out e-alerts, connect the sector with ethnic media alongside using the SE-Leaderboard interface and Sporting Equals website to advertise vacancies. This needs to be a long term commitment rather than a ‘one off’ advert.

Marketing – Actively flag that you are looking for people with diverse life experiences of any age, experience or ethnic background to encourage people who may otherwise not be attracted to the sports sector. Use diverse imagery. Explain what is in it for them, what experience/skills they will gain to help generate interest. Focus on the skills needed for the role rather than the sector. Promote benefits and opportunities through ethnic media.

Training & experience – Advertise for interest and offer training to enable potential candidates to gain skills through shadowing or mentoring which may help encourage them to apply. To better integrate new members, incorporate informal social time and training on diversity and inclusiveness into board meetings and promote the need for diversity champions.

Process – Recruitment processes need to be reviewed more often. Make the application process clear, avoid long forms and offer additional support for people who may have language or other difficulties (someone may not be good on paper but could bring a wealth of knowledge through their experiences).

Try and make provision of adjustments for health, religion and cultural needs and ensure people are made aware of this. Make it easy for individuals to find out more information through a single point of contact who can answer any questions and offer support to encourage individuals to apply. Sports Organisations should mandate unconscious bias training to those with interviewing and recruitment responsibilities.

Unconscious bias – Applies to how we perceive other people. We're all biased and becoming aware of our own biases will help us mitigate them in the workplace. Unconscious perceptions govern many of the most important decisions we make and have a profound effect on the lives of many people in many ways.

No matter how unbiased we think we are, we may have subconscious negative opinions about people who are outside our own group. But the more exposed we are to other groups of people, the less likely we are to feel prejudice against them. Research shows that interviews are poor predictors of job performance because we tend to hire people we think are similar to us rather than those who are objectively going to do a good job.

We need to realise that everyone does not see the world the way we do and they may talk, dress or behave in a different way. We need to challenge ourselves to be less discriminatory and challenge negative stereotypes.

Cultivate Interest – When you have identified promising candidates, find ways to connect with them and cultivate their interest. Discuss board member expectations and responsibilities and how their contribution will make a difference. Tell prospective members why they are wanted and needed, invite questions, elicit their interest and offer appropriate support. Alternatively draw up a list of people such as active community representatives, BAME third sector - call them to a meeting over lunch to help explain your goals, and reasons why you are seeking to diversify, being explicit about what you are looking for people to do (rather than be) and get them to consider a role or recommend people who may fit into the role.

Create a pool of candidates – It is recommended that the sports sector create a pool of diverse board member candidates as often the sector is likely to approach the “usual suspects” who travel in their same social circles resulting in a similar pool of candidates without much variation. With support, Sporting Equals can set up a sport sector member initiative to help match interview ready BAME professionals with potential board vacancies.

Set limits for Trustee and Directors terms – This is essential to ensure length of service is straightforward and that Trustees and Directors don't become entrenched or burnt out. In addition, setting in place standard procedures for Trustee and Director recruitment and induction can ensure that your organisation is consistently striving to increase diversity.

Policies – Have clear policies for expenses (such as travel), childcare and arrangements for translators/ interpreters, prayer facilities, understand fasting and other needs of diverse groups. Make sure venues for meetings are in locations which are accessible by public transport and ensure roles are flexible so people can fit meetings in around personal arrangements.

Ensure staff are trained in this area and set objectives to diversify recruitment targets – Ensure this is monitored regularly. Planning for change is just as important as recruitment to ensure an inclusive workplace which promotes equality of opportunity.

Positive Action

Positive action is one way of trying to counteract disadvantage by providing under-represented or disadvantaged groups with help to ensure they have as much of an equal chance as others. Any use of positive action is entirely voluntary. Positive action does not mean people will be employed or promoted simply because they share a protected characteristic. Positive action creates a level playing field ensuring that all applicants are treated in an equal way or treated differently, depending on their needs, to preserve equal treatment and recruitment based on merit.

In recruitment, the Equality Act 2010 allows positive action before or at the application stage. The steps could include encouraging particular groups to apply, or helping people who share particular protected characteristics to perform to the best of their ability (for example, by giving training or support not available to other applicants before the actual official application or recruitment phase). In contrast, positive discrimination is prohibited in employment. Positive discrimination is treating a person more favourably solely because they have a relevant protected characteristic or are from a particular equality group. Positive discrimination is unlawful in Great Britain, but there are some limited exceptions to this rule. For example, it is not unlawful for an employer to treat a disabled person more favourably in comparison with a non-disabled person (see section 13(3) of the Act).

Race is a particularly sensitive area and positive action initiatives related to race may be perceived differently to positive action in other areas, for example gender. Positive action means that it is not unlawful discrimination to take special measures aimed at alleviating disadvantage or under representation. This does not mean that your institution should not consider introducing them, but that you will need to consider how they are introduced and ensure:

- BAME staff and volunteers are involved in the development of any positive action initiatives.
- Your organisation considers the communication and implementation of positive action so a culture of change is embedded through the organisation, as well as the initiative itself.
- Additional support around positive action is available through Sporting Equals.

Positive action by the Football League⁶

The English Football League (EFL) has introduced a proposal to increase the number of BAME coaches. The new measures, which will take immediate effect, include the introduction of mandatory new recruitment practices for coaching positions in Academy football and a Voluntary Recruitment Code in first team football, which will be piloted by at least 10 clubs during 2016/17. EFL have agreed at least one suitably qualified BAME candidate will be interviewed for academy jobs, if they receive an application. A further 10 clubs have volunteered to extend the job position to first-team roles within the club.⁷

Evaluation

Boards need a way to ensure their diversity efforts are working. A diversity strategy should be put in place which should include clearly defined criteria, which can be used to measure how successful a scheme has been and a schedule for review. Diversity measures should be set as part of this strategy and time set aside for a scheduled review to determine whether goals have been met; Has the board successfully changed its composition? What effect has this had on board policy, programmes and the organisation overall? The review should also capture the organisation's experiences so far, highlight what has been learnt and point out problems. The findings of this review should feed into service development plans, informing the criteria for greater diversification to other volunteer and staff roles within the sporting infrastructure.

Conduct exit interviews to further assess your progress and identify areas where you could improve. Administer board self-assessments which include questions related to diversity strategies and goals. Conduct a survey for staff, constituents, and stakeholders about their perceptions of the organisation's culture of inclusiveness.

An external review can be a good way to reflect on governance and help the board change practices. Boards should periodically carry out a board evaluation including skills of the board members. Meaningful change in board composition, dynamics, and culture will not occur overnight. It takes time and commitment. Creating a climate for change through ongoing communication and engagement of the board in the process will help sustain your efforts and overcome resistance along the way.

‘Being able to draw upon a diverse set of competencies and knowledge is essential if boards are to successfully address the complex issues that companies face.’⁹

Learning from other sectors

Harvard Business School indicates that the benefit of racial diversity alone, conducted correctly, pays off not just in a better company, but a more productive one. In new research that focuses specifically on racial diversity, they found measurable performance benefits when work groups chose to learn from members' different experiences rather than ignore or suppress them.

Comparing 450 bank branches of a single organisation, a large commercial bank in the northeast U.S. discovered that when work groups actively acknowledge and engage with their different members in a way that fostered learning, they performed better as well.¹⁰

The Parker Review¹¹ identifies clear business reasons for increasing diversity on UK boards, highlighting that understanding and responding to cultural and demographic change is a major commercial imperative. It examines the BAME representation in the boardrooms across the FTSE100 companies which are disproportionately low and makes the case for Boards to reflect the make-up of an increasingly diverse society.

The report identifies that successful companies will need to attract, retain and promote the best talent available, irrespective of nationality, gender, religion, ethnic background and any other perceived difference from the "mainstream". It is clear that in order to achieve this success, companies must reflect the values of their stakeholders and also project these values externally.

The report focuses on how important it is for Boards of all UK companies to focus on employee development and their executive pipeline with an enhanced focus on ensuring appropriate representation from BAME candidates, as well as other relevant diverse cohorts.

'Directors will need to become more culturally aware, more tuned in and more knowledgeable about human behaviours and relationships.'

11. A Report into the Ethnic Diversity of UK Boards, Sir John Parker, The Parker Review Committee, 2 November 2016

McKinsey has been examining diversity in the workplace for several years. The latest report, Diversity Matters, examined proprietary data sets for 366 public companies across a range of industries in Canada, Latin America, the United Kingdom, and the United States. He found that:

- Companies in the top quartile for racial and ethnic diversity are 35 percent more likely to have financial returns above their respective national industry medians.
- Companies in the bottom quartile both for gender and for ethnicity/race are statistically less likely to achieve above-average financial returns than the average companies in the data set (that is, bottom-quartile companies are lagging rather than merely not leading).
- Racial and ethnic diversity has a stronger impact on financial performance in the United States than gender diversity, perhaps because earlier efforts to increase women's representation in the top levels of business have already yielded positive results.
- In the United Kingdom, greater gender diversity on the senior-executive team corresponded to the highest performance uplift in our data set: for every 10 percent increase in gender diversity, earnings before interest and tax (EBIT) rose by 3.5 percent.

The Race Equality Charter aims to improve the representation, progression and success of BAME staff and students within higher education. It's a framework through which institutions self-reflect on institutional and cultural barriers. Member institutions develop initiatives and solutions for action, and can apply for a Bronze or Silver REC award, depending on their level of progress. The Charter principles identify:

1. Racial inequalities are a significant issue within higher education and racial inequalities manifest themselves in everyday situations, processes and behaviours.
2. UK higher education cannot reach its full potential until individuals from all ethnic backgrounds can benefit equally from the opportunities it affords.
3. In developing solutions to racial inequalities, it is important that they are aimed at achieving long-term institutional culture change.
4. People from different ethnic backgrounds have different experiences of, and outcomes from/within, higher education, and that complexity needs to be considered in analysing data and developing actions.
5. All individuals have multiple identities, and the intersection of those identities should be considered wherever possible.

A Code for Sports Governance

A Code for Sports Governance was launched by UK Sport and Sport England on the 31st October 2016 and requires that 'organisations seeking public funding for sport and physical activity must meet new gold standards of governance'. The Code will be mandatory from April 2017 and adopts a proportionate approach by creating three Tiers. Diversity in sports sector boardrooms is still an issue which requires sustainable change and improving this is one of the key themes in the Code, appearing in each Tier. The top Tier of the Code sets out requirements which highlight that organisations shall recruit and engage people with appropriate diversity, independence, skills, experience and knowledge to take effective decisions that further the organisation's goals.

The specific Tier 3 requirements on diversity state that each organisation shall:

(A) adopt a target of, and take all appropriate actions to encourage, a minimum of 30% of each gender on its Board; and (B) demonstrate a strong and public commitment to progressing towards achieving gender parity and greater diversity generally on its Board, including, but not limited to, Black, Asian, Minority Ethnic (BAME) diversity, and disability.

The reference to 'greater diversity' in the Code means not only the protected characteristics of the Equality Act 2010 (which are gender, age, disability, gender reassignment, race, sexual orientation, religion or belief, marriage and civil partnership and pregnancy and maternity) but also socio-economic background and diversity of thought.

'The new Governance Code is there to support organisations to develop through diversity of thought. We need to ensure we don't 'panic select' candidates. Many organisations may want to change overnight however, this process does take time. Organisational commitment and internal promotion of diversity is key.'

Arun Kang, CEO, Sporting Equals

Recommendations

- Diversity should be linked closely with the overall business strategy of the organisation rather than just seen as a Human Resources function, or tick box exercise.
- Strategies should be sustainable and developmental; seen as a continual work-in-progress with goals and a tailored action plan to monitor progress.
- The sector needs to move away from common practice around recruiting by word of mouth or personal recommendation.
- HR and recruitment teams should seek to identify potential qualified BAME candidates to be considered for Board appointments when vacancies occur.
- In light of the code for sports governance open commitments are required from existing chairs, boards and executives and change of policies to help attract, develop and retain the best talent, whatever their background or difference.
- There is a need to support mentoring and work shadow programmes to ensure a reflective diversity to assume senior managerial or executive positions internally, or non-executive Board positions externally and plan for the future.
- Sports organisations should encourage and support candidates drawn from diverse backgrounds, to take on Board roles internally where appropriate, as well as Board and trustee roles with external organisations (e.g, educational trusts, charities and other not-for-profit roles). These opportunities will give experience and develop leadership and management skills.
- There is a need to monitor and publish information (approved by the Board) about work to foster all aspects of diversity within its leadership and decision making, including an annual update on progress against actions. This will help publicise a wider commitment of the organisation to this agenda.
- There is a need to carry out board self evaluations to identify gaps and plan for the future.

‘Currently, there are too few ethnic minorities in prominent leadership positions across the majority of sectors in this country’,

Summary

We believe that the support of Government and regulatory bodies is essential to achieving progress in all aspects of diversity and social mobility, including the diversity in decision-making and leadership roles in the sports sector. The new code for sports governance is a step in the right direction however it will take a concerted effort from everyone in the sector to use this as an opportunity and platform for long term vision and change.

Sporting Equals can help support organisations in these areas through its seleaderboard project and through supporting them with putting in place appropriate ethnic diversity strategies.

County FA Equality Policy – Template

Foreword by the Chair

The County Football Association are fully committed to ensuring at everyone can take part of football across the County in an enjoyable, friendly, safe and inclusive environment. Both the Board of Directors and staff believe that everyone should have the opportunity to be part of the football family, regardless of difference and we are working hard to ensure that this is a reality.

Our Equality Policy below confirms of clear commitment to equality and that we will take firm action if required against anyone who behaves in a way that is discriminatory.

[Insert name]

Chair, [insert County FA name]

[Insert month and year]

Policy Statement

[Insert name] County FA endorses the Principle of sports equality and will strive to ensure that everyone who wishes to be involved in football, whether as participants, team members, volunteers, coaches, referees, office-bearers or those within the County Football Association. We will ensure that everyone involved in football:

- Has a genuine and equal opportunity to participate to the full extent of their own ambitions and abilities, without regard to their age, sex, gender identity, disability, marital or civil partnership status, pregnancy or maternity, religion, race or ethnicity or sexual orientation;

The organisation takes a zero tolerance approach to harassment. Examples of the relevant legislation and the behaviours in question are given in the Additional Notes at the end of this Appendix.

Positive action

The Principle of equality goes further than simply complying with legislation. It allows the [insert name] County FA to take positive steps to counteract the effects of physical or cultural barriers – whether real or perceived – that restrict the opportunity for all sections of the community to participate equally and fully in football should they chose to.

[Insert name] County FA will therefore seek to institute, support or contribute to appropriate measures or initiatives that enable access to football and participation in associated activities by people from any group that is under-represented in the sport or has difficulty accessing it.

Implementation

The following steps will be taken to publicise this policy and promote equality in football:

- A copy of this document will be published on our website.
- The [insert name] County FA Chair will take overall responsibility for ensuring that the policy is observed.
- The Board of [insert name] County FA will take full account of the policy in arriving at all decisions in relation to activities of the County FA.
- County FA will collaborate fully with any surveys or other initiatives designed to assess the level of participation of different sections of the community in football and will take account of the findings in developing measures to promote and enhance equality for all involved in football.
- [Insert name] County FA Board, staff and Council members will undertake equality training and keep up to date with equality legislation.
- It will be a condition of [insert name] County FA affiliation that member clubs:
 - Formally adopt this policy, or produce their own equality and diversity policy in terms that are consistent with it;
 - Take steps to ensure that their Committees, members, players, coaches and volunteers behave in accordance with the policy, including where appropriate taking disciplinary action under the Club's constitution;
 - Ensure that access to membership is open and inclusive;
 - Support such measures and initiatives that [insert name] County FA may institute or take part in to advance the aims of this policy.
- It will be a condition of [insert name] County FA affiliation that individuals and members:

Responsibility, Monitoring and Evaluation

The Board will be responsible for ensuring the implementation of this policy.

