Candidates with Learning Difficulties and Disabilities

The London F.A. endeavour to ensure that assessment requirements and methods used within its coaching and education scheme are flexible enough to enable the widest range of candidate to fairly and reliably demonstrate competence. We must ensure that you are not given an unfair advantage or that others think you are given advantage.

Particular assessment requirements may take a number of forms. Examples may include:

- Being unable to complete written tasks through a temporary or permanent disability
- Being unavailable through illness or injury to attend a scheduled practical assessment
- Being unable to effectively demonstrate practical aspects of coaching through illness or injury.

There are requirements within certain Coaching Courses for the candidate to demonstrate the development of practical football skills that may limit access for some candidates. Your course tutor will explain the assessment criteria and requirements of the course to you. If you believe that there are reasons why you might find it difficult to show your competence through the methods proposed by the Tutor, you should discuss the alternatives which may be available to you.

In the light of the above London F.A. will encourage Tutors to consider the following alternative methods to enable candidates to demonstrate competence: -

- In situations where candidates are unable to attend scheduled assessments, through illness, injury or acceptance and justified reasons an alternative date for the assessment MAY be arranged for the candidate.