The Board will review all [insert name] County FA activities and initiatives against the aims of the policy on an annual basis, and the Chair will report formally on this issue at the AGM.

The Board, or where appropriate a designated Equality Champion (who will be a Board member and representative of the Inclusion Advisory Group), will review any measures or initiatives that [insert name] County FA may institute or take part in to promote and equality in football across the County and will report their findings formally to the AGM annually.

The Board will review the policy annually (or more regularly due to changes in legislation) and will report with recommendations to the AGM.

Complaints and compliance

[Insert name] County FA regards all of the forms of discriminatory behaviour, including (but not limited to) behaviour described in the Appendix as unacceptable, and is concerned to ensure that individuals feel able to raise any bona fide grievance or complaint related to such behaviour without fear of being penalised for doing so.

Appropriate disciplinary action will be taken against any employee, Board or Council member, player, coach, referee or volunteer who breaches the County FA Equality Policy.

Any person who believes that he or she has been treated in a way that they consider to be in breach of this policy by a member club, individual, staff, Board or Council member should follow the County FA's complaints procedure. Anyone wishing to make a complaint should first complain to that person, organisation or club. If this does not resolve the matter, or in the case of allegations of discriminatory behaviour against [insert name] County FA staff, Board or Council members, the person may raise the matter by writing directly to the Chair. Please send all written correspondence to the office address.

The Chair will investigate the complaint personally or appoint a Board member to do so. The investigation will be conducted impartially, confidentially, and without avoidable delay. Any person or organisation against whom a complaint has been made will be informed of what is alleged and given the opportunity to present their side of the matter.

The outcome of the investigation will be notified to the parties in writing and reported to the [insert name] County FA Board. If the investigation reveals unacceptable discriminatory behaviour on the part of an individual or member club the Board may impose sanctions on that person or organisation in line with [insert name] County FA's Constitution. Sanctions may range from a written reminder concerning future conduct up to and including temporary or permanent suspension and expulsion from the County FA and any club or league that affiliates to it. In deciding what sanction is appropriate in a particular case the Board will consider the severity of the matter and take account of any mitigating circumstances.

Where the violation of the Equality Policy by way of harassment, victimisation or discrimination amount to a criminal offence, the Police or appropriate Authority will be informed.

In the event that an individual, club or league associated with [insert name] County FA is subject to allegations of unlawful discrimination in a court or tribunal, [insert name] County FA will co-operate fully with any investigation carried out by the relevant lawful authorities and, subject to the outcome, may consider taking further action in relation to the matter concerned.

Legal rights

Discrimination has been legally defined through a series of legislative acts, including the Race Relations Act, the Sex Discrimination Act, the Disability Discrimination Act and the Equality Act 2006.

In April 2010, the Equality Act 2010 received Royal Assent. The Equality Act 2010 is a law which harmonises where possible, and in some cases extends, protection from discrimination. It applies throughout the UK and came into force in October 2010.

Discrimination refers to unfavourable treatment on the basis of particular characteristics, which are known as the 'protected characteristics'. Under the Equality Act 2010, the protected characteristics are defined as age, disability, gender reassignment, marital or civil partnership status, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex (gender) and sexual orientation.

Under the Equality Act 2010, individuals are protected from discrimination 'on grounds of' a protected characteristic. This means that individuals will be protected if they have a characteristic, are assumed to have it, associate with someone who has it or with someone who is assumed to have it.

Forms of discrimination and discriminatory behaviour include the following:

Direct discrimination

Direct discrimination can be described as less favourable treatment on the grounds of one of the protected characteristics.

Indirect discrimination

Indirect discrimination occurs when a provision, criterion or practice is applied to an individual or group that would put persons of a particular characteristic at a particular disadvantage compared with other persons.

Discrimination arising from disability

When a disabled person is treated unfavourably because of something connected with their disability and this unfavourable treatment cannot be justified, this is unlawful. This type of discrimination only relates to disability.

Harassment

Harassment is defined as unwanted conduct relating to a protected characteristic that has the purpose or effect of violating a person's dignity, or which creates an intimidating or hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that person.

Victimisation

It is unlawful to treat a person less favourably because he or she has made allegations or brought proceedings under the anti-discrimination legislation, or because they have helped another person to do so. To do so would constitute victimisation.

Bullying

Bullying is defined as a form of personal harassment involving the misuse of power, influence or position to persistently criticise, humiliate or undermine an individual.

¹ The exception to this is pregnancy and maternity, which does not include protection by association or assumption – a woman is only protected from discrimination on grounds of her own pregnancy.

Foreword

In its Sporting Future strategy, the Government has set out an ambition to ensure that everyone can benefit from the power of sport. More needs to be done, not just to get more people taking part, but to harness sport's unique power to change people's lives for the better. Diversity should be at the heart of achieving this aim.

Greater diversity in sport means increasing organisational membership, creating larger talent pools for elite performance, greater social inclusion and improved health and wellbeing. Diversity is not only needed at a participant level, but also within the decision-making bodies of the sports sector. Like all good businesses, greater diversity provides a broader range of opinions to improve decision-making and create a better environment for constructive and open debate.

It has been recognised that sport still has a long way to go to achieve the diversity that will strengthen the sector. While many sporting organisations have made great progress to ensure that they have diverse boards, figures from the 2016 Women in Sport Leadership audit tell us that less than 30% of board members in total across all our funded sports are female and just 26 out of 601 board positions (4%) are filled with representatives from BAME communities. We also know that approximately 6% of board members are disabled, in contrast to statistics which suggest up to 20% of the population have a disability or life limiting illness. It is likely that the LGBTQ+ community is similarly under-represented within sport boards.

Nick Bitel,
Chair,
Sport England

In response to the Government's Sporting Future strategy, Sport England and UK Sport are now working together to tackle this issue. The Code for Sports Governance sets out the levels of governance, transparency, and accountability required from those who receive funding from Sport England and UK Sport from April 2017. It outlines new gold standards in governance, which include increasing diversity within the leadership of sporting organisations.

Sport England and UK Sport understand the need for specific diversity provisions, outlined in Requirements 2.1 to 2.3 of the Code. Implemented together with the broader Code Requirements, these will bring about significant change, creating more open and diverse organisations.

Sport England and UK Sport, through the Diversity Working Group, commissioned Inclusive Boards, to develop a Diversity Action Plan template. This document sets out initial guidance to help funded organisations to think about, and create a first draft of, a diversity action plan. We recognise that more support is needed and we will be developing further tailored and specific support on diversity action plans, and on work around recruitment, engagement and the progression of talent from within, so that organisations develop and implement meaningful Diversity Action Plans that will have a positive long-lasting impact on sport.

Katherine Grainger,
Chair,
UK Sport

Chapter 1: Introduction

Purpose

In April 2017, Sport England and UK Sport launched a new mandatory Code for Sport Governance ("the Code") for organisations in receipt of government funding for sports projects from either UK Sport or Sport England.

Sport England is the government body responsible for delivering the government's strategy for increasing participation in sport.

UK Sport is the body responsible for investing in Olympic and Paralympic Sport.

Requirements 2.1 to 2.3 of the Code set out provisions concerning diversity which all organisations funded at Tier 3 level (and some organisations funded at Tier 2 level) will need to comply with. These requirements, and their commentary, are reproduced in full in the Appendix to this guidance.

This document provides direction to your organisation about how to use and complete the accompanying template, Diversity Action Plan (DAP). The Diversity Action Plan is a clear plan that enables an organisation to create its own set of actions that will allow it to develop, action and implement a clear and strategic set of activities to support and/or maintain the diversity targets set out in Requirement 2.1 of the Code.

We are aware that some organisations have already put in place action plans around the diversity requirements of the Code. It is not mandatory to use the Diversity Action Plan template that accompanies this document, but we hope it will be helpful for those organisations who have yet to start this process.

Whatever form they take, Diversity Action Plans should be dynamic, iterative documents. It is appreciated that organisations may not be able to plan all the work they need to undertake in this area by 31 October 2017 (the deadline for Code compliance), and that their Diversity Action Plans may accordingly record some areas, particularly long term plans and actions, as work in progress. In such cases, we suggest that the Diversity Action Plan sets this out clearly, and gives some narrative about what will be undertaken by the organisation to formulate fully the issue / action in question.

This guidance document outlines what needs to be done to successfully fill out all sections of the Diversity Action Plan template to the required standard. Access to support from Inclusive Boards is also available.

Objectives

The long term objectives of the Diversity Action Plan process are:

- For each organisation to be able to develop a unique and ambitious Diversity Action Plan
- To ensure the completed plan has clear goals and actions that cover Requirements 2.1 to 2.3 of the Code
- To have clear lines of accountability for the delivery of each section of the Diversity Action Plan
- To have measurable progress for each element of this plan

This guidance will help you start this process and create a first draft of a Diversity Action Plan. Sport England and UK Sport intend to develop further guidance on improving board diversity in due course.

Chapter 2: Diversity and Inclusion

Diversity can be defined as having many people that are different from each other. Whilst there is currently no single definition of Board diversity, it can be understood as making a Board less homogenous by taking into consideration factors like age, ethnicity, gender, disability, sexual orientation, educational background and professional qualifications of the nominated directors and independent non-executive directors. Additional dynamics to take into account can include less tangible factors such as life experience and personal attitudes. The aim of a truly diverse Board is to cultivate a broad spectrum of demographic attributes and characteristics in the Boardroom. Measures to promote heterogeneity in the Boardroom can include having targets and implementing organisation-wide internal policies.

Every Board has a culture whether it is explicitly stated or not and this culture can be expressed in numerous ways including, but not limited to; how meetings are run, the process of recruitment, how members communicate with one another, the level of formality, and how the Board engages with staff, the council, and the community. Inclusivity is a critical component of Board culture which is often condensed to discussions of diversity. Equally important issues that should be noted include; appreciation of how cultural differences can enhance a Board's work and strengthens governance.

UK legislation sets legal requirements with respect to protected characteristics. However, an effective diversity and inclusion strategy builds on legal compliance and seeks to engage with staff, volunteers and membership more holistically. Appendix 2 describes categories and types of diversity, including some characteristics which are not part of the legally defined 'protected characteristics' but which should be taken into account in developing and embedding a diverse board.

Chapter 3: Completing the Diversity Action Plan

Cover Page

The cover page is in a standardised format. However, you should feel free to replace the page with an image/graphic more representative of your organisation/sport.

1. The organisation name and logo should remain prominent on the cover page.
2. It is also advisable to add the year from which the DAP will commence and when it will be next reviewed. Bear in mind that Requirement 2.3 of the Code requires organisations to give an annual update on the information they have published about their work to foster diversity within their leadership and decision making.

[ORGANISATION
NAME]

The overall author of the plan and the date of completion can also be added if appropriate. There will also be a need to account for a separate accessible version for visually impaired stakeholders or those with different access requirements.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

Requirement 2.3 of the Code requires organisations to publish on their websites information (approved by the Board) about their work to foster all aspects of diversity within their leadership and decision-making. You may want to take into consideration your stakeholders and the format that would be a best fit for them. You should also consider how easy the document will be to find on your website.

The Diversity Action Plan template will be made available in both MS Word and MS Excel

Graphics

It is advisable to customise the front cover as best as possible to suit your needs.

All strategic documents should have the same if not similar branding. Remember, this document will be published on your website. Is it in line with your organisation branding and or brand policy?

Organisation Overview

This section has been included to allow you to add context before designing the core elements of the Diversity Action Plan. Strategic documents are more likely to be successful if they are set within a wider framework. It is therefore important to begin with the bigger picture.

ABOUT US

OUR MISSION

OUR VALUES

1. About Us: This section should be a brief summary of the organisation. Information can include:

- Organisation history (including when it was founded)
- Where the organisation's operational HQ is located
- Geographical reach
- Membership structure (if applicable)
- Cultural statement (if applicable)
- Any positive developments and aspirations that may provide a context to this plan and what level you are currently at on the Equality Standard Framework

2. The next section gives an insight into the organisation's strategic direction

Mission: The core purpose or overall goal of the organisation

Vision: What the organisation hopes to achieve in the future

Values: Commonly held beliefs that guide the perspective of the organisation as well as its actions.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

You may already have details for this section within other governance or strategic documents, however this exercise may give you an opportunity to review this information within the context of diversity.

As this might be a public document, you will need to consider:

- Have I provided enough information about our organisation or sport?
- Are the details provided aligned to other documents submitted to UK Sport, Sport England, and the public?
- Will the information help the public understand more about our organisation and what we do?

Message from the Chair

Successful plans need to have buy-in from stakeholders throughout the organisation. Communication from a senior representative, preferably the Chair, will send a clear message that diversity in governance is an important part of future plans for your sport/organisation. It is advisable to attach a signature to the bottom of the message.

1. This section should be a message from the Chair and/or relevant senior figure. Some of the themes this message can cover include:

- An endorsement of the plan
- Commitment to seeing progress
- Celebration of any achievements to date
- A personal connection to this agenda

Diversity Action Plan (Main Section)

Strategic Areas:

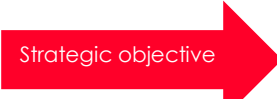

The core of the Diversity Action Plan is splits into 3 strategic areas. The top left-hand side shows which of the 3 areas each part of the plan is focused on. The three areas are:

- Recruitment: This speaks to how the organisation will attract an increasingly diverse range of candidates for its Board.
- Engagement: Ensuring that your organisation's commitment to diversity is communicated through internal practices and externally
- Progressing talent from Within: This area focuses on developing a strong pipeline of diverse talent, recognising that many sports national governing bodies are membership bodies, some with members in the tens of thousands, and often with subsidiary governance structures (such as committees or regional boards) which can be used to develop the directors of the futures. Activities can include the use of committees, mentoring, and leadership programmes for example.

Setting an overall or strategic objective:

In this section you will need to set an overall objective for the strategic area. It should be outcome focused, and where possible, with a specific time frame

	Recruitment		Code for Sports Governance
	How the organisation will attract an increasingly diverse range of candidates		Each organisation will identify appropriate and appropriate actions to be taken to support and/or monitor (or appropriate) the diversity targets set out in Req 2.1	Each organisation will identify appropriate and appropriate actions to be taken to support and/or monitor (or appropriate) the diversity targets set out in Req 2.1	Each organisation will identify appropriate and appropriate actions to be taken to support and/or monitor (or appropriate) the diversity targets set out in Req 2.1	Each organisation will identify appropriate and appropriate actions to be taken to support and/or monitor (or appropriate) the diversity targets set out in Req 2.1

Alignment with Code:

On the top right you will see a breakdown of Requirements 2.1 to 2.3 of the Code. You will need to tick which of the requirements is being met by the strategic objective. The objective is to have met each of the elements of the requirements at least once by the time the Diversity Action Plan has been completed.

Breaking it down:

- Priorities: You will need to break down your overall objective into a series of priorities. We would expect 3 to 5 overall priorities spread over the short, medium and long term for each strategic area. There may be a need for more priorities depending on where the organisation is at on its journey. You may find it easier to add extra rows so that each priority is on a separate line.
 - Short Term: Within the next 12 to 24 months
 - Medium Term: between 24 and 36 months
 - Long Term: Within 3 to 5 years
- Action: steps, changes or specific efforts that will be made to reach the priority.
- Persons Responsible: Each priority should have at least one person explicitly responsible for the delivery of the set actions. Whilst completing the DAP, you may find the same person(s) could be responsible for different actions.
- Completion Date: A realistic completion date for each action.

Chapter 4: Key Questions

We have added 4 key questions at the end of the document we feel will be important to answer. These will help to bring the whole document together and fill any gaps that may still be outstanding following the development of the strategic areas.

Question 1: This plan will be assigned alongside the wider governance strategy and therefore it will be important to explicitly and briefly make the link

Question 2: For this plan to be successful there is a need to once again identify the overall person or people responsible for ensuring it is a document that is actioned.

Question 3: It is very important to have SMART (Specific Measurable, Actionable, Realistic & Time bound) goals in place that can be reviewed in order to measure distance travelled.

Question 4: The Diversity Action Plan (DAP) should not be completed in isolation but must be linked to other parts of the Code and equality standard framework. This is an opportunity to reflect on how you have linked other parts of the Code to the completed DAP.

Key Questions

How does this feed into our broader governance plan?

Who are the key people responsible for the delivery of this plan?

How will we measure overall success?

How does your Diversity Action Plan (DAP) cross-reference other parts of the code or other relevant equality or diversity monitoring standards/framework?

Appendix 1

Requirements 2.1 to 2.3 of A Code for Sports Governance

Principle 2: People

Organisations shall recruit and engage people with appropriate diversity, independence, skills, experience and knowledge to take effective decisions that further the organisation's goals.

Why is this important?

Diverse, skilled and experienced decision making bodies which contain independent voice and engage in constructive, open debate enable good decision-making.

Diversity (Requirements 2.1–2.3)

2.1 Each organisation shall:

(A) Adopt a target of, and take all appropriate actions to encourage, a minimum of 30% of each gender on its Board; and

(B) Demonstrate a strong and public commitment to progressing towards achieving gender parity and greater diversity generally on its Board, including, but not limited to, Black, Asian, minority ethnic (BAME) diversity, and disability.

2.2 Each organisation shall identify proportionate and appropriate actions to be taken to support and/or maintain (as appropriate) the diversity targets set out in Requirement 2.1.

2.3 The Board shall ensure that the organisation prepares and publishes on its website information (approved by the Board) about its work to foster all aspects of diversity within its leadership and decision making, including an annual update on progress against the actions identified in Requirement 2.2

Commentary on Requirements 2.1 to 2.3

It is recognised that decision-making is improved when a Board is able to draw on, and harness, a diverse range of opinions. An overwhelming majority of those who responded to the online consultation on this Code agreed that Boards should demonstrate how they attract a diverse range of candidates and also recognised a need to increase diversity within their organisation.

Gender is an important aspect of diversity and an organisation will be expected to work towards achieving at least 30% of each gender on its Board, while also demonstrating publicly its commitment to achieving gender parity and greater diversity generally on its Board. It should demonstrate the actions it is taking to meet these targets.

If 30% is not a whole number, then this should normally be rounded up for the purposes of calculating the required number of male/female directors (unless otherwise agreed with UK Sport/Sport England).

The targets referred to in Requirement 2.1 are explicitly targets, and not fixed quotas. The obligation on funded organisations is to demonstrably commit to working towards achieving them, and to take all appropriate actions in order to do so. Nevertheless, in order to drive real change in the sector (in accordance with the feedback received in the consultation) UK Sport and Sport England expect this commitment and the actions taken to be meaningful.

Requirement 2.1(B) references Black, Asian, and minority ethnic and disability diversity expressly within the context of greater diversity generally. Data from the sector shows that representation from these groups on Boards remains low and that organisations need to do more to increase it, and to be able to demonstrate the actions they are taking to do so.

It is also important to think about what 'greater diversity' means. Here the Code is referring not only to the protected characteristics of the Equality Act 2010 (which are gender, age, disability, gender reassignment, race, sexual orientation, religion or belief, marriage and civil partnership and pregnancy and maternity) but also socio-economic background and diversity of thought. Organisations should seek to recruit to their Boards people who think in different ways as well as those who have different backgrounds. For example, organisations may wish to consider the possibility of addressing the diversity of formal structures other than the Board, in order to build internal capacity for succession planning.

In order to drive greater diversity, funded organisations need to consider their practices in both Board recruitment and capacity building. Attention is drawn to the Requirement in the Government's sports strategy, Sporting Future, for 'public bodies in receipt of public funding to use tools such as Women in Sport's Checklist for Change to make changes within their organisation to improve diversity in leadership at all levels'.

Any member or related organisation or body (e.g. a Council) which has the right to appoint directors of the funded organisation should do so in a way that encourages a diverse range of candidates, e.g. by use of a structured process which allows for the consideration of candidates from a range of backgrounds. Where diversity is being driven exclusively or primarily from independent, non-executive directors, Sport England/UK Sport may wish to challenge whether organisations really are taking all appropriate actions to drive diversity.

It will be for an organisation to decide how it identifies and agrees the actions that should be taken to support and/or maintain the diversity targets set out in Requirement 2.1. However, the Board should have a role in this process and should monitor progress against the actions, in particular discussing the annual progress update and the plan for the following year before this information is published.

UK Sport/Sport England will be giving further consideration to how they can support organisations to meet these diversity Requirements.

Requirements 2.1 to 2.3 do not override or replace any obligations placed on funded organisations by the terms of the funding agreements of Sport England and UK Sport regarding equality, e.g. to comply with the Equality Standard, a Framework for Sport (published by UK Sport, Sport England and the other Home Nations Sports Councils).

Inclusive Boards

Inclusive Boards is an agency set up specifically to support organisations in efforts to develop more diverse Boards and stronger governance structures. We have been working closely with UK Sport and Sport England to put together what we believe is a document that embodies the mandatory requirements of the Code for Sports Governance. The Diversity Action Plan (DAP) template takes a complete overview of all the items you will be submitting to UK Sport and Sport England; showing the interdependency of all the requirements of the Code and the Equality Standard Framework where applicable.

We are here to offer strategic support as you complete the DAP. We recognise that no two sports organisations are the same, and our job is to help you to create a plan that is unique to your organisation. The DAP is an easy to use template that integrates milestones and encourages best practice in the short, medium, and long term. Within the core elements of the DAP you will find 3 strategic areas: Recruitment, Engagement, and Progressing Talent from Within. We believe these areas can also be viewed in chronological order to some extent, with the most immediate need being to review your recruitment practices. You are then expected to review how you are engaging with the topic of diversity in governance (both internally and externally), before ensuring a legacy of progressing talent from within

This guidance document has a lot of direction that encourages critical thought and commitment to achieving objectives. The document is intended to be used as a guide without prescribing actions. We have also shown where you can customise the DAP to fit your journey and priorities. We would encourage you to get in contact should you have any questions or need support on any specific areas.

We are very proud to have been given the opportunity to work with sports organisations at what is a significant moment for sport in England. We believe that the world of sport will take note of this collective commitment and hopefully borrow from the good work that comes as a result.

Example of Article for County FAs to Co-opt Directors

The FA has been approached by a number of County FAs which have been considering how they could complement the skill set of their current Board Directors with specific areas of expertise which may not be available within their Council membership. One such mechanism is to enable a Board to co-opt Directors. Some County FAs already provide for this within their Articles. Where this is not the case, a generic Article has been drafted which will enable a County FA to co-opt additional Directors onto the Board to meet any identified gap in skills, knowledge or experience. This is:

“Directors may co-opt, by a majority vote, additional Directors for specific areas of expertise. A co-opted Director may participate fully in and vote at all Board meetings at which he or she is in attendance. Directors co-opted onto the Board pursuant to this article may also be removed by a majority vote of the Directors.”

As with all proposed changes to the Articles, County FAs are advised to seek guidance from an appointed solicitor to ensure that this generic Article works in a local context or is varied as may be appropriate.

County FA Succession Planning Guidance

Requirement 2.7 of the Code of Governance (see page 53) states that the Board shall have in place succession plans for orderly appointments to the Board and to key positions within senior management.

This template is designed to record the County FA succession plan for the Board, CEO and key senior management posts.

BOARD DIRECTORS AND CEO

1. Dates of terms of Board Directors

The table below sets out the terms of each Director on the Board of [insert County FA name]

Director Name	Type (Chair, Nominee, Independent)	Appointed date	End of term date	Current term

2. Timing of expected vacancies and skills gaps

The table below is intended to assist the Nomination and Appointment Committee (or Board) to identify in good time where vacancies arise and to note potential skills gaps that will result informed by the skills audit process.

When the term of an individual with key knowledge about the County FA is due to come to an end, a plan should be put in place for information sharing and handover.

The table may also be of use if there is an unforeseen change to the Board.

Board member	Date vacancy will arise	Date for recruitment and handover planning to begin	Possible reappointment or extension? (Y/N) Add comments	Potential skills gaps arising from exit	Committee roles held

3. Emergency action plan for departure of Chair or CEO (or extended absence)

The table below provides examples of the actions which may be included in a typical process which can be edited as required.

Immediate Action	Responsibility	Timescale
Agree on who will be the spokesperson for the County FA and liaison with The FA	Chair for CEO; Board for Chair	Week 1
Agree a communication plan for key funders and stakeholders, including staff and contractors	Board (supported by CEO and senior management)	Week 1

Identify Board support for and supervision of the interim Chair or CEO	Board	Week 2/3

4. Emergency action plan for departure (or extended absence) of a Director with specific responsibility which risks the Board breaching the provisions of the Articles (e.g. number of Nominated Directors).

The table below provides examples of the actions which may be included in a typical process which can be edited as required.

SENIOR MANAGEMENT

In addition to Succession planning for the Board and CEO, it is a requirement of the Code of Governance that succession plans are in place for key posts within the senior management. Unlike Board Directors the timing can be less predictable.

Director's Declaration of Good Character

Introduction

Requirement 2.10 of the Code (see page 55) provides that:

"No individual shall be appointed as a Director until he or she has provided to the association a declaration of good character".

The commentary to this requirement states:

"Operating with integrity and transparency is a key element in this Code and asking individuals to complete a declaration of good character provides the Board with additional information concerning the individual's conduct which enables them to determine if the candidate would be a suitable appointment.

Some Associations already require Directors to complete a similar declaration before appointment, and this is considered good practice. We will consider current sector practice and issue further guidance on the recommended content of the declarations."

This purpose of this note is to set out the further guidance referred to in the commentary.

Director's declaration

Attached to this note is a template Director's declaration.

It has been drafted with the objective of the requirement, namely that County Football Associations should operate with integrity, firmly in mind. It therefore asks factual questions intended to demonstrate the integrity of the individual.

The Code does not require Associations to undertake extensive checks or verification of the individuals' declarations. Likewise, the Code does not require that answers in the negative should bar an individual from becoming a Director. In this situation, it is recommended that the Association should consider the responses and if appropriate seek further information in order to make an informed decision about whether the individual is suitable to be a Director.

Introduction

This guidance note covers registered charities in England and Wales. Whilst principles of good governance transcends national borders, it is important to bear in mind the specific differences in charity legislation for those charities operating in Scotland, Northern Ireland, and elsewhere.

This guidance note has been drafted to reflect the findings of the Charity Commission and ICSA's review project into the governance arrangements in newly registered charities.¹ The information in this document expands upon, and consolidates, the principles highlighted in Good governance: A code for the voluntary and community sector.²

For the purpose of this guidance note, it is assumed that the charity employs staff including a charity secretary, or other governance and compliance professional, who is not the chief executive officer.³

¹ Please see the ICSA website

² This can be downloaded from www.governancecode.org/

³ Further details on the role of the charity secretary can be found in an ICSA guidance note of the same title.

Overall purpose

Benefits of being a trustee

Whilst the role of trustee is a serious duty, there are various positive aspects to the role that can help an individual on a personal and professional basis:

- the knowledge that you are contributing to a worthwhile cause
- building self-confidence and experience of committee work
- acquiring new skills – personal and professional – through training and information and sharing
- the enjoyment to be had from working with a group of individuals from different backgrounds who share a similar passion for a particular cause.

The role of charity trustee is one that can offer considerable satisfaction, challenges and experiences, but it should not be forgotten that the position can be quite onerous and require a significant time commitment.

The aim of this guidance note is to provide charities with guidance on how to recognise and manage perceived and real conflicts of interest amongst members of the trustee board. It offers a generic model document that can be amended to suit the needs of individual organisations, whilst addressing the fundamental issues that arise from real and perceived conflicts of interest.

It should be noted that the benefit derived by those trustees who are users of the charity's services should not be over and above that received by any other user or beneficiary of the charity.

Specimen conflict of interest policy, declaration form and register of interests for charity trustees

What is a conflict of interest?

Trustees have a duty under common law to act in the best interests of the charities they serve. Trustees, generally, should not benefit from the charity and should not be influenced by their wider interests when making decisions affecting the charity. For charitable companies, trustees have a legal duty to avoid conflicts of interest under s175 of the Companies Act 2006.

A conflict of interest can be defined as:

“...any situation in which a trustee’s personal interests or responsibilities they owe to another body, may, or may appear to influence the trustee’s decision making.”⁴

Conflicts of interest arise when the interests of trustees, or “connected persons”,⁵ are incompatible or in competition with the interests of the charity. Such situations present a risk that trustees will make decisions based on these external influences, rather than the best interests of the charity.

The most common types of conflict include:

- direct financial interest - when a trustee obtains a direct financial benefit via:
 - the payment of a salary to a trustee by the charity
 - the award of a contract to a company with which a trustee is involved
 - the sale of property at below market value to a trustee
- indirect financial interest - this arises when a close relative of a trustee benefits from the charity:
 - the awarding of an employment contract to a trustee’s spouse; and
 - making a grant to a trustee’s dependent child

4 Page 8, Charitable Museums and Galleries: A guide to conflicts of interest policies, trustee benefits and transactions between trustees and charities, a joint publication of the Department of Culture, Media and Sport and the Charity Commission, 2008.

5 s.188 Charities Act 2011 defines a “connected” person as:

- a) a child, parent, grandchild, grandparent, brother or sister of a trustee;
- b) spouse or civil partner of trustee, or of (a) above;
- c) business partner of trustee or (a) or (b);
- d) institution controlled i) by trustee or (a), (b), or (c) above or ii) by two or more persons falling within i) when taken together ;
- e) a body corporate which i) the trustee or connected person in (a) to (c) has a substantial interest or, ii) two or more persons falling within i) when taken together have a substantial interest.

Trustees seeking to sell land or other property belonging to the charity should refer to s.118 of the Charities Act 2011 for a further definition of ‘connected persons’ in relation to these transactions. For trustees of charitable companies the definition of ‘connected persons’ is slightly different and readers should refer to s.252 of the Companies Act 2006.

Specimen conflict of interest policy, declaration form and register of interests for charity trustees

- non-financial or personal conflicts – occur where trustees receive no financial benefit, but are influenced by external factors:
 - influencing board decisions on service provision to their own advantage, perhaps because they use the charity's service themselves or care for someone who does
 - to gain some other intangible benefit or kudos
 - awarding contracts to friends
- conflicts of loyalties - trustees may have competing loyalties between the charity to which they owe a primary duty and some other person or entity.

It is, therefore, essential that all trustees are fully aware of their duties and responsibilities and that when acting as a trustee they must act in the best interests of the charity alone.

The interests of the beneficiaries and those of the charity will - for the most part - be consistent or complementary, but on the occasions where a conflict does arise, the responsibility of all the trustees is to the charity. This includes any access that all trustees may gain to confidential or privileged information by virtue of their trusteeship. All trustees should remain alert to the fact that whatever information they acquire in their role should remain confidential and not be used to the advantage of themselves, an external individual, or entity.

Occasionally there may be cases where an apparent conflict is actually in the organisation's best interests. While the trustees may well act with integrity, the mere appearance of a conflict can be damaging to both the charity and the trustees, so conflicts need to be managed effectively.

Where a charity operates a code of conduct for trustees, it is essential that the document is consistent with and supports the conflicts of interest policy and vice versa.

Identifying potential conflicts of interest

A key means of preventing conflicts of interest from affecting decision-making is to identify potential conflicts in advance. This gives trustees time to consider the implications and to respond appropriately. To ensure that trustees remain in an optimal position to manage any real or perceived conflict, it should be standard practice to ask for any such declarations at the start of each trustee meeting.

Specimen conflict of interest policy, declaration form and register of interests for charity trustees

By asking trustees to declare their interests and keeping a register of such interests, organisations can monitor potential conflicts of interests on a continuous basis. A policy on the management of conflicts of interest will inform trustees how any conflict will be dealt with and provide a framework for the board when conflicts arise.

Managing conflicts

The majority of trustees have a multiplicity of interests, personal, domestic and professional that may, on occasion, compete with those of the charity. It is almost impossible to avoid conflicts altogether, particularly in the context of charities seeking to appoint trustees with skills and experience of the wider economic community.

If conflicts cannot be avoided, they need to be managed effectively. Organisations should consider developing a policy relating to conflicts of interest and implementing it consistently and transparently.

Declaration of interests

Potential and new trustees should be informed that they will be expected to declare their interests on appointment and subsequently, when they arise. They should also be provided with a copy of the conflicts of interest policy, preferably before appointment. If the potential trustee is concerned about a possible conflict of interest, they should view the policy and discuss the matter with the charity secretary before agreeing to take up the position.

On appointment, trustees should be asked to complete a declaration of interests. New trustees may be uncertain as to what comes under this heading (in which case they should consult the charity secretary), but as they gain more experience on the board, their understanding of exactly what constitutes a potential conflict will develop. The declaration of interests needs to be updated when material changes occur, and reviewed on a regular basis – at least annually.

When asking trustees to complete a declaration of interests, the following areas should be considered:

- employment
- any previous employment in which the trustee still has a financial, or other, interest

Specimen conflict of interest policy, declaration form and register of interests for charity trustees

- any other appointments (voluntary or otherwise) e.g. trusteeships, directorships, local authority membership, tribunals
- professional and organisational membership
- membership of any special interest groups
- investments in unlisted companies, partnerships and other forms of business
- major shareholdings (charities may set a figure here, e.g. more than 1% or 5% of issued capital) and beneficial interests
- gifts or hospitality offered to the trustee by external bodies and whether this was declined or accepted
- family connections where relevant, such as the trustee's spouse/partner working for a similar organisation or funder
- using, or caring for a user of, the organisation's services
- any contractual relationship between the trustee or a connected person and the charity or its subsidiary.

The level of detail required in the register may depend on:

- the size and culture of the organisation
- the likelihood of a conflict arising
- the potential damage that could be caused by a conflict.

All charities and not-for-profit organisations are accountable to a range of stakeholders and should consider conflicts of interest carefully. Those working in sensitive areas, involved with large sums of money, or subject to a high level of scrutiny, may need to be extra vigilant. Organisations will need to find a balance between accountability and unwarranted intrusion into the affairs of their trustees.

Register of interests

The completed declarations should be returned to the charity secretary, who will be responsible for keeping the register of interests up to date. A model register can be found below.

Charities will need to consider whether the register of interests is kept as a confidential document, to be maintained and monitored by the charity secretary and accessible only to the chairman of the trustees and chief executive; or whether to allow greater access. Public access to the register would further the interests of accountability and transparency, as well as demonstrating that the charity is following best practice in relation to managing conflicts of interest.

There may be sections of the declaration, or levels of detail within certain sections, which trustees may want and decide to keep confidential. For example, trustees of a women's refuge may wish to keep their home or business addresses confidential. The requirement that the whole register be publicly available may serve as a disincentive to trustees joining the board, or declaring their full range of interests. Possible compromises include:

- arranging for some sections of the register to be publicly available, whilst maintaining the confidentiality of other sections
- making sections of the register accessible to the organisation's membership, again maintaining the confidentiality of the remaining sections
- making the complete register available to all trustees.

When a conflict of interest does arise, it is the responsibility of the trustee in question to declare such a conflict to the board. If he or she fails to do so, the chairman of the trustees or charity secretary should declare the conflict. It is advisable at the start of board and committee meetings to request the declaration of any interests in relation to any item covered on the meeting agenda, ensuring that appropriate action can be taken and formal records made.

Dangers of conflicts of interest

If trustees allow factors such as other external interests to influence their decision-making, they may make decisions that are not in the charity's best interest. This could be costly to them and damage the work and reputation of the charity. The most common dangers arising out of a conflict of interest are:

- poor decision-making
- legal challenge
- loss of trust within the boardroom
- reputational damage, including a reduction in donations, volunteers and public support.

Specimen conflict of interest policy, declaration form and register of interests for charity trustees

Trustees acting outside the terms of their governing document, without permission from the courts or the Charity Commission, will be in breach of trust. Relief from such breaches, however, may be available to those where such a breach occurs even though the trustees have acted as reasonable and 'prudent men of business', seeking and following appropriate professional advice.⁶

A breach of trust will occur if a trustee knowingly accepts a benefit from the charity without proper authority. Such authority may come from legislation, the Charity Commission, the courts, or the charity's governing document. If the transaction is challenged (e.g. by the Charity Commission, or another interested party) and found to be invalid, the trustee could be required to pay back any benefit received, or become liable for any loss incurred by the charity.

Governance

Within the board itself, poorly managed conflicts of interest will harm working relationships, adversely affecting free discussion. Where a trustee is known to have an interest in a decision, the remaining trustees may feel under pressure, whether express, implied or simply imagined, to decide in the interests of their fellow trustee. Alternatively they may resent the interest of the other trustee and vote against it, even when following the trustee's interest may be the best course of action for the charity. In both cases, the trustees' primary consideration has been a trustee's interest, not that of the charity. Developing and applying a conflicts of interest policy is therefore key to managing such conflicts in an open and transparent manner.

Even where the governing board is able to make decisions free of these emotional influences, they may feel uncomfortable speaking against the trustee's interests in a trustee meeting, or lose confidence in the ability of the trustee in question to make decisions free of external influence. Such problems may undermine the trustee board's ability to function effectively as a decision-making group.

Where the trustee board is presented with a conflict of interest, the interest should be declared, the trustee(s) involved should remove themselves from the discussion.⁷ The conflict and action taken to manage it should be recorded in the minutes. Where the trustee has withdrawn from the meeting, steps should be taken to ensure that any details of the discussion relating to the conflict of interest are not divulged. This could be done via the use of printing sensitive items on separate, different coloured paper⁸ and circulated to those trustees free from the conflict. This should enable the conflicted trustee to continue to exercise their responsibility in all other aspects of the trustees' duties by receiving minutes of meetings, without gaining access to information relating to the conflict.

6 S191 Charities Act 2011 provides the Charity Commission with the power to relieve trustees of a personal liability resulting from a breach of trust where the trustee "...has acted honestly, and reasonably and ought fairly to be excused..."

7 Except where a charitable company has an authorisation clause within its governing document permitting the trustees to authorise certain conflicts.

Specimen conflict of interest policy, declaration form and register of interests for charity trustees

Adverse publicity

Even where trustees have acted in the best interests of the charity, those outside the trustee board may gain an impression, or mere suspicion, that the trustees acted in their own interest. Accurate or otherwise, such an impression could damage the reputation of the charity and trustees.

Such publicity may be so adverse that it demands a response from the charity, for example because of interest from the media, a funder or regulator. The charity will then need to invest time and energy in justifying its actions and defending its reputation, deflecting resources and attention from its objectives.

Company law requirements

Director/trustees⁹ of charitable companies, or of a charity's subsidiary company, will be subject to the provisions of the Companies Act 2006 in relation to conflicts of interest and how they are managed.¹⁰ Specifically, directors have a duty to:

- exercise independent judgment¹¹
- avoid conflicts of interest¹²
- not to accept benefits from third parties¹³

8 For electronic versions, the minutes relating to the conflict of interest should be emailed under a separate cover to those trustees not affected by the conflict, as a discrete document in its own right, or saved in an area where it can only be accessed by those entitled to see it.

9 Those responsible for the governance of a charitable company have dual responsibilities under companies and charities legislation. To emphasise the dual nature, this guide will use the term 'director/trustee'. Further information on directors' duties can be found in ICOSA guidance note on the Role and Duties of Trustees, and Directors' Duties for Charitable Companies, and the ICOSA Solutions guide to companies limited by guarantee.

10 For charitable companies wanting to authorise a conflict of interest of a trustee/director, an appropriate clause in the company's articles of association will be required. Wording for such a clause can be found in the Charity Commission's model articles of association for a charitable company – GD1.

11 s. 173 Companies Act 2006.

12 s. 175, Companies Act 2006. This however, is modified for charitable companies by s.181 of the same Act.

13 s. 176, Companies Act 2006.

- declare any interest in a proposed transaction or arrangement¹⁴
- declare any interest in an existing transaction or arrangement.¹⁵

s. 175 Companies Act 2006 provides directors with the power to authorise certain conflicts of interests by provisions in the articles of association. Any charitable company wishing to take advantage of such a power will need to give due regard to what types of conflict it should cover. Any amendment to the articles that permits the directors, members or connected persons to benefit from the charity is a 'regulated alteration' and would require the prior approval of the Charity Commission.¹⁶

If the board of a charitable company exceeds its constitutional powers in entering into a transaction with a director/trustee (or someone connected to a director/trustee), the transaction may be declared void. Where a director fails to declare an interest in a proposed transaction, the director may be liable to a fine. The directors/trustees involved in the transaction, including those who authorised it, may be required to return any gains to the company or to make good any losses incurred.¹⁷

Company legislation imposes limitations and prohibitions on certain conflicts of interest. ss. 190 to 196 of the Companies Act 2006 limit substantial property transactions between companies and their directors and people connected with the directors:¹⁸

- if the value is greater than £5000 or 10% of the company's net assets; or
- the total value of the property is greater than £100,000 the transaction requires the prior approval of the membership by a resolution in a general meeting

14 s. 177, Companies Act 2006.

15 s. 182, Companies Act 2006.

16 s. 198 Charities Act 2011.

17 s.41 of the Companies Act 2006.

18 A "connected person" to a director is defined in s252(2) of the Companies Act 2006 as:

- a) members of the directors' family (s253 defines these as – spouse or civil partner; any other person with whom the director lives as a partner in an enduring family relationship, and that partners' children or step-children under 18 years of age; children or step-children of the director and their partner or spouse; directors' parents);
- b) a body corporate with which the director is connected;
- c) a person acting in his capacity as a trustee of a trust – i) the beneficiaries of which include the director or a person who by virtue of (a) or (b) is connected with him, or ii) the terms of which confer a power on the trustees that may be exercised for the benefit of the director or any such person, other than a trust for the purposes of an employees' share scheme or pension scheme;
- d) a person acting in his capacity as a partner – i) of the director, or ii) of a person who by virtue of (a) to (c) is connected with that director;
- e) a firm that is a legal person under the law by which it is governed and in which - i) the director is a partner, ii) a partner is a person who by virtue of (a) to (c) is connected with the director, or iii) a partner is a firm in which the director is a partner or in which there is a partner who by virtue of (a), (b) or (c) is connected with the director.

Under ss. 197 – 223 of the Companies Act 2006, companies are prohibited from:

- making loans or giving similar financial assistance to directors; and
- giving guarantees or other forms of security in order to enable a director to obtain a loan.

The prohibition does not apply to advance payment of reasonable out-of-pocket expenses that directors/trustees incur in the course of their work on behalf of the charity. This provision could impact on charitable companies that provide ‘social loans’ or venture capital to new businesses where the organisation’s users are board members. There is however, a special exemption for loans made by ‘money-lending’ companies in the ordinary course of their business.

Statement of Recommended Practice (Charities) 2005¹⁹

Under paragraph 226 of the Charities SORP, trustees (and connected persons) receiving any benefit or remuneration are required to regard such payment as material and must disclose it in the charity’s annual report and accounts. Furthermore, paragraph 230(d) states that where trustees have not received any remuneration this should be disclosed too, as a means to promoting transparency in the governance of the charity.

A similar approach to declaring the reimbursement of all reasonable out-of-pocket expenses for trustees would also represent best practice and support the promotion of transparency within the charity.

Developing a policy on conflicts of interest

Conflicts of interest cannot be avoided altogether, so organisations should develop a policy to manage them effectively, when they arise. The existence and application of a conflicts of interest policy will serve as a means of demonstrating good practice and governance under external scrutiny. A well-written and properly implemented policy will support trustees in establishing that they have acted in the charity’s best interest.

¹⁹ More commonly referred to as the ‘Charities SORP’ or ‘SORP 2005’.

Specimen conflict of interest policy, declaration form and register of interests for charity trustees

A conflict of interest policy should address the most likely areas of conflict:

- how conflicts will be identified and managed
- the payment of trustees
- conflicts of loyalties.

Other elements of the policy will be determined by the nature of the organisation and its governance structure. The policy should be appropriate for the work of the organisation.

In drafting and implementing a conflict of interest policy, it may be beneficial to develop other policies on matters peripheral to managing such conflicts. For instance, a formal expenses policy and statement on the giving and receiving of corporate hospitality and gifts would provide clear and transparent guidance to trustees, staff and other interested parties of the steps to be taken in these situations that would reinforce the principles of avoiding conflicts of interest and the policy on managing them when they occur.²⁰

The information held on a voluntary register of interests is subject to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998. Certain conditions must be met in order to establish that personal data has been processed fairly and lawfully. These conditions should not prove too onerous providing the trustees are told:

- who is controlling the data
- why the information is being processed
- how often records will be updated and:

- the individual has consented to the processing and that the processing is necessary for the performance of a contract with the individual
- it is necessary to carry out public functions or to pursue the legitimate interests of the data controller without prejudice to the interests of the individual.

²⁰ Such model documents can be found on the ICSA website.

Specimen conflict of interest policy, declaration form and register of interests for charity trustees

Sensitive personal data, such as trade union membership, political opinions and religious beliefs, may be processed but is subject to stricter criteria. In the case of the register of interests, such information may be included with the explicit consent of the individual, but organisations should consider carefully the level of detail they actually need in terms of trustees' interests.²¹

Data should be accurate and kept up to date. Data controllers are expected to take appropriate security measures to ensure that data is not unlawfully processed, lost or damaged.

All organisations should make themselves aware of their responsibilities under data protection legislation. Further information is available at www.ico.gov.uk.

It should be made clear to trustees why a register of interests is being developed and how it will be used. This should include explanations as to what kind of information will be recorded and whether any, or no part, of that information will be available to interested members of the public, including stakeholders, members and other trustees.

²¹ There may be some occasions for certain charities undertaking specific activities, e.g. think-tanks, to note the membership of political parties. Further professional guidance is recommended in such circumstances to ascertain the level of disclosure required and that it does not impinge on the rights and privacy of the trustee concerned.

Specimen conflicts of interest policy for charities (England & Wales)

Please adapt the following model policy to suit the needs of your organisation.

This policy applies to [trustees] [trustees and directors] [trustees and senior staff] [trustees and all staff].

Why we have a policy

Trustees have a legal obligation to act in the best interests of [name of the charity], and in accordance with [the charity's] governing document, and to avoid situations where there may be a potential conflict of interest. [Staff and volunteers have similar obligations].

Conflicts of interests may arise where an individual's personal or family interests and/or loyalties conflict with those of [the charity]. Such conflicts may create problems; they can:

- inhibit free discussion
- result in decisions or actions that are not in the interests of [the charity]
- risk the impression that [the charity] has acted improperly.

The aim of this policy is to protect both the organisation and the individuals involved from any appearance of impropriety.

The declaration of interests

Accordingly, we are asking [trustees] [trustees and senior staff] [trustees and all staff] to declare their interests, and any gifts or hospitality offered and received in connection with their role in [the charity]. A declaration of interests form is provided for this purpose, listing the types of interest you should declare.

To be effective, the declaration of interests needs to be updated at least annually, and when any material changes occur.

Specimen conflict of interest policy, declaration form and register of interests for charity trustees

If you are not sure what to declare, or whether/when your declaration needs to be updated, please err on the side of caution. If you would like to discuss this issue, please contact the charity secretary [or.....] for confidential guidance.

This register of interests shall be used to record all gifts of a value over [£xx] and hospitality over [£xx] received by the trustees and staff.

Interests and gifts will be recorded on the charity's register of interests, which will be maintained by [the charity secretary]. The register will be accessible by [level of access, noting any statutory requirements applicable].

Data protection

The information provided will be processed in accordance with data protection principles as set out in the Data Protection Act 1998. Data will be processed only to ensure that [trustees][trustees and senior staff][trustees and all staff] act in the best interests of [the charity]. The information provided will not be used for any other purpose.

What to do if you face a conflict of interest

If you believe you have a perceived or real conflict of interest you should:

- declare the interest at the earliest opportunity
- withdraw from discussions and decisions relating to the conflict.

The charity secretary should take special care to ensure that minutes or other documents relating to the item presenting a conflict are appropriately redacted for the person facing the conflict. A balance needs to be made to ensure that the person still receives sufficient information about the activities of the charity generally without disclosing such sensitive information that could place the individual in an untenable position.

If you are user of [the charity's] services, or the carer of someone who uses [the charity's] services, you should not be involved in decisions that directly affect the service that you, or the person you care for, receive(s). You should declare your interest at the earliest opportunity and withdraw from any subsequent discussion, unless expressly invited to remain in order to provide information. In this case you may not participate in, or influence, the decision or any vote on the matter. You will not be counted in the quorum for that part of the meeting and must withdraw from the meeting during any vote on the conflicted item.

There are situations where you may participate in discussions from which you could indirectly benefit, for example where the benefits are universal to all users, or where your benefit is minimal. This action will be agreed by the chair and minuted accordingly.²²

If you fail to declare an interest that is known to [the charity secretary] and/or [the chair of the board,] the [charity secretary] or [chair] will declare that interest.

Decisions taken where a trustee or member of staff has an interest

In the event of the board having to decide upon a question in which a trustee or member of staff has an interest, all decisions will be made by vote, with a [simple majority][two thirds majority][...] required. A quorum must be present for the discussion and decision; interested parties will not be counted when deciding whether the meeting is quorate. Interested board members may not vote on matters affecting their own interests

All decisions under a conflict of interest will be recorded by [the charity secretary] and reported in the minutes of the meeting. The report will record:

- the nature and extent of the conflict
- an outline of the discussion
- the actions taken to manage the conflict.

Where a trustee benefits from the decision, this will be reported in the annual report and accounts in accordance with the current Charities SORP.

All payments or benefits in kind to trustees will be reported in the charity's accounts and annual report, with amounts for each trustee listed for the year in question.²³

Where a member of [the charity's] staff are connected to a party involved in the supply of a service or product to the charity, this information will be fully disclosed in the annual report and accounts.

²² This option is only available to those charities which have an express power to authorise situational conflicts in their governing document.

²³ The Charities SORP 2005 requires the full disclosure of all 'related party' transactions with any third party that may inhibit the charity being able to pursue its separate interests. The Charity Commission strongly recommends that all trustee payments should be disclosed in an appropriate manner, see CC11 Trustee payments and expenses

Specimen conflict of interest policy, declaration form and register of interests for charity trustees

Independent external moderation will be used where conflicts cannot be resolved through the usual procedures.

(Organisations should add any further requirements that relate to the nature of the organisation's work)

Managing contracts

If you have a conflict of interest, you must not be involved in managing or monitoring a contract in which you have an interest. Monitoring arrangements for such contracts will include provisions for an independent challenge of bills and invoices, and termination of the contract if the relationship is unsatisfactory.

Guidance on the use of Risk Registers and Safeguarding Risks

The Guidance on use of Risk Registers and Safeguarding Risks is provided as an advice document and can be applied by County FAs to all to help assess and manage all business risks. Safeguarding Risks are provided as an exemplar.

County FAs are advised to utilise a risk register and The FA understands that all County FAs are using some form of risk register template. Risk registers identify potential risks, the likelihood of the risk occurring, the likely impact if the risks did occur and a range of mitigating factors to minimise the risk or minimise the impact of crystallised risks.

This guidance outlines different categories of risk, provides some examples of safeguarding risks and roles and responsibilities, outlines some definitions and a process flow, including reviewing risks.

County FAs will need to consider the safeguarding risks that should feature on their risk registers. For the avoidance of doubt, the safeguarding risks listed below are non-exhaustive and County FAs should consider whether each of the risks listed below is relevant for its risk register and whether any additional risks which are not listed below are relevant.

1. Types of Risk

Risk management must be owned by all. Risks can be categorised in different ways for example, strategic and project risks.

Strategic Risks – Major concerns such as reputational risk, a risk that the organisation will fail to deliver on one (or several) of its strategic objectives and KPIs, or risks which pose a significant financial threat to the organisation. These are likely to be external issues with a high impact, which will likely require a response plan to mitigate the risk, should it occur, as controlling the occurrence is not within the County FA's sphere of influence. These risks should be tracked on an organisations Risk Register and reviewed on a monthly basis.

Project Risks – Risks which relate to the day-to-day management of projects and the County FA's core activities. These risks should be reviewed with project leads, who are expected to understand the risks and how they are managed and mitigated. If these risks become more severe, and threaten to impact reputation or strategic objectives, or pose a substantial financial risk to the organisation, then they should be elevated to Strategic Risks. This may happen during ongoing monitoring of the risks, or during monthly reviews with the project leads.

Examples of Safeguarding Risks:

Safeguarding risks may be strategic or project-based. All staff have a responsibility to identify safeguarding risks. These are expressed in a short-form style as one would expect in a risk register.

Safeguarding risk	Impact	Mitigation
High volume of abuse and/or poor practice referrals to the County FA	DSO role overwhelmed, affecting confidence and capacity to function effectively.	Regular 1:1 meetings to discuss workload and wellbeing – how the staff member is feeling and what will help them. Allocate additional resource to support the short-term rise in referrals and regularly monitor the impact of this.
Allegation against a member of staff relating to an offence against a child or adult at risk	Impact on: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Child or adult at risk; Staff against whom the allegation has been made; Any wider staff who are aware. Communications <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Potential media interest. Investigation: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Familiar with Policy for managing allegations; Pre-existing contact with the Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO). Communications: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Internal comms plan; External reactive media statement; Recruitment, induction, training; Staff recruited via safer recruitment practices. Staff safeguarding trained and briefed on their conduct and the expectations re behaviours; guidance on working with under-18s/adults at risk. Regular supervision. Line managers familiar with procedures for managing allegations.
DSO leaving the County FA	Short-term gap while recruitment is undertaken.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Business continuity planning; Capable deputy to stand-in temporarily – how deputy's 'normal' role could be backfilled; Arrangements with neighbouring County FAs to cover in emergencies.
Safeguarding incident at a County FA-endorsed event	Risk and impact to under-18s or adults at risk. Questions about current safeguarding practice and the County FA's capability to oversee safe practice. Adverse media coverage – reputational damage.	Risk assessments underpin all events, so risk mitigation in place. Safeguarding Policy, Procedures and Guidelines always followed. Everyone briefed on processes to follow when there are incidents. CEO, Board and Comms have a protocol for managing such incidents with the media in line with FA comms.
County FA fails to meet the KPI of achieving the Safeguarding Standard	Are children safe in football in the County FA? Low staff morale. Greater scrutiny of governance, leadership and operations. If County FA holds charitable status consideration of referral to the Charity Commission.	Regular oversight of progress against safeguarding measures and areas of standard – not just in relation to the independent assessment visit. Internal scrutiny via Board, Senior Management Team and relevant project groups, with early identification of any gaps in delivery. Contingency plans and delivery of actions identified in Independent Assessors reports.

2. Roles and Responsibilities

The Board and Senior Management Team should have responsibility for designing, implementing and maintaining an effective risk management system. However, all employees should consider, manage and report risk in the course of their day-to-day activities.

Board

The primary role of a Board is to maintain effective governance and oversight of the organisation. As such the Board are responsible for setting the broad policies and objectives which are applied by the Senior Management Team. This applies to risk management, where the Board must satisfy themselves that the processes and framework implemented by the Senior Management Team for managing risk are fit for purpose.

Senior Management Team

The Senior Management Team has responsibility for:

- The day-to-day operation of risk management across the organisation and ensuring that appropriate conversations take place to consider and manage risk;
- Ensuring that the risk management process is effectively linked with business planning and strategic objectives;
- Reporting to the Board on risk management;
- Ensuring that everyone understands the significance of risk management and is provided with the necessary tools in order to manage risk effectively in their day-to-day activities.

Specifically, the Senior Management Team is responsible for considering the:

- Nature and extent of the risks facing the organisation;
- Appetite for risk-taking;
- Extent and categories of risk which it regards as acceptable for the organisation to bear;
- Likelihood of the risks concerned crystallising the organisation's ability to reduce the incidence and impact on the business of risks that do crystallise;
- Cost of mitigating actions relative to the benefit thereby obtained in managing the related risks.

Risk owners

A risk owner is the individual who is best positioned to co-ordinate the management of a particular risk. As such they are responsible for determining and regularly re-assessing the gross impact and likelihood scores and identifying the most relevant mitigating actions. Risk owners will be supported by other relevant employees. In many cases, this group are the individuals who will initially identify the risks.

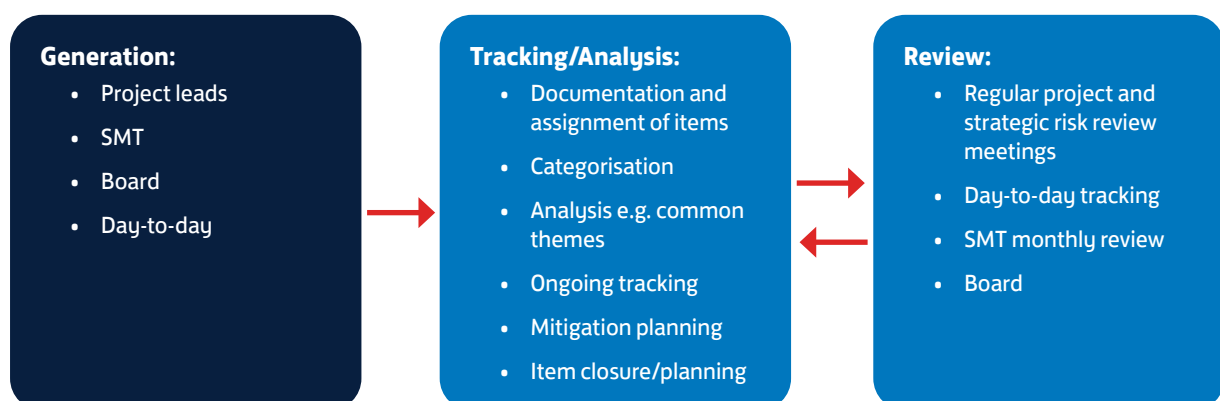

All employees

All individuals have responsibility for effectively managing any risk which their behaviour and actions may impact. Where appropriate they will be expected to input into the formal risk management processes set out within this document. All employees should proactively consider risk in the course of carrying out their day-to-day duties. All employees should escalate matters or concerns if they do not feel that risk is being appropriately considered or mitigated.

3. Definitions

Term	Definition
Risk	The effect of uncertainty on a situation i.e. a situation that may occur in the future and will have a negative impact on the project/organisation or failure to maximise an opportunity.
Risk crystallisation	The occurrence of a risk.
Risk impact	A direct outcome of the risk crystallising. Outcomes can impact a range of factors including financial, operational and reputational objectives.
Risk likelihood	The probability of the risk crystallising.
Mitigating action	A process or activity which helps to prevent a risk from crystallising.
Key Risk Indicator (KRI)	A quantifiable statistic which can be used to assess the likelihood of the risk crystallising.
Risk owner	The individual with responsibility for co-ordinating the management of the risk. Risk owners receive the support of other individuals to achieve this.
Issue	A situation that is currently being faced and is resulting in a negative impact on the project/organisation. This may be due to a risk crystallising or may be an independent situation that has arisen.
Item	A new addition to register that can take the form of a Risk or Issue.

4. Process Overview

The risk management process can be grouped into three stages:

To keep the risk management process live and relevant, the risks should be reviewed on a monthly basis with the project leads, updating items and generating new items where required. SmartSheet is an excellent tool to assist with this process.

4.1 Tracking and Management of Items

The register covers standard information such as title, owner, mitigating actions etc. Ensuring that everyone is working to the same understanding of how to group and filter risks is important to maintain the consistency of approach.

There is also an element of analysis and mitigation planning that features in this stage where the Senior Management Team analyse for themes/dependencies etc. This is carried out on an ongoing basis.

The management of the risk process is the responsibility of the CEO, supported by the Senior Management Team and there should be a clear process for analysis and sign off for risk registers.

4.2 Risk-Scoring

Risks are measured by (a) impact and (b) likelihood, to create an overall risk/RAG rating. A risk may have several different potential impacts with different levels of perceived severity. Where that is the case, the risk register should note the highest level of risk. For example, if the reputational impact of a risk is rated as '3', but the financial and operational impact of the risk is rated as '2', the impact recorded in the risk register should be '3'.

The likelihood of each risk should be scored in accordance with the scale below.

Scale	Description	Likelihood of occurrence
5	Certain	This risk is inevitable
4	Highly likely	This risk is highly likely to occur
3	Possible	This risk is moderately likely to occur
2	Unlikely	This risk is unlikely to occur
1	Rare	This risk is very unlikely to occur

Items should then be rated according to the interrelationship of Impact and Probability/Likelihood on the risk register template that a County FA chooses to use. These ratings are colour-coded based against the below scores, with the relevant actions being required. The risk rating should be calculated by reference to both impact and likelihood scores.

Risk Rating
L 0-3	Low Risk: manage by routine procedures
M 4-7	Moderate Risk: management responsibility must be specified
H 8-12	High Risk: senior management attention needed to monitor monthly
S 13-25	Significant Risk: immediate action required

4.3. Review

The register should be regularly reviewed by the Senior Management Team, and by the project leads. The outputs from these discussions should be looped back into the tracking/analysis stage.

Safeguarding Risk Assessment Tool – Template

The Safeguarding Operating Standard Template is provided as an exemplar document and can be adapted by County FAs to act as a tool to assess all business risks.

This Safeguarding Operating Standard Template resource is to be used in conjunction with The FA Guidance Notes 7.2: Safeguarding Deaf and Disabled Children. These are available at TheFA.com/football-rules-governance/safeguarding/section-7-children-and-young-people-under-18s

Introduction

This risk assessment tool template has been developed in line with CPSU (Child Protection in Sport Unit) guidance.

It is intended to support County FAs making safeguarding risk assessments where they are providing or commissioning activities for children and young people and adults at risk and/or where facilities are being hired by outside organisations.

It is intended to help County FAs ensure that the safety and welfare of children and young people is the paramount consideration within the planning and delivery of activities specifically for under-18s or adults in disability football.

Ownership

Where activities are run directly by the County FA, the County FA should take the lead in ensuring that the risk assessment is completed and reviewed.

Where facilities are being hired or delivery partners are being used the risk assessment should be jointly owned with safeguarding responsibilities being identified as part of any contract of hire or Service Level Agreement (SLA).

It is good practice to review risk assessments after events/activities to learn from experience and adapt accordingly

For the avoidance of doubt, a County FA (or third party) should consider all relevant factors when carrying out a risk assessment and the factors listed below are non-exhaustive and will not apply to every situation in which a risk assessment is required.

A County FA or third party should therefore consider whether each of the factors listed below is relevant in any given situation and whether any additional factors which are not listed in the template are relevant.

1. Introduction

The purpose of this document and of the following risk management procedures is to ensure there is a consistent and effective approach to the process of identification and management of risks across the Association. Some level of risk is inevitable, but the aim of these procedures alongside the approved risk management policy is to ensure that every effort is made to manage risk appropriately by minimising any adverse effects and maximising potential opportunities.

2. Identifying risk to the Association

There are many different types of risks that an organisation may face including damage to the organisation's reputation, poor governance, physical risks to people, breaches of regulations and poor management of resources.

There are a number of different risk categories related to our organisation's operations and structure. These are listed below with accompanying examples of the types of risks within these categories (these are not exhaustive):

Students	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Any harm or potential harm to our students whilst in our careSafeguarding issues, abuse or neglect of a vulnerable student.
Contracts	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Failure of partner or partners to deliverFailure to adhere to monitoring arrangements
Management	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Loss of key staff, recruitment & retention issues.Failure to deliver strategic or business plans.
Assets	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Misuse or loss of our assetsDamage, loss, impact on our Property – land, buildings & equipment either owned or leased by the AssociationInformation – security, retention, timeliness, accuracy, intellectual property rights.
Political	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Change in government priorities which lead to adverse impact on AssociationMisalignment with government strategy/funding
Financial	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Loss of/reduction in fundingFraud or other criminal financial lossIneffective or inefficient controls in place
Governance	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Lack of or failure of decision-making
Regulatory	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Failure to meet regulatory/statutory deadlines
Reputation	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Negative publicity either locally or nationally about the Association or one of our staff, students or volunteersDamage to credibility

Escalation of risk

The escalation of risk within an organisation is a key mechanism for ensuring that risk is managed at the appropriate level by the appropriate individuals. Relating this to Association's risk governance framework, the escalation channels are illustrated below:

Escalation of the risk should occur in the following circumstances:

- If the risk is exceeding the risk appetite set by the Directors/Trustees for that type of risk and there are no further actions available to reduce it;
- If the current risk owner does not have the delegated authority to manage the risk; and,
- If the risk is shared with other departments/business units, or with external organisations, and agreement is not being reached on how to manage it effectively.

Risks are escalated to the next accountable body i.e. a risk deemed to be too great for the risk owner at a business unit/head of level will then be escalated and considered for inclusion on the department risk register.

3. How to escalate risk

It is important to note that risk does not just increase or materialise once a quarter, and Association's procedures need to be agile in responding to emerging risks.

These should occur in 1:1 meetings with line managers, at team meetings and at department meetings. Where timely, these should be captured in the regular review of the department registers and of the Association registers. Where this is not possible, a risk escalation form should be completed and shared with the respective Director.

In the case of any potential new or increased risk which needs to be escalated to the Corporate Risk Register, the Head of Corporate Governance/Company Secretary should be informed as soon as practically possible so this can be recorded.

4. Reviewing and reporting risk within the organisation

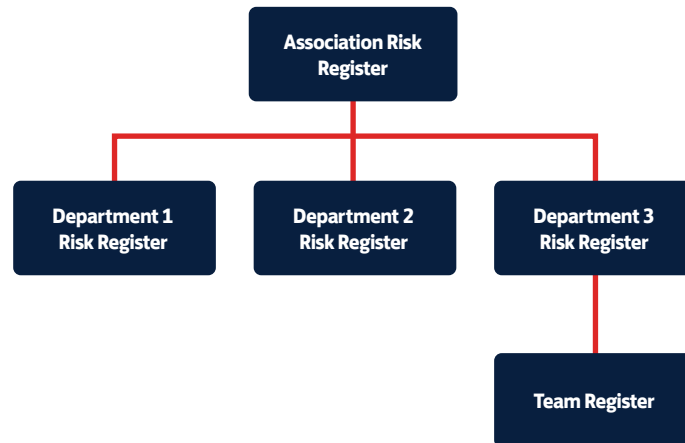

Risks are rated at three different levels; red, amber, green, depending on their likelihood and impact, and the management attention and resource committed to mitigating each of these categories of risk should also be allocated proportionately.

The table below outlines an approach for this for the Association Wide Register:

Residual Risk Level and Score	Frequency of Risk Reviews
RED 12+	These are significant risks which may have a serious impact on the achievement of objectives if not managed. Immediate management actions need to be taken to reduce the level of residual risk. All red residual risks, at strategic and business unit level, should be reported to the Executive. As a minimum review monthly at an SMT level until the risk is reduced. This review should include the cumulative/progressing impact of the mitigating actions. Decision will need to be taken on whether these risks should also be reported from the Audit & Risk Committee to the Director/Trustee Board.
AMBER 6–10	These risks may require some additional mitigation to reduce the likelihood of their occurrence, if this can be done cost effectively. Reassess to ensure conditions remain the same and existing actions are operating effectively. As a minimum review quarterly at an SMT level.
GREEN 1-5	These risks are being effectively managed and any further action to reduce the risk would be inefficient in terms of time and resources. Ensure conditions remain the same and existing actions are operating effectively. As a minimum review six-monthly – risks may reduce further and fall from the Association Risk Register

At a department level or business function level, Directors and Heads of may also wish to replicate this process for reviewing risks within their own areas, then using the escalation process when necessary (as stipulated).

5. How the Association register and sub-registers fit together

Sitting underneath the Corporate Risk Register are a number of functional risk registers owned by each respective team. On a monthly basis, the owner of each functional risk register is prompted to report any necessary escalations to the main corporate risk register, and on a quarterly basis, present to the respective sub-committee, where appropriate.

6. Using the Post-Incident Review process to manage risk

As a tool for managing ongoing risk and mitigating future materialisation of risk, the Association operates a Post-Incident Review (PIR) process, part of which records and logs corrective actions and learnings from each 'incident' occurrence in order for the organisation to rectify any outstanding issues before they crystallise.

Any incident reported or referred to the Regulator or an external supervisory body, must be taken through a post-incident review process. The number of open PIRs, and the number of complete and incomplete corrective actions will be reported to the Audit & Risk Committee on a quarterly basis.

Foreword

Sport England

I am pleased to support and endorse The Equality Standard: A Framework for Sport. Equality is fundamental to Sport England, and it underpins all aspects of our operations. Over the years, Sport England has championed the implementation of the Race Standard, developed by Sporting Equals, which has facilitated significant progress in racial equality within Sport England and by our partners.

It is therefore, a welcome development to have the Equality Standard, which is a progression and extension of the work achieved through the Race Standard, to cover other areas of equality as well. The new Standard provides a framework for Sport England and its partners to move the equality agenda to new levels. I have little doubt that the Standard will have an impact on the delivery of sport and leisure services in England.

I would like to congratulate the four Home Country Sports Councils, UK Sport and the other partners involved in developing and producing the Standard.

Now, let's deliver!

Patrick Carter Chair, Sport England

sportscotland

The celebration of diversity in sport is one of the key targets for sportscotland and The Equality Standard: A Framework for Sport is crucial to that aim. Equality in sport means the practice of fairness and the application of social justice to all situations and decision making processes. It is vital that we ensure that all individuals are respected, have equal opportunities and have their rights protected. Some may question why we need a document like this in the first place – we would hope and expect that these values already prevail in our sports clubs and organisations. However, as The Equality Standard: A Framework for Sport points out, research has shown that this perception is not wholly accurate. Supportive noises are not enough on their own and that is why it was recognised that the production of this Standard was necessary.

I am particularly pleased that the Standard is a collaborative effort involving the four Sports Councils, UK Sport and the partner organisations. When a document has such wide-ranging support from the key organisations involved in the delivery and running of sport in the UK, it confirms its importance, and crucially, a willingness from all involved to make it succeed.

I believe that the production of this national Standard, providing a framework for sports and community organisations, will help to achieve an increased participation in sport from individuals and groups who are currently under-represented. I commend this document to everybody involved in sport throughout Scotland and the UK.

Alastair Dempster Chairman, sportscotland

Sports Council for Wales

Sport is both an inseparable part of any country's cultural identity and a vital element in promoting health, individual fulfilment and social interaction.

It also provides the opportunity to bring people together. It is inclusive and can provide accessibility to all sections of the community – young and old, those with disabilities and people of different ethnic origins.

The Sports Council for Wales is working with the Welsh Assembly Government to improve health, social inclusion, equal opportunities and sustainable development.

We all have a role to play in levelling the playing field and improving the pathways into sport for those that remain socially excluded from sport. The Sports Council for Wales accepts that challenge.

I would like to thank all those involved in producing this blueprint for the future and I am confident that The Equality Standard: A Framework for Sport will help us, and our partners, to redress the balance.

Philip Carling Chair, Sports Council for Wales

The Sports Council for Northern Ireland

The Sports Council for Northern Ireland is committed to ensuring that equality of opportunity is central to all Sports Council activities, including programme development as well as the Equity Training Course. We are delighted to support The Equality Standard: A Framework for Sport and it is certainly fair to say that this document is the culmination of many months of hard work. Not only does the Standard provide a framework to ensure that organisations work to actively promote equity in sport in Northern Ireland, but it also forms a crucial step in moving sport forward for the benefit of all of us.

Prof Eric Saunders OBE Chair,

UK Sport

UK Sport set out its commitment to equality in our Equality and Diversity Strategy which was published in January 2004. In the Strategy we recognise that some groups in society remain disadvantaged in sport and accept our responsibility to address this lack of access through ethically fair investment and positive action.

It is now well known that equitable sporting opportunities positively effect the health of the nation, improve community cohesion, can raise standards in schools and increase a nation's medal tally. In addition, the demographic make up of the UK population will change radically in the next 10 years and sports organisations need to seek out those groups who traditionally participate less to ensure a stable participation base from which our future medallists can be drawn. Women, black and ethnic minority groups and disabled people all having the right to sporting opportunities and those with the talent and desire should be encouraged to strive for the highest levels of performance.

The Equality Standard: A Framework for Sport will provide the framework and thrust for UK Sport and our partners to engage, involve, promote and develop people from all sectors in society as athletes, coaches, officials, administrators and leaders in sport. The Standard will assist sports organisations in meeting their legislative obligations and drive them to demonstrate not just good practice in equality, but in all aspects of governance. Equality is central to the Modernisation process and sports organisations that are dynamic, visionary and progressive will set equality and the Equality Standard for Sport, as a priority in the coming years.

Sue Campbell CBE Chair, UK Sport

Introduction

The Equality Standard (the Standard) is a framework to guide sports and community organisations towards achieving equality. It will assist organisations in developing structures and processes, assessing performance and ensuring continuous improvement in equality.

The Standard draws on lessons from Achieving Racial Equality: A Standard for Sport, published by Sporting Equals in December 2000.

The Standard is a collaboration of the four Home Country Sports Councils and UK Sport, and is supported by the CCPR, the Women's Sports Foundation, the English Federation of Disability Sport and Sporting Equals.

2 Role of the Equality Standard

2.1 Rationale

Although many sports organisations maintain that they have an 'open door' policy, this has not necessarily changed the traditional levels of participation and involvement in sport. Research shows that many sports have low participation levels by women and girls, ethnic minority groups, disabled people and, in some cases, young people, and these groups are therefore under-represented.

2.2 What the Standard covers

It is recognised that the equality areas that need to be addressed for any organisation will depend on the sport, the role and environment. However, it is also recognised that all organisations are bound by specific equality legislation.

2.3 The benefits of the Standard

Applying the Standard will enable your organisation to:

- Provide a framework for achieving equality in sport.
- Ensure democracy and the sound governance of the sport.
- Increase the number of participants, members, coaches, officials, spectators and volunteers by reaching new audiences.
- Help meet legal duties thereby reducing the likelihood of litigation.
- Enhance the skills and knowledge base of your staff and volunteers.
- Increase active involvement in equality at every level.
- Improve equality practices through monitoring, evaluation and review methods.
- Improve your chances of accessing funding and sponsorship.

And, for those organisations that have started to address equality issues, to:

- Build on existing good practice in equality.
- Assess and review current equality policy.
- Assess and review equality performance and achievements.

The Equality Standard

3.1 The Standard explained

The Standard is based on two broad areas of activity and four levels of achievement. All four levels must be supported by relevant evidence, which will be verified through the evaluation process.

In defining the equality needs for sports organisations, the Standard has identified two areas of activity:

- Developing Your Organisation – what your organisation is. This will be a reflection of the culture, policies, leadership and people.
- Developing Your Services – what your organisation does. This is reflected in the impact that policies, leadership and people have on your organisation's programmes, communications and customer service.

Each level has been developed to take account of the different starting points of different sports organisations. The outcomes from each level are as follows:

FOUNDATION

- Your organisation is committed to equality.
- Your organisation has an equality policy that has been communicated and is understood by staff and key volunteers.
- Your organisation is aware of its current profile in terms of equality.

PRELIMINARY

- Your organisation understands the issues and barriers faced by under-represented groups in sport.
- Your organisation has a robust equality action plan which all staff, volunteers and key stakeholders understand.
- All staff and volunteers within your organisation understand the principles of equality and their role in delivering against your action plan.
- Partner organisations and new audiences are aware of, and are engaged in, the delivery of your action plan.

INTERMEDIATE

- Your organisation has increased the diversity of its leadership, staff, board and senior volunteers.
- All internal policies pay due regard to diversity.

- You have a staff/volunteer team with a strong understanding and commitment to equality at head office, regional, county and club membership levels.
- You have increased the diversity of people participating in and using your services.
- People inside and outside your organisation are aware of your success and achievements in working towards equality.

ADVANCED

- Leadership and staff are reflective of the community your organisation serves.
- Equality is central to the way your organisation carries out all of its work.
- All of your programmes and investment pay due regard to the diverse groups you serve.
- Participants, coaches and officials are reflective of the community.
- All affiliated organisations and clubs are able to engage and develop participants, coaches, officials and administrators from under-represented groups.
- There is an increase in the number of athletes from under-represented groups in performance and elite sport.

The Advanced level is equal to category two of the Modernisation Programme 'Investing in Change'* models of good governance. Governing bodies that reflect category one of the 'Investing in Change' models would be expected to achieve the Advanced level of the Equality Standard and to demonstrate that they have both maintained and 'excelled' at this Advanced level for a further year. Additional evidence would be required to verify that this work has been maintained for this period, confirming that equality issues are part of the mainstream work of the governing body.

'Investing in Change' clarifies what the Modernisation process means, identifies the strengths and weaknesses of governing bodies, and offers practical advice on the systems, structures and process that they can use in order to operate more effectively and more efficiently.*

The national governing bodies of sport (NGB) Investing in Change Success Criteria/Model Framework forms the basis of the development model produced for NGBs – and is an essential element of the NGBs Modernisation Programme. Further information is available from the UK Sport website www.ukssport.gov.uk or telephone 020 7211 5100.

3.2 Organisational engagement

In the first instance the chief executive and/or the board should make a positive statement reflecting your organisation's commitment to achieving the Equality Standard. Signing up to the Standard can be done in a number of ways:

- A feature article, written by your chief executive or the chair of your board, published in your sport's magazine, website, newsletter or via a press release.
- Announcement of your commitment to the Equality Standard at a public event, such as a national competition, annual general meeting or conference.

3.3 Verification of achievements

In order to make progress through the Equality Standard framework, organisations will have to establish their current position and provide evidence of their achievements. Organisations, which have achieved the Preliminary level of the Racial Equality Standard in sport, can use this as part of the evidence needed for the Equality Standard. Monitoring is essential to enable organisations to measure change and improvement.

On completion of a level, your organisation will forward a portfolio to the relevant Sports Council, to convene the panel responsible for assessing and verifying the evidence.

If your organisation is unsuccessful in meeting the Standard, the panel will give their reasons in writing and you will have an opportunity to respond. You can re-submit your portfolio for the panel to reconsider its decision.

An appeals process is available.

3.4 Evaluation of the Equality Standard

The validation and evaluation of the Equality Standard will be carried out in different ways for the different levels.

3.5 Accreditation

As a minimum the independent panel will consist of two Sports Council representatives, a representative from a sports organisation and an equality specialist.

4 Using the Equality Standard

4.1 Foundation level

Principle: your organisation is committed to equality

A. Developing Your Organisation

OUTCOME

Your organisation is committed to equality.

SUGGESTED KEY TASKS

Set accountability for equality at the highest level in the organisation both in terms of officers and committee members.

Commit staff time/budget to equality generally and the process of achieving the Equality Standard specifically.

Ensure that all those involved in your organisation are aware of this commitment.

SUGGESTED EVIDENCE

Named person or group accountable for equality.

Specified budget and staff or volunteer time recorded in meeting minutes, person specification, and individual action plan.

Written communication, website pages, internal communication.

Your organisation has a policy for equality that has been communicated and is understood by staff and key volunteers.

Draft a policy for equality.

Develop briefing sessions/training for senior staff and committee members on equality and its relevance to your sport.

Ensure all staff and key volunteers have an opportunity to contribute to its development.

Disseminate and communicate the policy for equality throughout your organisation.

A copy of the policy that addresses equality.

Training session notes, list of attendees and evaluations.

Presentation papers, list of attendees, publications or promotional materials, staff handbook, members' handbook, recruitment literature, induction training, minutes of meetings, advertisements, recruitment materials, policies and procedures, staff training, members' information.

Your organisation is aware of its current profile and position in terms of equality.

Conduct an audit of:

- the equality profile of staff, volunteers, board, coaches and officials
- human resources policies
- marketing and communications
- profile of members, participants, service users
- profile of elite performers.

Analyse the findings in terms of trends and equality impact. Present the information in a format that enables the information to be easily used in the development of an equality action plan (see Preliminary level).

Statistical data that demonstrate the demographic profile of the organisation to include staff, all volunteers, coaches, officials and participants, in terms of gender, ethnicity, age, disability and sexual orientation (staff only).

Report and presentation of the findings.

4.2 Preliminary level

Principle: your organisation is clear about what it needs to do to achieve equality

A. Developing Your Organisation

OUTCOME

Your organisation understands the issues and barriers faced by under-represented groups.

SUGGESTED KEY TASKS

Seek guidance on the findings of the audit which demonstrate under-representation from particular groups.

SUGGESTED EVIDENCE

Your organisation has a robust action plan for equality which all staff, volunteers and key stakeholders understand.

Review policies, procedures and programmes for their equality impact.

Draft an action plan for equality.

The action plan should take account of all areas of your organisation's activities including: sports development work, administration, personnel and human resources, publicity and marketing, representation and committee structures and elite elements of the sport.

5.1 Glossary of terms

Community

A group of people with shared interests, locally and/or nationally.

Disability

Defined under the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 as ‘a physical or mental impairment that has a substantial and long-term adverse effect on a person’s ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities’.

Disability – Social Model

Disability is a condition imposed on disabled people by society and is created by prejudice, fear, myths and ignorance. It limits opportunities for education, employment, financial independence and full social interaction.

Disadvantage

An unfavourable circumstance or the disproportionate deprivation of some or all resources without reason.

Discrimination

The action that people take on the basis of their prejudices, which results in unfair and unjust treatment.

Direct discrimination

Treating one person less favourably than another in similar circumstances. Direct discrimination on the basis of sex often shows itself in traditional stereotypes about the roles of men and women and what might be considered ‘men’s jobs’ and ‘women’s jobs’. Women are frequently the target of discriminatory practices.

Indirect discrimination

Imposing requirements or conditions, which on the face of it, apply equally to all but which, in practice, can be met only by certain sections of the population. Such requirements or conditions are lawful only if they can be objectively justified.

Diversity

Respecting and celebrating individual and community differences.

Equal opportunities

Within the employment context, treating people as individuals and providing them with opportunities on the basis of their skills, talents and qualifications so that they are neither disadvantaged nor denied access on the grounds of their age, disability, ethnicity, race, sex or sexual orientation.

Equality

The state of being equal – treating individuals equally, which is not necessarily the same as treating them the same. In some cases the need for equality may require unequal effort to ensure that the principle of equality is achieved.

Equity

In its simplest sense, ‘fairness’; the process of allocating (or reallocating) resources and entitlements, including power, fairly and without discrimination. It includes fairness in opportunity and the upholding of individual human rights through social justice.

Empowerment

A learning organisation is one that provides the skills, competencies and information to enable individuals to learn and develop their potential that will benefit both the individual and the sport.

Ethics

The systematic application of moral rules, principles, values and norms.

Ethnic minority communities

This term is often used to distinguish between white people and black and other ethnic minority communities.

Harassment

A form of discrimination that may lead to a breach of statute as it constitutes an activity that can be detrimental to members of one particular race or sex. Harassment can be defined as an action or comment that causes persistent offence to a person or group. An example of racial harassment would be racially motivated behaviour that causes distress or discomfort to people from ethnic minority communities.

Mainstreaming

The systematic integration of gender equality into all systems and structures; policies, programmes, processes and projects; into cultures and their organisations, into ways of seeing and doing.

Positive action

A range of measures or initiatives intended to redress the effects of past discrimination. For example, positive action measures are frequently used to encourage applications from an under-represented group in an organisation or to introduce training where there is under-representation of a particular group in the organisation. Positive action can be taken to redress a balance only within the bounds of the appropriate legislation.

Prejudice

Negative, irrational feelings, attitudes and opinions that people have about other people. It suggests prejudging or forming an opinion about other people without any prior knowledge of them.

Racism

The total effect of racial disadvantage and discrimination, caused deliberately or inadvertently by individuals, groups or organisations.

Sexism

The systematic discrimination against one sex (usually by the other).

Sexual orientation

An awareness of expressions, actions, declarations, attitudes or behaviours linked to an awareness of own or others sexual identity. These identities include lesbians and gay men, bisexual women and men, heterosexual men and women, and transsexual people.

Social inclusion

A process of tackling needs, generally for communities who are or who have been excluded from services and opportunities that the majority of the community has access to. Social inclusion is often used to describe places where there are excluded communities and where there is a need for actions that bring opportunities to these excluded people. It is often used in the context of opportunities in education, housing, economic prosperity, health, employment and in community safety and crime reduction and in community facilities (arts, sport, culture and community venues and services) and transport.

Stereotyping

The process of labelling people because they are members of a particular visible group or developing a standardised image of a person or group, whereby it is assumed that they must also share particular traits that are considered characteristic of that group.

1. Introduction

The Equality Standard: A Framework for Sport (the Standard) was launched by the UK sports councils in November 2004 to help address the inequalities that exist within the sports sector. It is a framework to guide sports organisations, including: governing bodies of sport, county sports partnerships (CSPs), sports councils and national sports organisations towards achieving equality. A more detailed introduction to the standard can be found in the “process and guidance for sports organisations” document.

This document contains three sections:

- Outcomes, minimum requirements, evidence, examples of good practice and additional guidance for each level of the Standard;

- The assessment criteria against which all submitted evidence should be tested;
- An assessment form for each level of the Standard.

This is part of an overall suite of guidance material containing four other documents:

- Process and guidance for sports organisations;
- Designated support lead (DSL) process and guidance;
- Equality standard assessor (EQSA) process and guidance;
- Glossary of terms.

2. Minimum requirements

2.1

Areas of activity

The Standard is based on two broad areas of activity:

- Developing your organisation — This will be a reflection of the culture, policies, leadership and people;
- Developing your services — This activity describes the work an organisation has done to improve delivery and will be reflected in action plans (e.g. inclusion programmes, initiatives to encourage under represented groups to participate etc).

2.2

Levels of achievement

There are four levels of achievement, Foundation, Preliminary, Intermediate and Advanced, with each being structured in the following tables as shown below:

- Each level contains three or four outcomes;
- Each outcome is broken down into a number of minimum requirements;
- For each minimum requirement, there is a list of evidence for DSL assessment, a list of evidence for EQSA assessment, best practice and some additional guidance.

It is expected that the applicant organisation will be assessed against the specified evidence. However, the evidence listed is a guide and it is not prescriptive. Suitable alternatives can be presented if they meet the outcomes and will be judged on their merits.

2.3

Principles of each level

Foundation

The organisation is committed to equality and that commitment is communicated to all staff and volunteers.

Preliminary

The organisation is clear about what it needs to do to achieve equality, it understands the issues and barriers faced by under-represented groups in sport and has a robust equality action plan which all staff, volunteers and key stakeholders understand.

Intermediate

The organisation is increasing opportunities for participation and involvement by a diverse range of people including representation on its own leadership, staff, board and senior volunteers. All internal policies pay due regard to diversity.

Advanced

Leadership and staff, including coaches and officials as well as participants, are offered a fair and equal opportunity and are reflective of the community the organisation serves.

Equality is central to the way an organisation carries out all of its work. All affiliated organisations and clubs are able to engage and develop participants, coaches, officials and administrators from under-represented groups.

Outcome	Minimum requirement	Evidence for DSL Assessment
	2.2 Communicate/promote the equality action plan internally.	The action plan to show how it will be communicated throughout the organisation e.g. inclusion in business plan; standing agenda item on board and operational meetings; staff updates. Evidence to show the action plan has actually been communicated.
3 All board members and staff (paid and unpaid) within your organisation understand the general principles of equality and how it relates to their sport.	3.1 Identify the training requirements for staff and key volunteers and create a learning development plan within the equality action plan.	Outcomes resulting from identifying training requirements and evidence that this is incorporated into the business plan/equality action plan.
4 Your recruitment practices and policies seek to advance equality.	4.1 Review, and enhance where necessary, all recruitment practices and policies: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The review considers how equality can be advanced, including the recruitment of unpaid staff and volunteers. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Adverts should outline the organisations commitment to equality; Adverts should be distributed to as wide an audience as practically possible; Job specifications/descriptions and the application process does not exclude any groups from applying; The selection criteria is clear, relevant and inclusive; Staff involved in the recruitment process should have received training on equality in recruitment; Interviews are held at appropriate and accessible locations and times; Application material includes an equality monitoring form and other relevant equality information; Recruitment and selection policy.

			Communicating the action plan Your action plan will contain information on the communication process. This could include: website, intranet, staff meetings, members (e-) newsletters or bulletins, events and stakeholder meetings, and staff handbook. Evidence to suggest that this communication has taken place should be compiled. It is important that equality is mainstreamed and is not just seen as a 'bolt on'. How will you ensure that this happened? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Inclusion in the business plan; • Reference made in organisational policy and documentation; • Permanent feature in newsletters; • Standing agenda item on board and operational meetings. 2.7 Advanced level

1 Your organisation has made significant progress towards diversity within board, staff (paid and unpaid), coaches, officials, members or participants.	1.1 Gather profile information that demonstrates the diversity of boards, staff (paid and unpaid), coaches, officials, members and participants; <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Report against identified bench marks at Intermediate level and define additional actions; Actively seek representation on internal committees through positive action; Self evaluate effectiveness of programmes or other actions with a view to continuous improvement. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Reports to committees, management teams, and board which highlight the organisation's profile and how this has changed over time; Audit report to reflect equality strands in line with home country legislation; Evidence of review, monitoring and evaluation of equality objectives by senior managers/volunteers; Evidence of steps taken to address shortfall to ensure representative; Evidence of self evaluation and learning points.
2 Equality is mainstreamed through the organisation's functions, policies and procedures.	2.1 Ensure functions, key policies and procedures in all areas of activity that include a visible equality dimension are screened and/or undergo full impact assessment.	Database which shows results of all completed screening and/or full impact assessment of functions, key policies and operations.
	2.2 Evidence of a link between equality outcomes, action plans, corporate and service plans, and the corporate performance management system.	Demonstration could include equality mainstreaming within performance review processes, competencies, role accountabilities and continuous professional development.
	2.3 Evidence of link between equality and key HR processes.	Demonstration could include screening and/or full impact assessment of all HR policies, induction pack, and recruitment policies.
	2.4 Named staff and board members are identified as responsible for equality in their area of operation.	Equality priorities highlighted in staff and board members' individual objectives, job descriptions and departmental plans.
	2.5 Establish further development targets for clubs and key competitions to reflect the diversity of your sport or the need to address under representation.	Rationale and evidence base for target setting. Targets with timescales integrated into development plans. Evaluate and report on success of achieving targets. Other evidence might include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Equal prize money (where relevant); Equal access to facilities and events; Events that pay due regard to religious days or requirements; Club accreditation schemes which highlight the value of equality focused operations and programmes.
3 Your organisation is developing further initiatives to address each protected characteristic.	3.1 A rationale for your organisation's priorities in terms of specific initiatives for particular characteristics; <ul style="list-style-type: none"> An analysis of potential differential needs for each protected characteristic; Development of a plan which outlines initiatives to address the differential needs of each protected characteristic (where there is evidence that there is such a need). 	A report or paper which: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Provides an analysis of differential needs for each protected characteristic (relative to your organisations work/focus); Outlines ideas for development which would address these differential needs.

	Evidence for EQSA Assessment	Best practice	Additional guidance
	Reports which highlight the organisation's profile.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Service programme; Makeup of the equality and diversity committee (or similar group); External advisory group; Management or board discussion and any decisions or action decided. 	Monitoring data should be able to demonstrate significant progress within diversity of board and staff since beginning the Equality Standard process. The audit report should include an explanation of how your board reflects diversity and the difference that diversity has brought to the organisation. Your current audit data should reflect all of the required legislative strands and should be made public via your website. There should be sufficient evidence to suggest that equality is imbedded within the organisation through individual work programmes and departmental planning. There should be evidence that management and board take responsibility for ensuring commitment to equality.
	Database which shows results of all completed screening and/or full impact assessment of functions, key policies and operations.	Ensure that there is a clear, easy to follow and visible screening and/or full impact assessment process, supported with appropriate templates to record results and actions.	The EQSA will need to be satisfied that screening and/or full impact assessment is fully integrated into the organisation's policy development process and is being carried out by a significant number of staff. A screening template is available on the website: www.equalityinsport.org
		Equality action plan is fully integrated into the organisations business planning, reporting, and performance management.	Equality action planning should be fully integrated into the organisations business planning, including screening and impact assessment. Equality action planning should not be undertaken in isolation. The organisational planning, monitoring and progress should now have equality embedded within it.
			Evidence of departmental planning is required; it should be clear that there is a clear understanding of roles at departmental level.
	Rationale and evidence base for target setting. Targets with timescales integrated into development plans. Evaluate and report on success of achieving targets.

3. Assessment criteria

When the evidence is being self-assessed by the applicant organisation, assessed by the DSL or independently evaluated by the EQSA, it should be measured against, and must satisfy, the following criteria to achieve the level of the Standard:

i) Relevant

- Is the evidence directly relevant, is it current (still up-to-date) and does it cover all protected characteristics;
- Any research that is less than three years old and other evidence that is less than one year old will be considered good practice. Evidence that does not fall within this timescale will be judged on its merits.

ii) Robust

- Does the evidence show that the activities described actually and consistently happen in practice throughout the organisation or as appropriate to the organisation, community and political climate?

iii) Scope

- Does the evidence cover all areas of activity within the scope of the outcome?

iv) Sufficient

- Is the evidence sufficient in breadth and depth to achieve the outcome?

4. Assessment forms

The assessment forms are available as word documents from your sports council. Each form is similar, with only the relevant outcomes, requirements and evidence being different. The form has colour coded headings to show who should be completing that section:

- Applicant organisation – in red
- Sports council – in purple
- Designated support lead (DSL) – in blue
- Equality standard assessor (EQSA) – in green

Below is guidance as to how to complete each section of a form.

4.1

Contact details (part A)

These are to be provided by the applicant organisation, relevant sports council, DSL and EQSA.

organisation as a whole and of the relevant equality areas. Please try to ensure that all answers give sufficient detail, but are concise.

4.2

Background information (part B)

These should be answered by the organisation to provide an overview for the DSL and EQSA, so that they have a general understanding of the

If the information requested is not available in the way it is anticipated then the organisation should give some detail to explain this. For example, the form asks for the number of members in the applicant organisation. This is useful for the DSL and EQSA to get a rough idea of the size of the organisation. However, if it is a UK body with just home country representation as members, then simply answering “four” to the question will not help greatly and some explanatory text should be provided.

The last request asks for present equality initiatives within the organisation, which is fairly straightforward, but also for equality initiatives in the sport as a whole that are relevant to the applicant. This may include, for example, partnerships that the applicant organisation has formed, committees that they are part of, or research that they are involved with, but that is being carried out by another agency.

Application assessment (part C)

The first part of this section of the form, “assessment of evidence”, shows the requirements and evidence for each outcome and provides space for an assessment of the evidence from the organisation, DSL and EQSA. The organisation will insert a summary of the evidence available as part of their self assessment and the EQSA will use this space to show the detail of the findings of their evaluation, including how the submitted evidence meets the specified assessment criteria. It is optional for the DSL to include comments, but, for example, they would be likely to state a view on the merits of the evidence available if it is different to that specified within the requirements list.

The “good practice” information is not repeated as part of the form, but if any of this has been adopted, then it would be helpful to the EQSA if this is stated by the applicant organisation as part of their self assessment or the DSL.

The second part of this section of the form, “overall assessment of application”, provides space for the applicant organisation, DSL and EQSA to list key strengths, areas for development, an overall summary of the evidence submitted and for the EQSA to record their decision about the application. Again, it is optional for the DSL to add any information to this section.

Areas for development are also optional for the applicant organisation and EQSA. These are areas that, if addressed, would be likely to make the applicant organisation more equitable, but they do not prevent them from achieving this level of the Standard.

Examples of good practice (part D)

One way to ensure the Standard continues to provide maximum benefit to all on an ongoing basis is to develop examples of good practice and then share these with other organisations. This section provides the opportunity for the DSL or EQSA, to list any evidence from this application that they regard as good practice worth sharing with others.

4.5

Updating the Equality Standard (part E)

To ensure the Standard remains effective, it may need to be periodically updated. This part of the form allows the applicant organisation, DSL and EQSA to add any views they have about improvements that could be made, based on their experience of working on this application.

4.6

Signatories (part F)

This simply requires a name and date for the applicant organisation, DSL, EQSA and supporting sports council when they have completed their work on this application. This information should be provided electronically. It is not expected that forms will be physically signed.

1. Introduction

Background

The Equality Standard: A Framework for Sport (the Standard) was launched by the UK sports councils in November 2004 to help address the inequalities that exist within the sports sector. It is a framework to guide sports organisations, including: governing bodies of sport, county sports partnerships (CSPs), sports councils and national sports organisations towards achieving equality.

Active People Survey 4
Diagnostic 2011
Sport Wales: Active Adults
Survey 08/09
Scottish Household Survey
09/10
The Northern Ireland
Sport and Physical Activity
Survey 2010

Research shows¹ that there are significant inequalities in sports' participation in the UK at all levels (including participants, coaches, officials, volunteers and employees). These inequalities can be linked to characteristics which are now protected under equalities legislation. Across the UK these characteristics include: gender, disability, ethnic origin, sexual orientation, age, social background, gender reassignment, religion or belief, political opinion, marital/civil partnership status and dependents. Research indicates that there are various barriers which hinder sports participation by people from these under-represented groups. Through the development of robust action plans, the Standard is a vehicle for widening access and increasing the participation and involvement in sport and physical activity by under-represented individuals, groups and communities. The Standard supports sports organisations to develop and implement equality-proofed policies and practices.

The Standard is endorsed by a range of agencies. Please visit the Equality in Sport website, www.equalityinsport.org, for the latest list of these.

All the sports councils are committed to:

1. Continuing to develop the Standard so that it supports the promotion of equality within sport in an effective and non-bureaucratic way;
2. Supporting organisations in whom they invest to implement the Standard as part of their work to achieve and promote equality; and
3. Implementing the Standard.

Implementation of the Standard varies in each home country in regard to the level and type of support provided to organisations, and whether achievement of the Standard is an investment requirement or not. All recognised governing bodies of sport, including those that do not receive investment from sports councils, are encouraged to implement the Standard.

The Standard has been developed to ensure it reflects current legislation. The Equality Act 2010 (the Act) promotes and protects equality and has jurisdiction in Wales, Scotland and England. In Northern Ireland, the legislation is structured differently, but the spirit of the legislation is the same.

Legislation across the home countries outlines protected characteristics that individuals and groups of individuals share. This ensures that people who share these characteristics are protected from discrimination and harassment. In addition, public sector bodies, such as the sports councils and local authorities, must comply with certain general and specific duties. These differ in various parts of the UK and, if you need to know what affects public sector bodies relevant to you, then contact your sports council.

The Standard is one mechanism through which the sports councils are able to meet their public sector body equalities duties. It also supports sports organisations to consider and engage with equality, both within their internal structure and process, and in the form of developing actions and initiatives which encourage participation in sport by people who share one of the protected characteristics.

This guide is primarily aimed at sporting organisations that are applying, or are likely to apply, for a level of the Standard. It is part of an overall suite of guidance material containing four other documents:

- Designated support lead (DSL) process and guidance;
- Equality standard assessor (EQSA) process and guidance;
- Equality Standard requirements and assessment forms;
- Glossary of terms.

1.2

Benefits of the Equality Standard

There are key benefits to your organisation of working through the Standard. The Standard:

- Provides a framework for achieving equality in sport;
- Helps to ensure democracy and sound governance of the sport;
- Increases participation by reaching new audiences;
- Mitigates against legal action and helps to meet legal duties;
- Enhances the skills and knowledge base of staff and volunteers;
- Increases involvement in equality at all levels of the organisation;
- Improves equality practices through monitoring, evaluation and review;
- Builds on existing equality good practice;
- Guides in assessing and reviewing equality performance and achievements;
- Helps to open sport up to all sectors of the community;
- Encourages more potential administrators, coaches, officials and volunteers;
- Provides a positive public image;
- Appeals to funding providers and sponsors.

1.3

2. Assessment process

The Sports Council Equality Group (SCEG) will maintain comprehensive and up-to-date guidance documents, templates and good practice and ensure that these are promoted and accessible to organisations working through the Standard.

Assessment will take place on a quarterly basis. Each quarter, sports council equality leads will update SCEG on the progress and projected submission dates of organisations in which they invest. This will allow each sports council and SCEG to schedule EQSAs, who will provide an independent evaluation of the submission.

There will be two phases to the assessment process:

- Self assessment by the applicant sports organisation, supported by the DSL;
- Independent evaluation of evidence by an EQSA or auditor (for sports councils using self assurance).

If you wish to work through a level of the Standard, then approach your sports council to establish whether funded support is available. Alternatively, your sports council may approach you to discuss how and when you should aim to progress through the Standard.

Once organisations have achieved a level of the Standard, it is recommended that they either progress to the next level within 3 years, or if they have not done that, they resubmit for their current level. This is not mandatory and the accreditation will remain, but it is regarded as best practice to progress or resubmit within a 3 year period, as it ensures all evidence is up-to-date.

Support – Designated Support Lead (DSL)

It is mandatory that organisations have the support of a DSL as part of the application. Your sports council will assist in obtaining a DSL and will outline the support that this DSL can provide. The type and level of support from the DSL will also be determined by each sports council, but may be provided by:

- Sports council's partnership managers;
- Equality partners (e.g. Sporting Equals, Women's Sport and Fitness Foundation, English Federation of Disability Sport);
- Equality standard advisors.

Whilst an organisation is applying for a level of the Standard, the DSL will:

- Provide advice and information as appropriate;

- Ensure the minimum requirements (including evidence) are met;
- Sign the assessment form prior to this being emailed by the organisation to the EQSA.

Self assessment supported by the DSL

The process of working towards a level of the Standard involves the organisation gathering all the evidence listed in the “requirements and forms” document for that level. During this work, the organisation will be supported by the DSL in the most appropriate way, as agreed jointly with the DSL and the relevant sports council.

When all required evidence is in place organisations will complete an assessment form. The DSL is required to sign off the assessment form; this confirms to their appropriate sports council equality lead that the organisation is ready to submit.

The organisation is responsible for formally informing the relevant sports council that they are ready to be assessed and the sports council will then allocate an EQSA, to whom the organisation will submit the assessment form along with the appropriate evidence. Each sports council will maintain a pool of EQSAs and allocate these in line with that sports council's policy.

Independent evaluation by the EQSA

The EQSA shall be required to conduct an evaluation of the assessment form and three pieces of supporting evidence for the appropriate level of the Standard, and prepare written feedback and recommendations for the organisation. The relevant three pieces of supporting evidence for each level can be found in the "requirements and forms" document.

Once the EQSA has initially reviewed the assessment form and relevant supporting evidence, the following actions are required by the EQSA:

Foundation level

Optional telephone conversation with the organisation equality lead. This will only be needed if the EQSA is in any doubt concerning the final recommendation and requires further clarification or information.

Preliminary level

Mandatory telephone conversation to discuss action plan and review process, with the equality lead for the submitting organisation.

Intermediate and Advanced levels

A mandatory visit to the organisation with a view to meeting the relevant individuals from across the organisation as determined by the EQSA, this may include the following: equality lead, board chair and chief executive. The purpose of the visit is to verify whether equality is embedded in the organisation.

EQSA feedback

The EQSA feedback will summarise and evaluate the evidence that the organisation has submitted to demonstrate that it has achieved the outcomes appropriate to that level of the Standard. Sufficient detail will be provided on the assessment form by the EQSA to support their recommendation and this will be sent to the relevant sports council once the assessment is complete.

The EQSA will objectively and consistently interpret and judge the evidence submitted, using the assessment criteria as a guide. The EQSA will include on the assessment form:

- Detail of the (a) strengths and (b) areas for development within the evidence submitted;
- A recommendation, along with a justification, as to whether the organisation has successfully met the appropriate level of the Standard. If they have, the recommendation will be “achieved”. If they have not, then the recommendation will be “continues to work towards the level”;
- If the recommendation is “continues to work towards the level”, specific guidance as to what is required prior to the organisation resubmitting;
- Note of any good practice that is worth sharing with others.

Recommendations from the EQSA as to what will be required from the organisation in order to progress to the next level of the Standard.

The Equality Standard process

After assessment

Should the recommendation be “continues to work towards the level”, the DSL may be requested to continue to assist the organisation as follows: plan how it will provide further evidence at the re-submission, implement the EQSA specific guidance, or provide practical assistance in gathering this evidence. Once all required evidence is in place, the organisation should amend the original application form and then follow the same submission process used for the initial application.

2.6

Communicating achievements

The relevant sports council shall communicate the decision and provide a copy of the report to the organisation. The outcomes of each quarter’s assessments will be reported to SCEG.

SCEG will be responsible for ensuring that up-to-date information on organisations that have achieved the Standard is maintained on the Standard website.

Appeals

The relevant sports council will deal with any appeals from organisations against the EQSA decision, in line with that sports council’s appeals process.

2.8

The Equality Standard process

✓ Level achieved – move onto next level

✗ Level not achieved – continue to work towards the level

Self Assurance

Some organisations can achieve the Foundation level through their sports council's self-assurance process. Such organisations should comply with the timescales and procedures of their sports council's self assurance process².

- Maintain a record of the application and assessment activity that captures recommended improvements to the process and templates;
- Maintain regular communication with all parties regarding the Standard.

Quality Assurance

To ensure that the credibility and consistency of the application and assessment process is upheld, individual sports councils or SCEG will:

- Provide appropriate training to all DSLs and EQSAs based on individual need;
- Conduct an annual review of a sample of assessment forms, which will help to maintain consistency and monitor the process;
- Provide guidance to all involved in the submission and assessment process;
- Offer appropriate levels of monitoring and support;

² At the time of writing, the self-assurance process is an annual process for Sport England and UK Sport funded NGBs, which requires these organisations to complete an online process on a number of governance areas. The equality requirements mirror those outlined in the Foundation level of the Standard

2.11

Confidentiality

All data and information about the organisation that the DSL and EQSA has access to is owned by the organisation and will be treated confidentially for the sole purpose of achieving a level of the Standard.

Organisations will have their own data protection policies which DSLs and EQSAs are required to adhere to when handling sensitive data.

Complaints

These will be dealt with by the relevant sports council in line with their complaints policy.

3. Further information

As a minimum, readers of this guidance should also read the “requirements and forms” document. This contains all essential evidence, the relevant assessment forms and the assessment of evidence criteria checklist.

The latest information regarding the Standard can always be found on the Equality in Sport website
